U. S. EXPERTS WILL AID MILK PRICE INQUIRY

Justice and Agriculture Departments Called on by King.

By DANIEL B. MAHER.

The aid of the investigative resources of the Department of Justice will be asked by Senator William H. King (Democrat), of Utah, in the inquiry to determine whether a milk trust is in operation in the District.

Dairy experts of the Department of Agriculture were enlisted yesterday by the chairman of the Senate District Committee in the task of gathering factual data through which it is hoped to determine whether unfair prices are being charged to the District for milk and other dairy products.

The subcommittee which will conduct the inquiry will be appointed Monday by Senator King at a meeting of the full committee.

Experts of Dairy Division.

This committee will hear the testimony of witnesses and will be aided in its investigation by experts of the Dairy Division of the Department of Agriculture and sleuths of the antitrust division of the Department of Justice.

The antitrust division of the Justice Department is understood to have a wealth of information on the operations of the National Dairy Products Corporation, a national milk and dairy products distributing company, which controls more than 60 per cent of the milk distribution in the Capital.

Less than a year ago, it is understood, the antitrust operatives made an investigation of the National Dairy Co., but there was not enough information obtainable at that time to warrant any formal action.

Smaller Dairies Absorbed.

The investigation of the local distribution, it is understood, disclosed that the National Dairy Products Corporation by a series of mergers and direct purchases absorbed virtually all of the smaller dairies.

The Justice Department will be asked by Senator King to make available to his subcommittee all the material facts gathered by it in this earlier inquiry. With this data as a

Witness Is Jailed In Insurance Plot

New York, May 25 (A.P.).—Joseph P. Murray, 31, was lodged in Bronx County Jail today in default of $20,000 bail as a material witness in the alleged "insurance murder" of Michael Molloy, alias Michael Mallory.

Five men now are under indictment in connection with the death of Molloy. The five are charged with obtaining $2,776 insurance for the life of Molloy, and then slaying him, after resorting to four different methods of assassination.

In the course of their investigation into the alleged insurance plot, Bronx County authorities also investigated the death of Mabel "Betty" Carlson, of Washington, D. C., who they said died of pneumonia in an apartment maintained by Tony Marino, one of the five indicted.

Four Men Battle Police After Shooting Rancher

Juarez, Mexico, May 25 (A.P.).—After Alfonso Bolendo, 35, was shot in the stomach in a dispute over cattle ownership, four men known as the Avalos Brothers barricaded themselves in a ranch house 40 miles south of here today and fought off police in a two-hour gun battle.

Two fled and two surrendered when additional police were rushed to the ranch house.

Mail Pilot's Trick Address on Letter Fails to Fool Farley.

New York, May 25 (U.P.).—F. Trubee Davison, president of the American Museum of Natural History and former Assistant Secretary of War for Aeronautics, today received a letter addressed to him at "latitude 40, 48, 47.17 north, longitude 73, 58, 41.99 west. The earth." It read:

"Now that Postmaster General Farley, who proved himself such a grand pilot of Democratic destinies, has taken over the air mail, I thought I would write you this letter to find out what sort of navigator he is. If these lines reach you, Jim Farley knows his stuff. Signed, Mail Pilot."

DEMOCRATS CAUCUS ON VETERANS CUTS

President Scored at Secret House Parley; Group to Visit White House.

(Associated Press.)

Behind closed door and in secret caucus, House Democrats last night assailed the administration of the national economy act as it affects veterans and authorized the Steering Committee to name a group to wait on President Roosevelt to demand a relaxing of the regulations.

Responding to an appeal by Speaker Rainey that no resolutions be adopted criticizing the administration for its treatment of the veterans, the caucus allowed Representative Rankin (Democrat), Mississippi, to withdraw his proposal to create a committee of seven to protest to the Chief Executive.

Instead, Representative Crosser, of Ohio, chairman of the Steering Committee, was authorized to select a committee to see Mr. Roosevelt today.

The caucus was forced upon the Democratic leaders by a petition of 25 members, headed by Representative Goldsborough, of Maryland.

Describing the caucus, Representative Shannon, of Missouri, said:

"There were a number of speakers and they all assailed the administration of the economy act and the treatment the veterans are receiving. The sentiment of the members was that they had been bunked in to voting for this economy act and that they all regret it."

Among those who spoke in criticism of the administration were Representative Cochran, Missouri; Busby and Rankin of Mississippi; Crosser, of Ohio; Hoeppel, of California; Goldsborough, Jeffers and Huddleston, of Alabama.

Speaker Rainey and Representative Woodrum, of Virginia, asked the members to support the President in the administration of the economy act, but many of them said "they didn't get much response."

Fire Chief Injured By Blast Debris

Charles E. Schrom, acting chief engineer of the Fire Department, narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday when a piece of concrete from a heavy blast, used in wrecking the Panorama Building at First street and New Jersey avenue northwest, crashed through the top of his car and struck him on the head. His scalp was badly lacerated.

The windows in the automobile of Albert S. Vincent, 1116 E street southeast, were also broken by the flying concrete, but no one in the car was injured.

Police said the wrecking company had a permit to do blasting.

Family of 7 Near Death As Army Planes Crash

San Antonio, Tex., May 25 (A.P.).—A family of seven had a narrow escape today when two Army planes, disabled in a collision, hurtled to earth within a few feet of a Harlandale home.

The ships, abandoned by the pilots, Cadets William M. Altenburg and Davis Avary, of Kelly Field, who leaped with parachutes and landed safely, spun down over the home of Harry Davis, splashing it with gasoline. Davis, his wife and five children were in the house when the plane crashed.

Madman Slays Woman, Shoots 2 and Kills Self

San Jose, Calif., May 25 (A.P.).—Shouting and waving a pistol, Luca Trapani, 60, emerged from his home in the Italian quarter here today, shot to death Mrs. Joaleto Passarelli, 50; wounded her husband, Gaetano; fatally wounded Luca Mantagno and then committed suicide.

Officers said Trapani had been acting queerly for several days and probably went insane suddenly. Police later learned there had been bad feeling between the Passarelli and Trapani families. Montagno died at a hospital.

U. S. PREPARES TO GO ALONE IF 2 PARLEYS FAIL

Optimism Waning Over Result of London and Geneva Meetings.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

The United States is ready to embark on a policy of intense nationalism in the field of economic isolation as well as in world armament, if the conference at Geneva and at London fail to reach a reasonable objective. Events of the last 48 hours have overcast the hitherto rosy future of the two conferences. The Geneva meetings have failed so far to respond in any appreciable degree to the President's offer of conditional American participation in the maintenance of world peace.

The persistent optimism which had heretofore played around the prospects for the London Economic Conference is now being deprecated by the American officials here. Assistant Secretary of State Raymond Moley recently stated that too much must not be expected from the London Conference and the tariff intransigeance of Great Britain particularly has sorely tried Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Decision Must Be Made.

Secretary Hull has declared that a "forthwith" decision must be made to decide whether tariff moderation will be the objective of the nations at London or whether they prefer the system under which the world has been suffering for years. The disarmament situation at Geneva is not any more hopeful. Even the irrepressible optimism of American Ambassador at Large Norman H. Davis has been mitigated in his recent reports to the President, it was learned, and a situation is rapidly coming to a head in Geneva which will decide the future policy of this Government with regard to armaments.

The pretensions of the Japanese for an increase ratio in land armament which was made in Geneva yesterday caused considerable comment among American officials who are entertaining the Japanese mission headed by Viscount Ishii at this time.

Yesterday President Roosevelt held his first conference with the head of the Japanese delegation. The President and the venerable statesman talked together alone for more than an hour and at the conclusion Viscount Ishii declined to make any comment on any phase of the conversations. He said:

"I am sorry but I do not feel that I am at liberty to discuss the nature of my talks with the President."

Refuses to Divulge Talk.

His discretion even went to the lengths of declining to say whether they had entered upon an exchange of views on the general subject of disarmament. Another talk will be held today at the White House between the President and the former ambassador.

While this exchange of views between world statesmen is in progress, a more realistic approach to the alternative of failure in London and Geneva is in preparation here. President Roosevelt intends to build the Navy up to the limits provided by the London treaty if Geneva proves unavailing in remedying the general international uneasiness. Not only in

Preliminary Truce Claimed by Japan

Tokyo (Friday), May 26 (A.P.).—The foreign office announced today that a preliminary truce, called a "formal promise," was concluded orally Thursday at Hwaiju, about 30 miles north of Peiping, by Chinese and Japanese military representatives.

The truce will be maintained, it was stated, if the Chinese cease "all provocations" and hold their troops southwest of a line running from Yenking, 50 miles north of Peiping, through Changping, Shunyi and Paoti to Lutai, 30 miles north of Tientsin. This passes within 15 miles of Peiping.

The Japanese armies agree to remain northeast of the line. A formal armistice is to be signed next Monday, it was announced. The place was not named.

Ruling May Pave Way To Beer in Dry State

Albuquerque, N. Mex., May 25 (A.P.).—A district court decision given today by Judge Milton J. Helmick has, in the opinion of some attorneys, made possible legal sale of 3.2 beer in dry New Mexico.

By his decision Judge Helmick freed E. E. Hamm, Albuquerque, of a charge of selling the new 3.2 beer and ended the first case brought as a test of New Mexico's prohibition law in relation to the Federal legalization of the new brew.

Peace Pact

Leticia Agreement Effected by League Calls for Evacuating Area.

Geneva, May 25 (A.P.).—A Leticia peace agreement was signed today by representatives of Colombia and Peru at a session of the League of Nations Council.

The agreement, concluded after several months of mediatory efforts by the league council with the cooperation of the United States Government, provides for evacuation of the seized Amazonian territory and the sending of a league commission to determine the boundary between the two republics.

Eduardo Santos, head of a special Colombian mission to Europe, signed for Colombia, and Francisco Garcia Calderon subscribed to the agreement on behalf of Peru.

Francisco Castilla Najera, of Mexico, as president of the council, signed the document for the league.

The league's commission will leave for the Leticia area at an early date. An American will be one of its members. Their names have not yet been made public.

Each member of the council in turn voiced the opinion that the two Latin-American countries had given an inspiring example to the rest of humanity of how conflicts may be settled by conciliatory methods rather than by the sword.

Foreign Minister Zulueta, of Spain, and other members of the council expressed the fervent hope that the Chaco conflict between Bolivia and Paraguay would likewise be peacefully liquidated under the segis of the league.

HOUSE ADOPTS TAX BILL RULE, 213-194

(Associated Press.)

By a margin so narrow as to cause leaders to fear for the success of the tax program carried in the public works-industry control bill, the House adopted a rule of procedure for work on the measure yesterday and sailed into debate amid cries of "gag" rule and "dictatorship."

The huge Democratic majority shifted away from the leaders to such an extent that the rule of procedure was adopted by a majority of only 19 votes. The ballot showed 213 to 194.

The rule forbids amendments from any quarter except the Ways and Means Committee but Republican advocates of the sales tax have determined upon a plan to force that issue to a vote today.

Democratic bolters plan to join a majority of the Republicans to support a motion to be made by Bacharach (Republican), New Jersey, to recommit the bill to the Ways and Means Committee and substitute a manufacturers' sales tax for the $220,000,000 program to finance the $3,300,000,000 public works bond issue. The present program carried income and gasoline tax increases.

Democratic leaders hurriedly called the steering committee together be-

Doctors Are Unalarmed As Gandhi Is Weaker

Poona, India, May 25 (A.P.).—The Mahatma Gandhi was increasingly weak today—the eighteenth day of his three weeks' fast—but a board of eight doctors announced in a bulletin that the frail leader should survive the ordeal without difficulty.

Gandhi, who began his fast May 8 as a protest against "untouchability," was said to have no complications in his physical condition. The statement by the board of physicians greatly reassured Gandhi's relatives who were feeling anxiety on account of his weakness.

LIAISON PLEA SET TODAY AT WHITE HOUSE

Civil Service Members Express Approval of Sirovich Plan.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

White House backing for the Sirovich resolution insuring fair play for Government employes through a Federal liaison operative will be asked today by Chairman Lamar Jeffers of the House Civil Service Committee and Representative William I. Sirovich (Democrat), New York.

Following conferences yesterday between Budget Director Lewis W. Douglas and the New York representative, it was learned Budget Bureau support of the measure is assured.

Earlier, Representative Sirovich conferred with the House Civil Service Committee chairman and obtained his assent to open hearings on the bill early next week if the President approves.

Hundreds of Letters.

Meanwhile, the author of the measure received hundreds of letters and calls indorsing his plan for obtaining impartial adjustment of employes' troubles, particularly those arising out of administration of the reorganization program.

The resolution would create the post of Federal liaison officer from the ranks of 20-year employes. He would be authorized to act independently of the executive departments and carry individual complaints to Congress if necessary.

"I learned today for the first time this is virtually the only civilized country which does not have civil service courts of some kind to insure justice and hear appeals of government personnel," Mr. Sirovich said last night.

Majority Express Accord.

Before conferring yesterday with Budget Director Douglas, Mr. Sirovich talked not only with Chairman Jeffers but with members of his Civil Service Committee, most of whom expressed accord with his plan.

Then, through Col. Marvin H. McIntyre, secretary to the President, he made a White House appointment for himself and Mr. Jeffers to see Mr. Roosevelt today.

Communications indorsing the Sirovich proposal encompassed many fields of endeavor. One was received from J. C. Wallace chief clerk of the office of Treasurer of the United States, commending the resolution and suggesting qualifications for the proposed liaison officer. Need for Federal liaison work was pointed out by Maj. Alexander S. Lanier and Roy Harrell, who cited instances of injustice to workers in the field and in Washington.

Muriel Corby Sued In Auto Accident

Suit for $50,000 damages for injuries suffered when the automobile in which he was a passenger skidded and turned over near Tyson's Corner, Va., last March, was filed in the District Supreme Court yesterday by William F. Thyson, jr., 25, against Miss Murial Eleanor Corby, driver of the car, and her father, William S. Corby, 9 Chevy Chase Circle.

The petition contended that Miss Corby's father owned the automobile as a family car and that he was responsible since the daughter was operating the car with his permission.

Thyson, son of a prominent real estate dealer, suffered a fracture of the skull in the accident and was in the hospital for several weeks. Attorneys D. T. Wright and Philip Ershler represented him.

Promoters of Drake Estate Indicted by Federal Jury

Secret Report Filed After Years of Inquiry by Two Nations Into Scheme Centering Around Alleged Fortune of English Sea Captain.

Sioux City, May 25 (A.P.).—A secret indictment in the Drake estate case was returned today by a Federal grand jury after years of investigation by governments of two nations.

The report was handed to Federal Judge Robert C. Scott. Authorities declined to reveal persons named in the report.

The grand jury inquiry into promotion of the English sea captain's alleged estate centered around Oscar M. Hartzell, native Iowan, at liberty under bond on charges of using the mails to defraud. Hartzell was deported from England as an undesirable alien for alleged fraud, and arrested in New York.

John S. Pratt, special representative of the United States Attorney General's office, and Guy W. Ray, United States vice consul at London, England, left for Washington after the inquiry. O. B. Williamson, postal inspector, returned to St. Louis.

The nature of the charges preferred would not be revealed, Federal Attorney Harry Reed said, until the persons named in the report are in custody, probably tomorrow.

The Government has alleged that Hartzell and his associates collected at least $1,000,000 as advances to assist in establishing claims to the asserted estate of Sir Francis Drake.

Morgan Inquiry Spurs Congress; Banking Bill And Tax Reform Gain

Senate Enacts Plans to Prevent Finance Emergencies.

(Associated Press.)

A steel-flanged banking bill designed to prevent a recurrence of such a financial emergency as rocked the country on March 4, precipitating the bank holiday, was passed yesterday by the Senate with less than four hours of debate.

Revised considerably from the form in which it held the Senate in prolonged dispute and filibuster last session, the bill passed without the formality of a record vote.

It carries provisions for both emergency and permanent insurance of bank deposits and calls for the severance of banking and investment business. Like the bill of the last session, it bore the name of Senator Carter Glass (Democrat), Virginia, who led the long fight for the legislation.

Goes to Conference.

The measure will go into the hands of a conference committee which will reconcile differences between the Senate bill and the one passed by the House Tuesday. The two are similar except for slightly different deposit insurance provisions.

While the legislation has not been made part of the Roosevelt program, its backers hope the President will see his way clear to sign it.

Senator Long (Democrat), Louisiana, who led the long filibuster against the Glass measure last session, said he favored the new one because it contained "protection for the little bank, which the last bill didn't have."

An amendment providing for the insurance of deposits in all banks for one year, beginning July 1, after which time the Glass permanent insurance fund would begin to operate, was put into the bill at the request of Senator Vandenberg (Republican), Michigan.

Insurance of Deposits.

It also was approved without a roll call. It provides for the insurance of deposits up to $2,500 in Federal Reserve member banks and State banks certified by State authorities to be solvent.

The participating banks would be assessed one-half of 1 per cent of their total deposits to set up the fund. They could be assessed an additional sum if necessary after January 1, 1934.

During the life of the fund, which the Treasury would back with an appropriation of $10,000,000, no participant could pay more than 2½ per cent on insured deposits.

The Glass insurance clause, to become operative July 1, 1934, creates a corporation with assets approaching $2,000,000,000 to guard deposits in reserve member banks and to speed up the liquidation of closed institutions.

The first $10,000 of a deposit would be fully guaranteed; all from $10,000

Bishop Helps End Manchester Strike

Manchester, N. H., May 25 (A.P.).—A turbulent textile strike involving 7,800 operatives of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Co. was brought to a tentative end this afternoon through the intercession of the Most Rev. John B. Peterson, Catholic Bishop of Manchester.

Bishop Peterson announced that the company management had agreed to his proposal to permit the operatives to return to work Wednesday under a wage increase of 15 per cent. The workers had yet to accept the proposal.

Earlier in the afternoon Gov. John G. Winant ordered the withdrawal of National Guard troops which he had called out the first of the week when local authorities pleaded the police force was able to handle the situation.

Baltimore Girl Freed In Paramour's Murder

Jersey City, N. J., May 25 (A.P.).—Dolly Lumpkin, 20-year-old former Baltimore girl, was acquitted tonight of the charge of murder of her paramour, Thomas Plakstis, 38. The jury, all men, deliberated an hour and 15 minutes.

First to congratulate the blonde defendant when the verdict was announced was the widow of the slain man, Mrs. Elizabeth Plakstis, who had been Miss Lumpkin's constant companion during the three days of the trial.

SENATOR ARTHUR ROBINSON.

ROBINSON ASSAILS DAVIS AND WOODIN

Indiana Senator Also Voices Challenge of Power for Consultative Pact.

(Associated Press.)

A demand that Norman H. Davis be recalled as America's spokesman at Geneva and a declaration that the usefulness of Secretary Woodin "has ended" came in the Senate yesterday from Robinson (Republican), Indiana, as a direct reverberation from the Morgan inquiry.

To a sharp challenge of the authority of President Roosevelt and of Davis to propose a consultative peace pact in Europe, Robinson added reference to the Banking Committee's disclosure that Davis borrowed from the Morgan house and that with Woodin he was on its "favored" customers list.

Senator Tydings (Democrat), Maryland, who promptly answered the Indianan's outburst, contended that "going to Europe in 1933 is more calculated in my opinion to keep us out of war" than to get this Nation into conflict.

Turning to Woodin, and citing that he had been named before the Banking Committee as one of the Morgan customers who were offered stocks at low prices several years before he became Secretary of the Treasury, Robinson said:

"Mr. Woodin is occupying an enviable position, with vast powers that call for the confidence of the people behind him. He can not now command that confidence. His usefulness as Secretary of the Treasury is ended."

The consultative peace treaty proposal, which Robinson covered in a prepared address, he described as a plan "that would unquestionably involve the United States in all the wars that are now brewing throughout the world and those that may come in the future."

"President Roosevelt has no authority to negotiate any such consultative, war-producing agreement," Robinson declared.

In the House, Representative Britten (Republican), Illinois, protesting against the tax increase proposed for low incomes, pointed to the Morgan investigation and said Davis, Woodin and Dean Acheson, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, should resign.

Britten said the tax program was "merely an addition to what has been transpiring on Capitol Hill in the last two days, when a man worth almost half a billion dollars has the effrontery to say that in the last four years he has not paid a single dollar in taxes."

6 Slain as Guards Repel Bandit Gang

Mexico City, May 25 (A.P.).—Six persons were slain and a number injured today in a pitched two-hour battle at Cuyutlan, Jalisco, between rural guards and a bandit gang.

The bandits, who attempted to sack the town and kidnap rich merchants, were repulsed. Four bandits were killed. Several injured were carried away. Later five men were captured. They will be executed. Two guards were killed and two injured.

The bandits, headed by a leader known as Cortes, have raided the region systematically for some months.

American Loses Life As Italian Plane Sinks

Marignane, France, May 25 (A.P.).—An American identified by aviation officials as Herbert McCoy, a New York business man, was trapped and drowned today in the cabin of an Italian seaplane, which upset and sank on Lake Berre.

The body was recovered. Mr. McCoy had made a vain attempt to climb through a porthole of the cabin.

G. O. P. Senator Holds Woodin and Davis Should Quit.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Both the House and Senate made grist yesterday from the Morgan investigation, while the inquiry itself was continued in new surroundings of spacious splendor—but without a quorum present during most of the afternoon session to decide knotty questions of procedure.

A subcommittee of the House Ways and Means Committee plunged into the question of the capital gains provisions of existing tax legislation—the section which freed the twenty Morgan partners from income tax liability in 1931 and 1932.

With little more than two hours' debate, the Senate passed the modified Glass banking bill, which carries a provision requiring periodic reports from private banking houses engaged in both deposit and investment business.

Capital Loss Limit Plan.

If a new schedule of higher income taxes finally is accepted in the industrial recovery act, Chairman Dougton, of the Ways and Means Committee, said last night an effort will be made to limit capital loss deductions to one year.

The Glass banking bill now goes to conference where differences between the House and Senate versions may be reconciled.

Congressional leaders anticipate a decision soon as to whether the banking measure is to be placed on the administration's emergency program for enactment in the special session.

Party politics took the center of the stage in the ornate majority caucus room of the Senate Office Building, where the Morgan inquiry was continued. As new lists of ground-floor buyers of Morgan stock issues were produced by the committee counsel, an intensive political cross-fire developed as to whether the Democrats or Republicans had been the greater beneficiaries of the preferred-client operations.

Davis' Recall Demanded.

Meanwhile, on the Senate floor, Senator Arthur R. Robinson (Republican), Indiana, said that Norman H. Davis ought to be recalled from Europe and that Secretary Woodin hardly could be of further service to the Government of the United States.

At one point in the committee inquiry the name of Calvin Coolidge was brought into the discussion. A list of buyers of Standard Brands common, offered by J. P. Morgan & Co. in the summer of 1929, included the name of the former President. Several months after he had left the White House, Mr. Coolidge bought 3,000 shares at $32.

Before the crash the stock skyrocketed to fantastic heights. It has since sold as low as $11, and is now

(Associated Press.)

The Reconstruction Corporation yesterday approved loans of $23,200,000 to the Southern Pacific Co.

To meet equipment trust maturities, interest on funded debt and judgments due by January 1, 1934, the corporation authorized $23,000,000, and $1,200,000, made under the work loan provision, was allotted for the erection of a new terminal station at Houston, Tex.

The loans were approved previously by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

VATICAN DELEGATE ARRIVES IN CAPITAL

Rev. Cicognani to Make First Public Appearance at Catholic U. Sunday.

Welcomed by prominent Washington members of the Roman Catholic hierarchy, the Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, newly appointed apostolic delegate from Vatican City, arrived here yesterday afternoon to assume his duties.

He will make his first official public appearance Sunday when he will visit the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception at Catholic University to attend services there at 4 p. m. The services will be broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The new delegate arrived at Union Station from New York, where he has been the guest of Cardinal Hayes for the past few days. After posing for photographers, he was ushered into a waiting automobile and driven to the legation, 1811 Biltmore street northwest. He has been in this country on two previous occasions. Upon his trip here he was accompanied by Mgr. Francis E. Hyland, secretary to the delegate.

Among the welcoming party were the Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, Archbishop of Baltimore; the Rev. W. Coleman Nevils, S. J., president of Georgetown University; the Rev. James Hugh Ryan, rector of Catholic University; Mgr. Paul Marella, auditor of the Apostolic Delegation; Mgr. Egidio Vagnozzi, of the delegation staff; the Rev. John J. Burke, C. S. P., general secretary of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, and Dr. Roy Deferrari, dean of the graduate school at Catholic University.

Indian Board Falls Under Economies

Abolition of the Board of Indian Commissioners, with a saving of $12,000 per year, was ordered yesterday by President Roosevelt under the terms of the economy act. The three clerks employed by the board will not be dropped, but will be transferred to the Interior Department.

The nine-man board was established in 1869 to investigate Indian affairs and advise the President and Congress on Indian legislation. Its members serve without pay, although their traveling expenses are provided. Out of an annual appropriation of $12,000, a salary of $4,600 has been paid to the board's secretary, the remainder of the sum being spent for clerks and travel.

The executive order winding up the affairs of the board was sent with a short message to Congress yesterday. The order goes into effect within 61 days, unless Congress approves or disapproves it earlier. Only one member of the board, Mary Vaux Walcot, lives in Washington, the others being scattered through the East.

3 CHILDREN BEATEN TO DEATH IN HOME

Injured Mother Is Charged With Slaying Offspring With Hammer.

Framingham, Mass., May 25 (A.P.).—Three children of an unemployed father were beaten to death today in their home in a six-tenement block which soon afterward was swept by an incendiary fire. Their mother, Mrs. Nellie Dyczheski, whom police tonight charged with murder, and another child, were both in a critical condition in a hospital.

Firemen and neighbors, who found the children, first believed they had died of burns, but an autopsy ordered after bloodstains had been noted revealed the true cause of death.

The dead children were: Irene, 11; Chester, 7, and Eugene, 5. In the hospital with his mother was Paul, jr., 8. All were seriously burned.

The father, Paul Dyczheski, a moulder, was in Boston when notified of the tragedy. He had been staying with relatives while seeking employment. Police learned that Mrs. Dyczheski had urged her husband to go to Boston for the night and that yesterday she gave a birthday party for Paul at which all of the children were gathered.

A moulder's hammer, covered with blood, and found in the debris of the ruined home, was believed by police to have been the weapon used in the slayings.

Investigating authorities said Mrs. Dyczheski was an expectant mother and that neighbors reported there had been domestic troubles in the household recently.

Twenty members of other families which occupied the building were forced to leave it hurriedly when the fire spread.

Piano and Orchestra Pupils Perform Tonight

The grade instrumental classes of the public schools will give a recital tonight at 8 o'clock in Powell Elementary School, Fourteenth and Upshur streets northwest. It will be the spring program by children of the piano and orchestral classes, under the supervision of Dr. Edwin N. C. Barnes, director of music in the public schools, and under the direction of Miss Mary Garrett Lewis, Mrs. Laura Ward, Mrs. A. C. Grimes and Miss League. Miss Lewis is piano work supervisor, and Mrs. Ward orchestral work supervisor.

Music

And Politics Represented by Capital Residents at Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, May 25 (A.P.).—Music and politics entered Minneapolis simultaneously today in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond T. Baker, of Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Baker, the former Delphine Dodge, daughter of the late Horace E. Dodge, multimillionaire automobile manufacturer, has gained recognition as an amateur pianist and came here to play a Grieg concerto as guest pianist with a Ypsilanti, Mich., orchestra at the biennial convention of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Baker, one-time secretary to the American Embassy in Russia and director of the mint in the Wilson administration, came to listen.

They had this to say:

Mrs. Baker—The future of music in America depends principally upon the interest taken by amateur musicians.

Baker—The people of the world have confidence in President Roosevelt. This talk about an American "dictatorship" is poppycock. President Roosevelt is giving the world some leadership it hasn't had for years.

Blast Kills Three in Mexico.

Mexico City, May 25 (A.P.).—Three persons were killed and four seriously injured last night in the explosion of a powder magazine at a fireworks factory at Santa Rosa, 20 miles west of here. The cause of the blast was not determined.

FUNERAL TOMORROW FOR 2 RIVER VICTIMS

Burial for Donald Tudor, 11, and Archibald Turner, 8, to Be in Arlington.

Side by side, two lads who were born and bred under the Stars and Stripes of an Army post and who lost their lives Wedesday off the dock at Army War College, will be buried tomorrow morning in Arlington National Cemetery.

Requiem mass will be said at 9 a. m. today at Immaculate Conception Church for Donald Tudor, 11, who drowned with Archibald Turner, 8, in a valiant effort to save the younger Six boys from Immaculate Conception School, classmates of Donald, will act as palibearers.

The Tudor boy's body will then be returned to the Tabler funeral home, 928 M street northwest, where it will lie alongside that of the Turner lad until tomorrow morning.

At 10 a. m., Protestant and Catholic chaplins of the War College will say prayers for the two lads and with the six Immaculate Conception boys and six chosen from the Turner boy's friends at Washington Barracks, the procession will go to Arlington.

The boys were cousins, their fathers having married sisters. They had quarters adjacent at the War College reservation here. Both fathers are noncommissioned officers of long service in the Army.

Veterans May Ask Court Injunction

Stockton, Calif., May 25 (A.P.).—A court injunction to prevent President Roosevelt carrying out provisions of the national economy act, which would reduce and eliminate pensions paid to Spanish-American War veterans, was recommended in a resolution passed at the closing session of the thirteenth annual State encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans here late yesterday.

The resolution declares the economy act seeks to assign to the President powers conferred on Congress by the Constitution.

It was recommended injunctions be sought immediately by the organization's national legislative committee. The injunctions are designed to hold off action by President Roosevelt until constitutionality of the act is determined.

Gang Shots Wound Three Pedestrians

New York, May 25 (A.P.).—The names of two of Broadway's notorious racketeers—Maxey Gordon and Dutch Schultz—were thrust into the police investigation today of a gangland submachine gun battle which threw several blocks on Broadway into an uproar before dawn.

Three pedestrians, caught without time to gain cover, were wounded by the gangsters' bullets. Sadie Fintine, 45, a maid, was the only one seriously injured.

Police began working on two theories. One was that the gunplay was a sequel to the slaying in an Elizabeth, N. J., hotel, of Max Greenberg and Max Hassel, reputed subordinates of Gordon. The second was that the gangsters were "pay-off" men for Dutch Schultz' alleged policy racket.

Murphy Tells Filipinos Relief Is First Problem

Honolulu, May 25 (A.P.).—Frank Murphy, former Mayor of Detroit, en route to his post at Manila as Governor General of the Philippines, told a group of 300 unemployed Filipinos at a water-front park here today that the "first problem of government is to deal with the unemployed, and every other problem is secondary."

Declining to comment on conditions in Detroit, Mr. Murphy said: "Detroit will come out of its difficulties. Every great American city will."

Book Famine Is Feared As Cuts Curb Libraries

New York, May 25 (A.P.).—A book famine is feared by Harry M. Ludenberg, president of the American Library Association.

No other municipal department, he says, has felt the economy ax more sharply than libraries. Nevertheless, his figures show an increasing demand from readers.

WYOMING RATIFIES REPEAL FORMALLY

Becomes Fourth State Going on Record Against Keeping Dry Law.

Casper, Wyo., May 25 (A.P.).—Wyoming became the fourth State to formally ratify repeal of the eighteenth amendment today. Sixty-five delegates at a State constitutional convention voted unanimously to ratify the twenty-first, or repealing amendment.

The issue was actually decided at precinct conventions held earlier this month when wet delegates were named in the majority to county sessions. The counties in turn selected a complete slate or repeal delegates to the State convention today.

Rhode Island, Michigan and Wisconsin are the other States which have completed ratification. New Jersey and New York have voted for repeal, but the conventions have not been held yet. Favorable action by 36 States is required for repeal.

Reno, Nev., May 25 (A.P.).—Ten years after they removed their own dry law from the statute books, Nevadans are to have their first official opportunity Saturday to say whether they want the national prohibition amendment to remain in the Federal Constitution.

Voters will gather in precinct mass meetings on that date and take the first step toward holding of a State convention in September to consider repeal. Approval by the convention of the twenty-first, or repeal amendment, is regarded generally as a foregone conclusion.

In 1923 the Legislature repealed the State prohibition law enacted in 1918, and since then prohibition has been enforced in Nevada only by the Federal authorities.

Alcohol Drinking Party Causes Three Deaths

St. Louis, May 25 (A.P.).—A drinking party with what police reported was denatured alcohol today caused the death of three St. Louis men. The dead are Erick Johnson, 68, a carpenter; Frank McCarthy, 64, a janitor, and Daniel Gleason, 54, also a janitor.

Emmett Lartin, an acquaintance of Johnson, said the latter told him he had purchased alcohol from a hardware dealer. A bottle of alcohol was found on the floor near the bed where Johnson's body was discovered.

8,000 Applicants For Gift Garage

Hollywood, Calif., May 25 (A.P.).—Eight thousand applications—3,000 from outside of the Los Angeles area—have been received for the Culver City garage and filling station business Charles A. Bickford, red-haired movie actor, offered last week to give away.

Bickford said today attempts will be made to check the qualificatons of each of the applicants. He has a secretary working full time.

The person who gets the business must be "responsible" and satisfactory to lessors of the property, who collect $500 monthly on a lease. Having broken even on his investment, which he made to take over the obligation of a friend in the business, the actor said he decided to give it away to some deserving person.

Committee Will Take Helvering Vote Today

(Associated Press.)

The Senate Finance Committee late yesterday decided to vote this afternoon on the nomination of Guy T. Helvering, of Kansas, to be Commissioner of Internal Revenue. The committee closed its executive hearings on charges that while a member of the House of Representatives Helvering demanded campaign contributions from postmaster nominees.

Democratic members expected confirmation of his nomiantion to be recommended by the committee on the vote, although they looked for strenuous Republican opposition.

Austrians Announce Loan Interest Payment

New York, May 25 (A.P.).—The trustees of the Austrian Government Guaranteed Loan announced today that the interest payment due June 1, 1933, would be paid on the due date in the respective foreign currencies of the countries which participated in the loan.

Albert E. Janssen, D. Dean Fry and Marcus Wallenberg are trustees of the loan. They were appointed by the League of Nations, under whose auspices the money was loaned to the Austrian government.

Bride Victim

Hoaxers Cause Guard by Police at Wedding of Capital Widow.

Boston, May 25 (A.P.).—A threat to halt a prospective wedding that sent a police escort to guard the couple here today was proved a hoax tonight and the wedding took place with the bluecoats playing the parts of honored guests.

Although police reports carried the name of the "threatened" bride as Mrs. John Healey, former wife of a race horse trainer, her name was disclosed tonight as Mrs. Laure Simpson, 32, a widow, of Washington, D. C.

The bridegrom was Joseph Berman, 25, an accountant of Portland, Me. They were married at the Temple Israel by Rabbi Harry Levi.

Things began to hum about police headquarters when a telephone call before the wedding said the bride would be "put on the spot" if she went through the ceremony. A guard was dispatched to accompany the couple to the synagogue.

Later Berman was informed that Portland friends had played a joke on him by means of the message relayed from New York.

Mrs. Simpson is the widow of Dr. Edward Simpson, who was killed in action in the World War. She was born in Paris, but has lived for some years in Washington.

Police said tonight the telephone call to headquarters had given the name of Mrs. Healey as the prospective bride. It was not until they had been sent to guard the couple that Mrs. Simpson's name was disclosed. Police were unable to explain the error in names.

Naive Note

Chinese Student Bares His Views on—Well, Here Is the Letter.

Some unique views on the depression, the Sino-Japanese trouble, pacifism and probably some other international issues were expressed yesterday in a letter received by the District Commissioners from one Kwong Low, a student of Columbia University.

"My dear Washington," it read "When I was in hiding in the world, but our a poor hero, when I am instead. Every arms O. K. Pacific nation war O. K. It can't into the Chinese territories. CAB DRIVER'S STORY SOLVES 'KIDNAPING'

Infant Is Taken by Mother, Estranged Husband and Police Are Told.

Sympathy and $5 yesterday impelled a Washington cab driver to assist in the carrying away of a pretty 18-month-old infant girl that started a "kidnap" sensation lasting 10 hours.

The child is Roberta Beck, daughter of Robert S. and Mrs. Ines Hoyt Beck, estranged since last Sunday. Roberta is now en route to Bridgeport, Conn., with her mother.

The taxicab driver was hailed by Mrs. Beck in front of her lodgings at 215 Fourth street southeast. She and her 17-year-old daughter by another marriage told the man, he told police, some of the particulars of the case and said she wanted to get the child and go to her Connecticut home.

The taxicab driver, George Gant, 35, went to the front door of Beck's home at 3817 Morrison street northwest, and engaged his mother, Mrs. Laura Beck, in conversation. As he left, after finding Beck was not home, the baby toddled to the back porch.

Gant's cab was parked near the back yard. One of the two women snatched the baby up and ran to the cab. Gant took the wheel and they sped to the District line up Wisconsin avenue.

Gant said he drove them to the New York bus station in Baltimore. He got $5 for the job. Witnesses had taken his tag number and he was located by police. Beck had put in a report that the child was kidnaped and this report was carried on police records until 11 o'clock last night when the father was satisfied as was Detective Sergt. Richard A. Cox, in charge of the investigation, that the affair was not a kidnaping.

Mattern Is Poised For World Flight

New York, May 25 (A.P.).—Jimmy Mattern was ready tonight for the signal to start his solo flight around the world, but abandoned hope of taking off tomorrow when the weather was declared unfavorable.

The San Angelo, Tex., flier today cleared his plane at the custom house and gave it a final inspection at Floyd Bennett Field, where he will take off.

When the forecast is good Mattern, whose ship's registeration number is NR-869-R, will head for Harbor Grace, N. F., from which point he will leave land behind him.

British Crash Kills American Resident

Roynes Park, Surrey, England, May 25 (A.P.).—Five persons, including 10-year-old Roderick Duthie, son of a Canadian who lives in Portland, Oreg., were killed in a train wreck here today. M. Duthie, father of the dead boy, his wife and another son, Tony, were among the injured.

The train which was traveling from Waterloo Station, London, to Alton, jumped the track as it reached Raynes Park and plunged across the right-of-way. Three coaches were completely demolished. The entire train left the track.

A second train, following, lurched through the debris caused by the wreck but remained on the rails. A physician who was a passenger on the wrecked train and had been knocked out by the crash recovered and rendered first aid to the injured.

Pope Visits Scene Of His Ordination

Rome, May 25 (A.P.).—Pope Pius today made a pilgrimage to the Basilica of St. John Lateran the "Mother Church" of the Roman Catholic world, where he was ordained as a priest 54 years ago.

Leaving the Vatican the aged pontiff blessed a crowd estimated at 300,000 persons and attended mass at the Basilica.

The Pope in making today's pilgrimage resumed an Ascension Day custom unobserved since 1870 as a result of the voluntary imprisonment of the head of the church.

10,000 Seek 200 Jobs With New York Police

New York, May 25 (A.P.).—The greatest rush in history to join "New York's Finest" started today.

Ten thousand applications for membership on the police force were handed out by the civil service commission. There are only 200 vacancies.

Anita Browne Declares Poets Are More Virile

New York, May 25 (A.P.).—Anita Browne, who founded poetry week, says styles in poets have changed. No longer are they dreamy-eyed and long haired, but are he-men.

Even their themes, she said, show a trend away from the faded-violet tradition.

D. C. ASKS RECOVERY BILL HIGHWAY FUNDS

Trade Board and Officials of City Join Campaign to Seek Inclusion.

Board of Trade leaders and the District Commissioners joined hands yesterday in a fight to have the District included in the national industrial recovery bill, providing for donations of funds to States and Territories for highway construction.

Exclusion of the District from the benefits of the bill, while Hawaii is included, brought bitter criticism from civic leaders. The bill stipulates as it now stands that the term "State" shall include the Territory of Hawaii, but it does not mention the District of Columbia.

Dr. Llewellyn Jordan, a member of the streets and avenues committee of the Board of Trade, who is leading the fight on behalf of the board, called attention to the fact that the bill provides "for expenditure in emergency construction on the Federal and highway system and extensions thereof into and through municipilities."

Arterial highways from Virginia into Maryland pass through the District, he pointed out, and yet the District is not given recognition by the legislation. Dr. Jordan also pointed out that the District taxpayers are helping to benefit the States by contributing toward the expenditures in the recovery bill.

The District, Dr. Jordan also showed, pays more income tax than sixteen States of the Union and paid more in Federal gasoline tax than fourteen States in 1932. The District has 1,125 miles of streets, bridges, grade crossings, &c., to maintain.

A letter was sent to Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, asking that a hearing be given the District representatives.

A detailed statement giving reasons why the District should be included in the legislation is being prepared by the Board of Trade in cooperation with District officials. This statement will be submitted to the Senate Finance Committee.

Dry Questionnaire Is Sent to Douglas

(Associated Press.)

Two women prohibition leaders sent to Lewis W. Douglas, director of the budget, an open letter inquiring about the administration's proposal that the projected public works program be financed with liquor taxes if the eighteenth amendment is repealed. The letter contained these questions:

"1. Is a government that approves financing a bond issue from revenue derived from that which debauches the people acting on sound economic theory?

"2. Is not such revenue socially wrong because derived from a traffic which causes poverty, crime, disease, broken homes?

"3. Can a party that urges such revenue be longer called the party of vision?

"4. Does not such a call put the cry of the underworlds for beer and whisky above the cry of underprivileged for bread?"

The women were Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, and Mrs. William Tilton.

P. F. Snyder Quits Deportation Office

The resignation of Peter F. Snyder, assistant to the Secretary of Labor in charge of deportation and exclusion of aliens, was announced yesterday, to take effect on June 4.

Mr. Snyder will enter law practice here a short time after his resignation takes effect. He entered the Labor Department in 1929. He had served as clerk to the House Committee on Immigration, and had drafted many of the immigration laws passed from 1919 to 1929. Born in Missouri, he later went to the State of Washington.

In 1914 he came here as secretary to Representative Albert Johnson, of Washington. He was graduated from the Georgetown University Law School and was admitted to the District bar in 1920. While here he has served the Republican national committee through all the campaigns from 1924 to 1932, and has also spoken on unemployment and deportation.

FAKED STOCK SALE LAID TO MITCHELL

Government Says $129,719 Tax Was Evaded In Bogus Deal.

New York, May 25 (A.P.).—The Government presented new evidence today to bolster its charges that Charles E. Mitchell faked a sale of 8,500 shares of stock to W. D. Thornton in 1930 to write a net income of $624,627 down to a loss and evade paying a $129,719 income tax.

Like the conveyance of certain securities to his wife the year before, this transaction was accomplished by letters. Prosecutor George Z. Medalie brought out that the letter in the 1930 deal was prepared in Mitchell's office and sent to Thornton to be copied on his stationery and signed by him.

The letter was dated December 26, 1930, and was addressed to J. P. Morgan & Co., which was holding the 8,500 shares of Anaconda Copper stock as collateral for a loan to Mitchell. It authorized the Morgan firm to transfer the securities to Thornton, president of the Greene Cananea Copper Co., who also had made a loan there.

Walter D. Adams, an accountant who handled the affairs of Thornton and of the late John D. Ryan, president of Anaconda and close friend of Mitchell, identified the following note from the banker to Ryan which was introduced in evidence:

"Pursuant to our conversation of Wednesday, I inclose a copy of a letter which I have addressed and delivered to J. P. Morgan & Co. today. Also a draft of a letter for Mr. Thornton to send to J. P. Morgan & Co. Will you be so good as to see that Mr. Thornton writes and signs this letter and that it is sent with the loan contract agreement and the additional stock to J. P Morgan & Co. not later than next Monday.

Von Papen Would Put Europe on Racial Basis

Berlin, May 25 (A.P.).—The reorganization of Europe on a racial basis under German initiative was advocated today by Franz von Papen, German vice chancellor, at a meeting of delegates of border populations at Iburg.

Von Papen said racial provisions in the peace treaties were largely due to President Wilson's ignorance of racial mixtures. The treaties, he said, had accelerated the Balkanization of Europe and the League of Nations had utterly failed to protect minorities in an adequate manner.

BARRETT ON TRIAL IN BABER ASSAULT

Complainant Says Sergeant Beat Him While Investigating Murder.

Former Detective Sergt. Robert J. Barrett went on trial yesterday in the District Supreme Court on an indictment charging him with simple assault upon George M. Baber, who at the time of the alleged assault lived in the Marne Apartments, at Thirteenth and Belmont streets northwest.

Barrett was once convicted in the District Supreme Court, but his conviction was set aside by the Court of Appeals because of a faulty charge to the jury by Justice James M. Proctor.

Through Attorneys Marry T. Whelan and W. Gwynn Gardiner, Barrett yesterday cross-examined all the Government witnesses at length. Assistant United States Attorney Julian Richards, who prosecuted the first case against Barrett, was again the Government representative.

Barrett is accused of striking Baber in the latter's apartment at Thirteenth and Belmont streets northwest, while he was investigating the circumstances surrounding the slaying of Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes, the cashier of the Garden-T-Shoppe, at Eighteenth street and Columbia road northwest. Baber, after being arrested, was liberated, and he then filed charges that he had been beaten.

Increased Use of Horse Deepens Parking Issues

Manhattan, Kans., May 25 (A.P.). Increased use of the horse recently has brought about a new parking problem.

There still are several hitching posts in or near the downtown section here, but automobiles frequently are in front of them. One solution to the problem was to build some more racks. At a recent meeting, however, the city commission seemed to favor provision for a horse parking lot, feeling streets would be safer for both horses and automobiles.

PRETTYMAN NAMED REVENUE COUNSEL

Thomas Hewes Nominated to Treasury Post In Charge of Fiscal Bureaus.

E. Barrett Prettyman, Washington attorney, yesterday was named general counsel for the Bureau of Internal Revenue as the President also sent to the Senate the nomination of Thomas Hewes, of Connecticut, as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of fiscal bureaus and internal revenue.

Mr. Prettyman, who lives at 37 West Irving street, Chevy Chase, Md., was junior counsel in the $34,000,000 Cousens tax case several years ago. In this case the Treasury sought to compel Senator Couzens and other former Ford stockholders to pay income taxes on profits from sale of Ford holdings. Mr. Prettyman's clients won the case.

His father was the Rev. Dr. Forrest J. Prettyman, chaplain of the Senate during the Wilson administration. He attended the Emerson Institute here, Randolph-Macon, Baltimore City College and Georgetown University. He has served as special attorney for the Bureau of Internal Revenue, but has been practicing before the Board of Tax Appeals since 1920.

George F. Zook Named.

The President also sent to the Senate yesterday the nominations of George F. Zook as commissioner of education, John Bright Hill as collector of customs at Wilmington, N. C., and James J. Connors as collector of customs at Juneau, Alaska. Dr. Zook was chief of the division of higher education of the Bureau of Education from 1920 to 1925. He then left to become president of the University of Akron, Ohio, the post he now holds.

Mr. Prettyman is the fourth important appointee to be named from Maryland, but the political powers of the State are protesting each of the four named are not Maryland men in fact. Two were charged to the Maryland patronage account on the basis of keeping summer homes in the State. The other two, while full-time residents, maintain Washington offices, Maryland politicians declare.

The result is obvious. The Maryland political forces may in the future ask a job for one of their tried and true men. He won't get the job, is the fear of the State powers. Any protest will be met by the administration pointing out the ripe plums that fell to men appointed from Maryland.

Residences of Nominees.

This protest will not apply particularly to Mr. Prettyman, who is an asset to the Montgomery County Democratic forces. But it may apply to Dean G. Acheson, appointed from Maryland, but maintaining a home in Georgetown. It may also apply to Sumner Welles, who sometimes lives in the summer at his estate, Oxon Hill, over the District line in Prince Georges County. Mr. Welles' home is on Massachusetts avenue, but he is now Ambassador to Cuba. Conway P. Coe, the new Patent Commissioner, lived in Chevy Chase, but had his practice of patent law in the city.

On the other side of the shield, Breckinridge Long, Ambassador to Italy, lived closer to Baltimore than to Washington, at Montpelier, beyond Laurel. He contributed to Maryland charities and Maryland politics. And yet when his nomination was sent to the Senate, it called him Breckinridge Long, of Missouri. The Maryland powers don't quite understand it, but they are very definite in their opposition to any more of it.

Florida Gets $42,129 From Beer in 2 Weeks

Talahassee, Fla., May 25 (A.P.).—Legalized beer produced $42,129.60 for the Florida State treasury in the first two weeks it was on sale, figures in the comptroller's office today showed. Of the total, $34,860 was from sale of licenses by county tax collectors and $7,269.60 from the 6 cents per gallon collected by the comptroller from brewers and distributors.

The comptroller's office said only scattered reports had been made by county tax collectors and that figures were for the period up to and including May 23.

Horner Urges Minimum Wage Law for Women

Springfield, Ill., May 25 (A.P.).—A minimum wage law for women and children was urged today by Gov. Horner in a message to the Assembly. He urged adoption of wage legislation similar to the New York law, declaring that women and minors should sustain themselves without relief agencies.

Along with the New York law, Gov. Horner sent to the Legislature a communication from President Roosevelt, asking industrial States to enact minimum wage laws.

Toothbrush Recovered From Girl's Stomach

Iola, Kans., May 25 (A.P.).—Miss Grace Osborn, 19, saw a surgeon after brushing her teeth. While wielding the brush, she choked slightly, threw back her head, and through some involuntary action of her throat muscles, swallowed the brush measuring 6¼ inches.

A surgeon recovered the brush after a brief operation today. Miss Osborn said she felt no discomfort during the 20 hours the brush was in her stomach.

P.-T. A. Congress Acts Today on Dry Motion

Seattle, May 25 (A.P.).—Teaching of "scientific facts about the effects of alcohol," and "impartial enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and all acts regulating the sale and distribution of alcoholic beverages," were recommended today by the resolutions committee of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, holding its thirty-seventh annual convention here.

The convention will act on the resolutions tomorrow.

Lorado Taft, Sculptor, Is Decorated by Italy

Chicago, May 25 (A.P.).—Lorado Taft, the sculptor, today was decorated with the insignia of commendatore of the crown of Italy. The honor was conferred by Prince Ludovico Spada Potenziani.

U. S. READY TO MAKE FURTHER NAVY CUTS

Davis So Informs Geneva, Opposing Japan's Plan for New Treaty.

Geneva, May 25 (U.P.).—The United State Government is prepared to make further drastic reductions in the strength of the American Navy, Norman H. Davis, chief American delegate, informed the arms conference today.

Davis made this admission during debate on a proposal by Japan that the Washington and London naval treaties be scrapped and a new naval agreement be substituted for them, as part of the projected world arms limitation treaty now under discussion here.

He disagreed sharply with the Japanese naval plan—a dissenting voice which was supported promptly by the British. Neither Davis nor Capt. Anthony Eden, British delegate, were prepared to approve the plan brought up by Japan, and said so in plain language.

Davis pointed out that the Washington treaty not only halted the race in naval armaments after the World War, but "has had a continuing influence on the peace of the world." He then said it would be fortunate if France and Italy would sign the London naval treaty of 1930—signed by Great Britain, the United States and Japan—and announced:

"This would complete its framework, preparing the way for future reductions * * *

"We are quite prepared to go further in (naval) reductions."

Davis said both the United States and Britain had proved their sincere desire for disarmament in naval strength, emphasizing that Britain still was approximately 100,000 tons under her treaty limitations, while "the United States is more than 100,000 tons under its limit."

Bethesda's Flower Show to Be Today

The annual flower show of the Bethesda Community Garden Club will be held today from 3 to 9 p. m. at the Battery Park Clubhouse. Mrs. William E. Lee is chairman, with Mrs. Robert Bondy, chairman of the junior flower show, and Mrs. Leon Grant and Mrs. William J. Norfleet assisting.

The classification committee chairman, Mrs. C. D. Curtiss, will be assisted by Mrs. C. A. Greenleaf, Mrs. Chester Tolle, Mrs. M. L. Lee, Mrs. B. F. Elmore, Mrs. J. G. Cross and Mrs. L. A. Kershner. The arrangement committee chairman is Mrs. L. A. Granville, assisted by Mrs. F. J. Halliday, Mrs. A. J. Hilland, Mrs. Elijah Anthony, Mrs. G. N. Kingman, Mrs. A. B. Foster, Mrs. J. Hardy Todd, Mrs. Granville Curry, Mrs. Eldridge Lee Myers, Mrs. Benjamin Potter, Mrs. Frank O. Osborn and Mrs. J. L. Gilbreath.

Other committees are: Schedules and program, Mrs. E. F. Kohman, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Chester Tolle; properties, Mrs. R. B. Looker, chairman, Mrs. E. L. Bingham, Mrs. H. E. Bullis, Mrs. Ivah Shear, Mrs. F. O. Smith, Mrs. L. E. Luce, Mrs. G. E. Parineau and Mrs. E. Wallace; materials, Mrs. Elijah Anthony, chairman; motors, Mrs. J. E. Moran; entry clerk, Mrs. J. W. Green.

Committee on awards is Mrs. Eugene Perry Smith, Mrs. William E. Lee and Mrs. H. Edmund Bullis, and judges will be Mrs. Lomax Taylor, of Vienna, Va.; Mrs. Chilcott, of Fairfax, Va., and Mrs. Wills, of Takoma Park.

Moderator Picked By Presbyterians

Montreat, N. C., May 25 (A.P.).—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States elected the Rev. Dr. Ernest Thompson, of Charleston, W. Va., moderator after hearing his predecessor, the Rev. Dr. William Crowe, of St. Louis, Mo., deliver a stirring appeal for an aggressive war against sin in the opening sermon here today, and then plunged into transaction of business with the announced purpose of ending the meeting as soon as possible.

Dr. Thompson, for 30 years pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of his home city, was elected over Dr. J. E. Thacker, of Norfolk, Va., the assembly's evangelist for a number of years.

HOUSE ADOPTS TAX WORK RULE, 213-194

hind closed doors and then dispatched Byrns of Tennessee, Democratic leader, to the White House. He called on Louis M. Howe, secretary to the President.

Eighty-two Democrats joined 107 Republicans and 5 Farmer-Laborites in opposition to the 213 Democrats who voted for the rule.

Two amendments agreed upon by the Ways and Means Committee before the House convened helped administration followers to put over the rule. They are designed to plug a loop hole in the capital gains and loss provisions of the income tax law and to transfer the 3 per cent electricity tax from the consumer to the producer.

The committee adopted an amendment by Vinson (Democrat), Kentucky, to prevent the carry-over of capital losses to offset net income for tax purposes. This would compel businessmen to absorb all their losses in the current year, instead of carrying them over from year to year.

The amendments resulted from testimony before the Senate Banking Committee in its investigation of J. P. Morgan & Co. that the senior member of that firm did not pay income taxes during the last two years.

"I offered this amendment in the revenue act of 1932," Vinson said, "but it was eliminated by the Senate. I think it will go in now and stay. It will bring in a considerable amount of revenue and will prevent financiers from carrying forward their capital losses to avoid income taxes."

Doughton (Democrat), North Carolina, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, said he was "strongly in favor of the amendment. He designated a subcommittee composed of Ragon (Democrat), Arkansas; Vinson (Democrat), Kentucky, and Treadway (Republican), Massachusetts, to draft the amendment.

Another Ways and Means Committee member, McCormack (Democrat), Massachusetts, said the capital gains and losses amendment "is an answer to Mr. Morgan and his associates," adding it would be "adopted and the Senate won't dare knock it out."

Debate on the rule was opened by Pou (Democrat), North Carolina, dean of the House and chairman of the Rules Committee with the statement:

"This rule is a drastic rule. It is a closed rule. It is what the President wants."

Attacking Pou's statement, Beck (Republican), Pennsylvania, said:

"It has the merit of being brutally frank. He advises us as to the President's wishes, not as to the merits of the bill itself, but even as to the method of our procedure."

C. E. Woodhull's Will Lists $805,229 Estate

Charles E. Woodhull, who died May 1, left an estate valued at $805,229, it was revealed in the District Supreme Court yesterday when a petition for the probate of his will was filed in the District Supreme Court. His widow, Mrs. Margaret Willett Woodhull, 1767 Massachusetts avenue northwest, was named as the principal beneficiary.

The petition, filed by Attorney T. Stanley Holland, disclosed that Henry Randall Webb was to receive $10,000, and that $5,000 each went to Anna Steele, Ellen W. Steele, Oswald M. Camman, Grace F. Talman, Grace L. Edes and Miss Elizabeth L. Edes.

Marian Anderson Is Heard in Recital

Marian Anderson, contralto, was heard in a recital last night at the Shiloh Baptist Church, Ninth and P streets northwest, under the auspices of the general anniversary committee of the church.

She sang several Italian and German operatic numbers, all of which were enthusiastically received by the audience. Among the English numbers, "Had I But Known" (Tschaikowsky) and "The Gypsy and the Bird" (Benedict) proved most pleasing, as did also her encore rendition of Mozart's "Alleluia." She closed her program with a group of Negro spirituals.

U. S. WILL GO ALONE IS CONFERENCES FAIL

full construction of American marine strength but also in the air as well, the United States will begin its alternative decision.

So far as the economic defense is concerned, the present legislation will provide the President with ample authority under the terms of the farm relief bill and the new tariff measure to exert the full pressure of American economic strength in a defense of American domestic markets.

Secretary Hull, of course, will make every effort to bring a conciliatory atmosphere to London and from that beginning draw concrete results in the same general spirit. However, the chances for such optimism at the present moment are lacking.

The prospects of a Sino-Japanese truce yesterday were somewhat chilled by the reports from Geneva of the new Japanese military demands for an increased ratio of military strength. Such a program is directly counter to the general tendency which has heretofore prevailed in the informal discussions between statesmen. An increase of armament for Japan would provoke a general upset in the military equilibrium of nations which would have disastrous and costly consequences to all.

Roosevelt and Brazilian Envoy See Truce Need

(Associated Press.)

A complete agreement was announced last night by President Roosevelt and J. P. De Assis Brasil, chairman of the Brazilian delegation to the London economic conference, as to the "fundamental importance of a tariff truce as a first step toward ultimate reduction of tariff barriers and a general revival of international trade."

"We have also recognized the paramount need for stabilization of currencies as a basis for such revival," a joint statement issued at the White House said.

"As a result of the conversations in which we have exchanged in the fullest and most cordial manner the views entertained by our respective governments," the statement said, "we are gratified to find there is entire identity of purpose between them respecting solutions of the economic and financial problems which confront the world. * * *

"We recognize fully the imperative need for removing the existing barriers to commerce between nations and both countries will lend their best efforts to that end of the approaching conference."

CIRCUS PLAYS HERE 2 DAYS NEXT WEEK

Ringling-Barnum & Bailey Celebrating Golden Jubilee With Greatest Show.

"Happy days" will be here sure enough next Wednesday and Thursday—and if circus days are not happy days we miss our guess. That's right, Ringling Bros. & Barnum & Bailey will hold away those two mentioned days at the Fifth street and Florida avenue northeast show grounds.

Celebrating its golden jubilee, the circus will arrive here with oddities collected from the four corners of the earth—many of which have never before been placed on public exhibition.

And here's a little secret information for parents: If Johnnie or Mary disappear some time after dusk Tuesday, it will be a pretty safe bet they are down around the railroad tracks. Hauling water for elephants still merits a couple of free tickets or something.

The public at large will have a chance to gaze in awe at something entirely new this season. From far-off Burma come the giraffe-neck women, newest addition to the "greatest show on earth."

Lured from the Karen Hills of upper Burma, these strange women come from a tribe formerly known as savage man stealers. But circus officials assure us that the present generation is peaceful and gentle.

In infancy these women encircle their necks with brass bands. A ring is added each year. One of the women on exhibition is 25 years old—no fooling.

4 Reserve Groups To Aid in Forests

The headquarters staffs of four Organized Reserves divisions in this area will be utilized to administer affairs of the civilian conservation corps, Gen. Paul B. Malone, commanding this corps area, ordered yesterday.

Col. Kerwin Y. Smith, chief of staff of the Eightieth Division with headquarters in Richmond will be conservation officer for Virginia while Col. John D. Long, prospective chief of staff of the Sixty-Second Cavalry Division at Towson, Md., will serve for Maryland. Additional field officers will be assigned to each group of five camps. Three Reserve officers will be selected as group officers for Maryland, while four Reserve officers and one R. O. T. C. officer will be chosen for duty in Virginia.

Adequate religious services for the reforestation army will be discussed today in Baltimore, when representative churchmen and Army chaplains will meet with Gen. Malone. Prices on about 6,000 trucks to be used by the conservation corps were requested yesterday. Bids will be opened Monday. Samples must accompany the bids, it was announced.

Greenbaum Rites From Home Today

Funeral services for Isaac Greenbaum, 58, president of the Washington Paper Co., Inc., who died Wednesday at his home, 2700 Connecticut avenue, will held today at 10 a. m. at the home, with Rabbi Sol Metz officiating. Interment will be in Washington Hebrew Congregation Cemetery.

A native of Charles County, Md., Mr. Greenbaum has been a resident of this city for 40 years. He had been connected with the paper company for about ten years and previously was Washington representative for several out-of-town firms.

He is survived by his widow, a son, Carl, of New York, and a daughter, Dorothy, of London. He was a member of Masonic bodies here.

MRS. BLAIR SPEAKS ON POLITICAL WORK

Tells Montgomery Club That Women Should Affiliate With Party Units.

"To be really effective in politics, women should work actively in the regular party organization in their counties and States," declared Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, honorary vice president of the Woman's National Democratic Club, at a garden party yesterday afternoon under auspices of the Woman's Democratic Club of Montgomery County at the Lincolnway Hotel, Rockville, Md.

Mrs. Blair urged the members to make provision for women in their party organization who would function in politics as women, and look out for the welfare of the children and the homes. As an outstanding example of a woman of this type, Mrs. Blair spoke of Miss Lavinia Engle, a member of the local club whom she said, in her opinion, had accomplished more politically than any other woman in the United States, mainly because she worked from a woman's viewpoint. She also urged the study of the administration's policies in preparation for the next political campaign.

Miss Lavinia Engle, a member of the Maryland House of Delegates from Montgomery County, discussed briefly the work accomplished during the recent State Legislature, stating that the passage of many of the bills was affected by the economic situation throughout the country and the women should consider before the next session just which bills they wish to remain permanent and which should be readjusted.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. E. L. Pugh, of Chevy Chase, who announced that Miss Willie Greene Day, former executive secretary of the Social Service League, had accepted the position of treasurer for the county club in place of Mrs. Eliot Middletown, who has resigned. Tea was served by members of the Rockville branch under the direction of Mrs. Ernest Offutt, Mrs. George Edmunds, Mrs. Roger Shaw and Mrs. Gordon Stup.

TWO DEPARTMENTS TO AID MILK PROBE

basis, the subcommittee will proceed in a painstaking inquiry into the full operations of the National Dairy Products.

Through its hearing the subcommittee will decide whether there is in existence here any combination in restraint of the milk industry and whether there is an agreement in effect to maintain prevailing prices.

Will Compare Prices.

The dairy experts of the Department of Agriculture will devote their study to prices in the District as compared with prices prevailing in other cities and, it is understood, they will study production costs in the milk shed supplying the District, compared with similar costs in areas supplying other large cities.

Senator King, who introduced the resolution calling for the milk inquiry, has not yet decided on the personnel of the subcommittee.

"I want someone to head the committee who is interested in the subject and who will follow the investigation to a finish," he said.

Dairymen Are Satisfied With New Milk Prices

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., May 25.—Dairymen supplying the Washington D. C., market with from 12,000 to 14,000 gallons of milk daily expressed satisfaction today after a meeting last night at which John McGill, secretary-treasurer and general manager of the Maryland & Virginia Milk Producers Association, explained the new price schedule adopted by the association last week.

Mr. McGill told the dairymen that the new schedule would not curtail production but in a way would reduce the price above specified allotments. He explained that the supply of milk had become too heavy in Washington due to underconsumption and that it was necessary to change the schedule price rather than reduce production.

Some dairymen are selling milk on the farm from 5 to 10 cents per gallon. The price had been down to 6 cents per gallon in large quantities. Across the Potomac River, in Jefferson County, W. Va., Pennsylvania dealers pay 8 cents per gallon on the farm. This milk is not pasteurized.

Alexandria Auxiliary To Open Poppy Sale

Mrs. Irene Richardson, poppy chairman of the Alexandria unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, has announced the annual sale of poppies will be held tomorrow, with headquarters at 518 King street.

The poppies are made by disabled veterans in hospitals and sold through the auxiliary, the proceeds, after paying the men, going to the relief fund of the auxiliary. It is expected this year, due to decreased compensation, the calls for relief will be more numerous.

Forest Camp Quota Increased.

The original quota of Alexandria for the forestry service, of 40 men, has been increased to 50, ranging in age from 18 to 28 years. The men desiring admission should seek application blanks at 1 p. m. today at the office of the Alexandria United Charities, on the Cameron street side of the city hall building, and see Mrs. Mary J. Mullings, in charge of enlistments.

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY.

IT was a real tee party yesterday at Indian Spring, when men from every Government department lined up foursome after foursome in the Federal Diary First Annual Golf Tournament. It was a busy day for everybody. Players were busy getting going. George Diffenbaugh, pro, was busy getting them going, and Chairman J. Leland Cuff, Justice, and his committee were busy explaining the rules in matters of doubt.

The Federal Diary thanks all who shared in the tee party, especially the handicap committee, for the success they made of their event. We look forward to the second annual tournament with much pleasure.

Last night Mr. Acuff made this statement:

"One hundred and eighty-nine Federal employes, representing all departments, played over the Indian Spring golf course in the Federal Diary Golf Tournament. The weather was ideal. The course was in wonderful shape, and we believe all who participated thoroughly enjoyed the day.

"The low gross score, 76, was turned in by Tom Belshe(*). To you, Mr. Belshe, goes the handsome golf trophy, properly inscribed. Several men tied for low net, and they will be named in this column Saturday, and will play off the tie at Indian Spring Monday. Announcement will be made of all prize winners Tuesday.

"The committee heard many golfers express themselves as being well pleased with the golf course selected for this affair. Many expressed their thanks to The Washington Post for sponsoring and arranging this tournament. We are glad they like it. Let's try to make this an annual affair."

BELSHE'S crash through is no surprise. He is former club champion at Indian Spring, and one of the best amateur golfers in the Middle Atlantic region, always a topnotcher. He is a long driver, strong with irons and has good recovery, a marvel under pressure. In the recent Chevy Chase tournament he qualified with a 74, losing later to Maurice Nee, medalist. Indian Spring is being groomed for a number of championship tournaments. It is a Donald Ross course, a severe test and challenge to any golfer.

Here are some of the low scores:

Diary Guest Tickets

IF your name in this column is followed by (*), or if your contribution appears, call on The Federal Diary Editor day of publication, except Sunday, between 4:30 and 5:15 p. m., and receive tickets to Loew's Fox, "The Devil's Brother" (Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy), or Loew's Palace, "Adorable" (Janet Gaynor and Henry Garat).

AT the Saturday session of the conference of the members of the National Woman's Party, which will be held in the garden house, Dodge Hotel, at 2 p. m., many topics of particular interest to women employed in Government service will be discussed. Edwina Austin Avery, Agriculture, chairman of the Government Workers' Council, will preside and will open the program with a discussion on "The Equal Rights Amendment."

Florence Heath, Veterans' Administration, will speak on "Equality Reservation." Catherine Capayas, War Department, will discuss "Equality in Nationality." Margaret Rolland, Internal Revenue, will present "Equality for the Married Worker." "Equality for the Industrial Worker" will be discussed by Emma Shaw, Treasury, and Abbie Owen, Treasury, will conclude with "How to Organize Business and Professional Women."

Many Government workers are ably assisting in this conference. Emelie Neuman, War Department, is chairman of the credentials committee; Grace Cochran, Internal Revenue, is assisting Rebekah Greathouse, assistant district attorney, in arranging the luncheons and dinner. This conference is to be participated in by workers in the party from all sections of the country.

The Search Room

TWO strangers in our fair city were peering through the glass doors leading into the search room, properly labeled (the search room, not the strangers), of the Patent Office.

Said one, "Say, what's this Search Room fur?" After its purpose was explained to him, he and his companion laughed sheepishly and one exclaimed, "Gosh, son! We thought they searched you before you dast go through the building!"

They had some of the earmarks of being from that section of the U. S. where the judge orders the spectators to be frisked for guns before the trial starts. O. E. L.

FEW retiring Federal employes could receive a more acceptable letter from a chief than John T. Crowley, 1732 Q street northwest, Contact Division, Veterans' Administration, has received from Dr. G. M. Hyland, regretting Mr. Crowley's leaving the service May 31.

Mr. Crowley rounded out fifteen years of service in December, 1932. His service was extended by executive order until May 31 because of his assignment as an employment officer in connection with rehabilitation activities.

Dr. Hyland informed Mr. Crowley that the division regretted the loss of his services, which have been "loyal, honest, straightforward, industrious and efficient and trustworthy."

STUDY CLUB MAPPED BY YOUNG FARMERS

County Agent to Organize Fairfax Youths Tomorrow Night.

A young farmers' club will be formed in Fairfax County, Va., tomorrow at 7:45 p. m., according to an announcement of the county agricultural agent, H. B. Derr. A large number of young men of the county will meet in the farmers' clubrooms in the old clerk's office building at Fairfax to organize the club.

Agent Derr states that there are many young men in the county with practical knowledge of farming but know nothing of the scientific and business phases that are to confront them in successful farming. It is thought that a club plan would be better than giving individual instruction.

It is planned to take up several subjects relating to farm management at first and to enlarge on the schedule as the need appears. The classes will be held in the farmers' clubrooms at Fairfax, where educational and scientific equipment is already located. Some trips will be made in the field so that the men can see the combined practical and scientific farming in operation and note the results.

Agent Derr will be aided by scientific and practical workers and the membership of the classes will not be limited to the younger farmers.

Catholics Dedicate Shrine at Clinton

The outdoor shrine of the Sacred Heart of Christ was dedicated by Archbishop Michael Curley, of Baltimore, at an impressive ceremony held yesterday at Clinton, Md. The shrine was erected by the Rev. John C. Horstkamp, rector of St. John's Church at Clinton.

The ceremonies were opened with a parade by members of the Holy Name Society, headed by cadets from St. John's College, Washington. The music was furnished by the choir from St. Mary's Church at Marlboro.

After field mass was held before the statue of Christ raised upon a semicircular altar, Father Horstkamp gave an address of welcome. This was followed by the archbishop's speech in which he spoke on the significance of the Sacred Heart.

Apple Inspection Bill Passes House

(Associated Press.)

The Robertson bill providing Government inspection of export apples and pears was passed yesterday by the House and sent to the Senate.

Introduced by Representative Robertson, of Lexington, the measure is identical with a bill by Senator Byrd. They were introduced at the instance of the International Apple Association.

The measure is designed to prevent the export to foreign countries of apples or pears that can not be classified in the standard Federal grade or do not meet foreign import regulations. An inspection fee is provided.

Commissioners Order Montgomery Road Study

The Montgomery County commissioners yesterday directed Harry B. Shaw, county engineer, to confer with the Maryland State Roads Commissioner engineer and to make a survey of the roads which are to be taken over July 1 by the roads commission.

Engineer Shaw and the State roads engineer will visit each commissioner district and confer with the commissioner in charge, after which they will make a tour of the district to select the roads to be taken over by the commission.

Arlington Will Accept Taxes in Installments

There appearing no law to prevent the payment of taxes in installments, Charles T. Jesse, treasurer for Arlington County, yesterday announced that persons wishing to pay their taxes in such manner will receive an unofficial receipt when each payment is made. Upon the payment of the tax bill in full the official receipt will be issued.

Scholastic

Winner of European Study Tour Luncheon Guest of Mrs. Roosevelt.

MISS BEATRICE HEGG.

The dream of ambitious American girlhood came true yesterday for Miss Beatrice Hegg, a student of the School of Government, George Washington University, when she was a luncheon guest at the White House. The honor came to her by reason of her recent victory in Nation-wide competition for the scholarship of summer travel given by the Overseas Education Foundation. Mrs. Roosevelt heard about the distinction she had won and, with characteristic informality, invited Miss Hegg to the White House table.

Miss Hegg is a Sioux Falls, S. D., girl, who has been a student here for several years. She is a graduate of Arlington Hall. In striving for her scholarship she was pitted against the pick of students all over the United States. The victory will enable her to study at the University of Bonn, the Sorbonne and at Oxford and Cambridge. She is also one of five fialists in another competition for a full year at the University of Grenoble.

DECISION DELAYED ON BREWERY ZONING

Planning Commission Hears Heated Discussions on Tuxedo, Md., Plant.

After listening to a heated discussion by opposing sides, the Maryland National Capital Parks and Planning Commission last night postponed decision on rezoning for the proposed Tuxedo, Md., brewery until next Thursday.

The commission, in session at the Tower Building, received two delegations from Cheverly, Md., which adjoins the site in question. One delegation was composed of citizens of North Cheverly, newly developed residential section, who opposed the measure, saying that they had purchased land and homes with the understanding the neighborhood was purely residential.

The other delegation, headed by Pinkney McGruder, of Hyattsville, owner of the tract of land being sought for the brewery, upheld the contention that the area should be rezoned in favor of the proposed establishment. He presented letters from a number of Prince Georges County citizens favoring the project.

Another obstacle encountered by commission in considering the question, it was pointed out by Irvin C. Root, chief engineer, is the proximity of the site to the proposed site of the parkway that will follow Beaver Dam Creek.

Brookmont to Rear Community House

Ambitious plans for erection of a community house at Brookmont, Md., are being perfected. The structure has been planned by John M. Spence, of Washington, architect, and Samuel A. Culverwell, of Brookmont, is chairman of the building committee.

The building is to be a simple colonial structure, painted white, with green batten shutters and a large ornamental chimney. It is planned to cost $4,500. The interior will be finished with walls paneled in insulite board, a brick fireplace and mantel. The main floor is designed as one large room for a meeting hall, with a stage and dressing room at one end for community entertainments.

A furnace room, lavatory and dining room for community suppers is provided in the basement. The community has been planning a meeting place for five years, but the population now has grown to such an extent that it is believed practicable to assume the expense. Brookmont is situated between the Potomac River and Conduit road just over the District Line in Maryland.

Yeggs Blow Store Safe; Get Away With Cash

After breaking through a glass panel in the front of a Colmar Manor (Md.) chain store, yeggmen Wednesday night broke open the office safe and escaped with an unknown amount of cash, it was discovered yesterday.

According to Chief of Police H. L. McCormick, who is investigating the case, the work is apparently that of the same persons who entered the store three weeks ago. The safe was also broken during the previous entry.

Farm and Garden Club Planned for Arlington

Mrs. Charles L. McNary and Baroness von Loewenfeldt, organizers of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association for the division embracing Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia, announce a drive to form a unit in Arlington County.

Plans are completed to hold the preliminary organization meeting next Monday at 4 p. m. at the home of Mrs. William N. Doak, Chain Bridge road, Arlington County.

STAR HONOR GAINED BY 32 MIDSHIPMEN

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 25.—Thirty-two of the 435 midshipmen who will receive Naval Academy diplomas June 1 will graduate with distinction, it was announced today; that is, they received 85 per cent or better of the maximum multiple of 1,000 for the whole four-year course. They are commonly known as "star" graduates.

As previously announced, Karl F. Neupert, of Portland, Oreg., will take first honors and R. B. Madden, of Sharon, Pa., has second honor. Neupert led Madden by a fraction less than 2 points, his aggregate being 903.29 compared to 901.58 for Madden. The race between these two has been close throughout the course. Additional statistics compiled show that Madden led Neupert in the final year.

The standing of the other 30 star graduates with the aggregate attained by the first eight follows: R. A. Gallagher, Pennsylvania, 886.7; H. G. Bowen, jr., California, 880.45; R. W. Thompson, jr., Maryland, 876.24; J. H. Bourland, Texas, 876.17; A. McL. Chambliss, Maryland, 875.25; D. C. T. Grubbs, jr., Kentucky, 874.43; J. W. Roe, Iowa, 874.12; N. B. Kerigan, jr., Missouri.; B. H. Meyer, Florida; J. A. Klopp, Illinois; O. E. Sowerwine, New Jersey; R. E. Garrels, California; R. M. Raymond, Louisiana; R. L. Mohan, Massachusetts; J. S. Bethen, Arizona; T. H. Morton, Missouri; D. Lambert, Massachusetts; G. Murphy, North Dakota; R. W. Curtis, Michigan; E. P. Lee, jr., Kentucky; C. A. Curtze, Pennsylvania; L. C. Heinz, Pennsylvania; E. G. Howard, Alabama; R. M. Gibbons, Pennsylvania; H. P. Rumble, New Jersey; H. C. Yost, Kansas; J. J. Tomallichel, Nevada; J. P. Stevens, Texas; F. E. Brown, Nevada; T. V. Shea, Wisconsin.

John A. Klopp, Bloomington, Ill., of the graduating class, today was announced winner of the annual prize of a gold watch presented by the class of 1924 for standing highest for the course of engineering and aeronautics. The prize will be presented along with other awards during June week.

Commissioners to Aid In Filing Tax Returns

County Commissioner of Revenue Harry K. Green announces that he and his deputies will sit at the Jefferson Firemen's Hall, Virginia Highlands, from 7 to 9 o'clock this evening to assist taxpayers in making tax returns for those who have not filed their personal property or State income returns.

Persons failing to get their tax papers in the hands of the commissioner before June 2 will be penalized by the State examiner of records. The minimum penalty will be $2.

Chapel of School To Be Dedicated

The Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, Archbishop of Baltimore, will officiate at the dedication of the new Chapel of Our Lady of Lourdes at Georgetown Preparatory School, Garrett Park, Md., Sunday morning, at 10:45. He will be assisted by the Very Rev. Edward C. Phillips, S. J., provincial of the Maryland-New York Province of the Jesuit Order, and the Rev. W. Coleman Nevils, S. J., president of Georgetown University.

The sermon at the first mass in the chapel will be preached by the Rev. Robert S. Lloyd, headmaster of the school. The Georgetown University Choir will sing. Dr. Edward P. Donovan, instructor of music at the school, will give an organ recital before the ceremonies.

The new chapel, Italian Renaissance in style, faces Rockville pike, and is of panels of selected brick, with ornamentation in Indiana limestone.

MORGAN QUIZ LEADS TO CONGRESS ACTION

Party Politics Brought to Fore by Disclosures to Committee.

in the neighborhood of $19. No attempt was made to disclose Mr. Coolidge's profits or losses.

Hundreds of persons high in the political and commercial affairs of the country were subscribers to the stock. The names had been selected in about the same manner as those revealed in Wednesday's sessions as buyers of Alleghany common.

Almost at the minute Senator Robinson was demanding the resignation of Secretary Woodin, the latter was telling newspapermen at the White House that Treasury experts had been working for some time on ways and means to improve the operation of the income tax laws.

"We want to improve the income tax laws," the Secretary said. "We have been studying this constantly. Whether we will get action at this session of Congress is uncertain."

This was Secretary Woodin's only public comment upon the Morgan inquiry.

Senator McAdoo placed in the record a statement showing a net loss of $3,365 on three investments in common stock, made at the invitation of his old friend, Russell C. Leffingwell, a Morgan partner, who had served with him as Undersecretary of the Treasury.

On 800 shares of Alleghency common in February, 1929, Mr. McAdoo showed a profit of $4,900. A month earlier he showed a combined profit of $400 on 250 shares each of United Corporation common and preferred.

Loud Speaker Installed.

Then, in September, he got in on the ground floor of Standard Brands, to the tune of 1,000 shares. This venture showed a loss of $7,065.

Senator McAdoo's statement pointed out these transactions were effected ten years after he had left the Treasury, and four years before he became a senator.

He denied explicitly that he ever had been a "preferred client" of J. P. Morgan & Co.

The hearings were resumed yesterday in the stately marble caucus room in the Senate Office Building, which is far and away the largert exhibition arena in the Capitol layout.

Because even the committee members at the far end of the great table could not hear the exchanges between witness and examiner, it was necessary to install a loud speaker system in the auditorium during the luncheon recess.

Squawks and Wheezes.

As Mr. George Whitney, a Morgan partner, resumed his testimony in the afternoon, the maladjustment of the mechanism filled the room with weird and ghastly squawks and wheezes. Attendants rushed to the adjustment box to step up the modulation. Because of the frequent change in voice pitch as the various committee members muscled into the examination, the delicately adjusted mechanism was often out of kilter. The alternating booms, rasps and hisses provoked committee members, but delighted the large audience.

When Senator Cousens at one point inadvertently brushed his pencil across the base of the table microphone the loud speaker threw out a blast not far removed from a 21-gun rifle salute at Fort Myer.

Because his banking bill was up in the Senate, Senator Glass excused himself from the morning session shortly after 11 o'clock, remarking to Senator Cousens as he reached for his hat: "We ought to get a tent for this circus." He did not appear at the afternoon session.

Earlier he had tangled with Counsel Pecora over the implications of his interrogations. While Pecora was unravelling an involved question concerning a Morgan statistical table, Senator Glass interrupted to ask: "Was it written in red ink or black ink?"

Clatter Annoys Senator.

Senator Fletcher, the committee chairman, was nettled frequently by the noise and confusion of the spectators' chairs scraping the marble floor. The din of the telegraph instruments in the stately marble stairway outside added to the disorder.

"Keep quiet or get out!" Chairman Fletcher shouted impatiently at one point. "All these chairs scraping makes it sound like a railroad train going through the hall."

When Pecora reverted to the Alleghenv offer to John J. Raskob, then chairman of the Democratic national committee, Senator Byrns pointed out that Joseph R. Nutt, vice president of the Allegheny Corporation and treasurer of the Republican national committee, also had been on the list. At this point, Will Rogers observed from the spectators' section in a hoarse stage whisper: "Too bad there wasn't a chairman of the Progressives."

At another point, Senator Goldsborough (Republican), of Maryland, observed in the general direction of Senator Chairman Fletcher: "We are not engaged in political vaudeville."

Political Tie-Up Sought.

"I am one who would like to find out whether J. P. Morgan & Co. is tied up with political parties," Senator Couzens interjected.

Mr. Whitney explained that the Standard Brands operations, which brought a scattered group of package-food companies into a unified national distributing organization, was perfected in July, 1929. Through the same private offering arrangement followed in the earlier case of the Allegheny Corporation, the Morgan firm sold 724,000 shares of Standard Brands common at $32 per share. When trading opened on the public markets some three months later the stock moved at $40 to $43 per share. This was a month before the crash.

Pecora hastened to the name of former President Coolidge.

"At whose suggestion was Calvin Coolidge included?"

"I assume Mr. Thomas Cochran, one of our partners," Mr. Whitney responded. "He was a close personal friend of Mr. Coolidge and advised him on his investments after he left the White House.

In describing such common stock sales, Mr. Whitney said the Morgan lists "were formed of people we felt knew enough to know what they were doing."

Morgan Explains Taxes.

J. P. Morgan was a sort of forgotten man at the inquiry. Crowded in between the committee table and the press benches, the principal character in the great show followed closely the testimony of his younger partner.

Just as the crowd was in a great commotion preparatory to the luncheon recess, Mr. Morgan stepped up to the committee table and asked if he might say a word. He explained why, as he testified on Wednesday, he had paid income taxes in England in 1931 and 1932 without having paid such taxes in the United States.

England, he said, does not permit deductions for capital losses. In every year since 1930, he added, he had paid approximately $35,000 in such taxes in Great Britain.

"I am not responsible for these figures. I view them with great regret when I have to pay them. * * * I take great pains to pay the taxes I am supposed to pay to the various governments. I obtain the best possible information to avoid underpaying or overpaying."

That was the extent of Mr. Morgan's testimony for the day.

Six Billions in Bonds.

Bond tabulations presented in evidence listed some 265 domestic and foreign issues by J. P. Morgan & Co. since the World War, aggregating, in round numbers, $6,000,000,000. The defaults in this list numbered three, aggregating approximately $115,000,000, face value. All were railroads in the United States. No foreign issue was shown in default.

The three issues in default were on the Florida East Coast, the Mobile & Ohio and the Missouri Pacific.

Mr. Whitney said the Morgan firm still holds some of each of these issues in its own investment portfolio. The losses on the issues so held, he testified, are "greatly in excess of the profits that we made from these offerings."

Pecora's afternoon inquiry covered a wide range. He reopened the loan to Norman H. Davis, United States Ambassador at Large in Europe, by asking Mr. Whitney if this $50,000 credit had not at one time been expanded. Mr. Whitney said it had once been increased to $75,000 for a short time.

Pecora then explained the question had been prompted by a remark he overheard during private discussion between two Morgan partners at the other side of the table.

Whitney's 23 Directorships.

The examiner next turned to Mr. Whitney's directorships. The witness said he was on the board of 23 corporations. He denied Pecora's suggestion that the commercial information thus obtained was used for his own profit in stock market operations.

Pecora cited from Mr. Whitney's 1929 income tax return a sale of 5,000 shares of Johns-Manville—bought some time before for $237,500 and sold that year for $1,136,525, showing a profit to Mr. Whitney of $899,025.

Pecora asked why Mr. Whitney sold that particular stock in 1929, when he was a director of Johns-Manville. The witness replied that Johns-Manville is largely a supply business to the biulding industry. He had been following the building indices and had observed the beginning of a decline in that section. He thought it a good time to sell.

Pecora asked for a tabulation of the indebtedness of each partner to the Morgan firm since 1929. John W. Davis, defense counsel, objected. But the question could not be decided by the committee because quorum was not present. The matter went over to an executive session scheduled for 9:30 this morning.

No "Favorite" Brokerages.

The examiner next attempted to develop which of the 32 New York brokerage houses through which the J. P. Morgan & Co. trades was the "favorite." Mr. Whitney said no one house handled more Morgan business in a given long term than any other.

A considerable discussion developed between the examiner and his witness over the difference between "buying and selling" on the stock exchange, and buying for investment and selling for profit. Mr. Whitney said straight buying-and-selling implied speculative trading for in-and-out profits, while investment buying and selling was in no sense market trading. It was all very complicated. Eventually, Senator Fletcher suggested that the inquiry get along.

Pecora spent most of the remainder of the session in presenting documents to Mr. Whitney for identification. These included compilations of bond offerings, of financial transactions handled by J. P. Morgan & Co. as fiscal agents for foreign governments, of Morgan-sponsored bonds in default and similar statistical material.

Firm Aid to Probers.

When Pecora complained he had not been able to get all the correspondence he wanted from the Morgan files, John W. Davis objected, adding the firm had produced everything requested. Mr. Whitney added:

"When his investigators came into the office, they were furnished with a commodious room for work. Our staff was occupeid at night satisfying additional requests made every day by Mr. Pecora. I told him it would be unfair to our men to have them work with his investigations up to midnight and then work the rest of the night fulfilling his other requests."

Following is the text of a letter from John J. Raskob thanking Mr. Whitney for his invitation to participate in the Alleghany operation, at $20 per share. The communication was in Mr. Raskob's own handwriting, from Palm Beach, Fla., under date of February 4, 1929.

Raskob's Gratitude.

"Dear George:

"Many thanks for your trouble and for so kindly remembering me. My check for $40,000 is inclosed herewith in payment for the Alleghany stock, which kindy have issued when ready in name of John J. Raskob, Wilmington, Del.

"I appreciate deeply the many courtesies shown me by you and your partners and sincerely hope the future holds opportunities for me to reciprocate.

"The weather is fine and I am thoroughly enjoying gold and sunshine. "Best regards and good luck.

"JOHN."

Committee members disclosed informally yesterday that the executive session vote by which Morgan client lists were made public was 6 to 5. This division indicates a narrow margin of security for the present manner of inquiry, opponents of the circus method said.

Matters of procedure will be decided in the executive session this morning.

The committee is understood to have agreed to adjourn tonight until next Wednesday.

Sweeping Tax Inquiry Asked to Curb Leaks

(Associated Press.)

A sweeping investigation into Federal taxes with a view to thoroughly revising them at the January session of Congress was advocated yesterday by Chairman Doughton of the House Ways and Means Committee in an interview.

"I shall propose that either a subcommittee conduct an investigation during the recess of Congress, or the full committee meet before the next session of Congress to go over the taxation laws," Doughton said.

"We must go over the laws to close loopholes through which much revenue that ought to come into the Treasury is escaping," he said.

BAKER DIDN'T PROFIT ON MORGAN SHARES

Explains Firm's Concession on Stocks; British Tax Payment Clarified.

Cleveland, May 25 (A.P.).—Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, whose name appeared on J. P. Morgan & Co.'s "selected list" as produced in the Senate hearing, said, "The only preference granted by the Morgan Company was sale of the stock at no profit to themselves."

Baker was listed as the purchaser of 2,000 shares of Alleghany Corporation stock from the Morgan Co. at a price below the market. He said he was counsel for the Van Sweringen interests at the time the Alleghany Corporation was formed and considered the stock a good investment.

"I still have part of what I bought," he said. "I never made money on it. I am very sorry to say."

(Associated Press.)

The reason why he paid income taxes to Great Britain in the last two years when he did not pay any to the United States was explained to the Senate Banking Committee yesterday by J. P. Morgan.

Here is his explanation:

"I was asked yesterday whether I paid any income taxes to any foreign government and replied that I had paid income taxes to the British government.

"May I state that my income tax to the British government is paid upon a statutory basis and is estimated by the Inland Revenue Authorities, they basing their estimates upon the fact that I own property in Great Britain.

"I paid an assessment during 1930 of 7,000 pounds and approximately similar amounts for 1931 and 1932. The English income tax includes a tax on the rental value of property owned, which the owner uses and which would have increased his income had he rented it.

"It does not include any capital gains and losses."

Hunt for West Virginia Still Ends in Gun Battle

Charles Town, W. Va., May 25.—A gun battle took place about noon today at Leetown near here when H. S. Piggott, Federal prohibition agent; Constables Morgan and Allen went to Rothwell Orchards in search of a still.

The officers in going through the orchard located Herbert and George Berger, of Page County Va. Herbert is reported to have opened fire and shot Piggott in the hip and in return Constable Morgan shot twice.

Florida Makes Ready For Prohibition Vote

Tallahassee, Fla., May 25 (A.P.).—Legislative action was completed today on a bill setting up machinery for a State convention by which Florida will ratify or reject repeal of national prohibition before the first of next year.

The house accepted Senate amendments to its bill and the measure was sent to Gov. Dave Sholtz for his assured signature. He recommended that the Legislature pass the bill.

GLASS BANKING BILL PASSED BY SENATE

to $50,000 would be insured up to 75 per cent, and all over $50,000 by 50 per cent.

The corporation would be capitalized by subscription of $150,000,000 from the Treasury; half of the reserves of Federal Reserve banks and one-half of 1 per cent of the deposits in member banks.

Management would be vested in a board of directors of five, one of whom would be the Comptroller of the Currency, one a member of the Reserve Board and three selected by the governors of the twelve reserve banks.

Dividends would be paid in stock held by the Government and member banks, but not that held by reserve banks.

Another major provision of the measure, and one which has been opposed by J. P. Morgan in the present Banking Committee investigation, provides that private banking houses shall not do both a deposit and investment security business, and that if they continue to accept deposits they shall subject themselves to Federal examination.

Demand Interest Stopped.

Other major provisions would:

Stop payment of interest on demand deposits;

Permit the reserve board to limit interest on time deposits;

Limit to 25 the number of directors a national bank might have;

Principal provisions of the bill retained from last session include:

Power for the Reserve Board to curb the use of reserve credit for speculation by suspending credit facilities to any bank misusing them.

Forbid loans by member banks to their executive officers.

Require member banks to divorce security affiliates within one year. This originally was two years, but was changed on the floor yesterday.

Permit national banks to engage in State-wide branch banking in States which permit their State institutions to do so.

Permit the Reserve Board to remove from office member bank officials insisting upon practices in violation of law or regarded as "unsafe or unsound."

Postal Savings Provision.

Heated debate preceded approval of a section requiring depositors in postal savings institutions to give 60 days' notice before withdrawing deposits on which interest is allowed, and barring interest on deposits for less than that time.

When Senator Tydings unsuccessfully attempted to modify the section preventing the private banks from doing both an investment and deposit business, Senator Glass said if there is money in the security business "there need be no fear that large investment houses can not be set up in this country, to be conducted by experienced bankers, rather than by blacksmiths."

Senator Hebert (Republican), Rhode Island, attacked the deposit insurance clause, saying his investigation had proved that "wherever it was tried it has been a failure."

"It penalizes well-managed banks to take care of those mismanaged," he asserted, adding that eight States had tried it out unsuccessfully.

Patrons to Meet To Organize Bank

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The organization of the Old Dominion Bank, recently incorporated by the State Corporation Commission, will be effected at an open meeting of the depositors of the People's State Bank of Cherrydale and the subscribers to the stock of the new bank, to be held in the auditorium of the Washington-Lee High School at Ballston Wednesday evening, May 31, at 8 o'clock.

The purposes of this meeting are to tentatively select the permanent directors of the new institution, to adopt by-laws, and to transact such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

Announcement is also made that members of the Washington Clearing House Association will attend and address the meeting.

PACKARDIZED USED CARS

Just as Packard dominates the new fine car market in Washington, so too Packardized Cars dominate the better used car market.

In talking about Packardized Used Cars we are making use of a colloquialism, for they are not used cars in the generally accepted sense of the word.

Stock Number 3451—
Packard Convertible 5-passenger sedan, late 1932 model. Used but a few months. To all intents and purposes it is a new car in appearance as well as mechanically. It carries a new-car guarantee. Be sure and look at this car—you will understand what we mean by Packardized Transportation. It is priced at less than half its original cost, and still has more than nine-tenths of its ordinary serviceability left. Priced at... $1,850

They are Packardized Unused Transportation and that is what we are selling — the service that is still left in an automobile that has been accepted by us as part payment on a new car—

Stock Number 3131—
1929 Franklin Sedan. A car known for its economy of operation and easy riding qualities—an automobile built for particular people. Another Packardized car. Its original owner paid $2,800 for this car. See it and then be amazed at the reasonableness of its price $495

Stock Number 3382—
Chrysler Imperial Coupe (1932). This car is an outstanding example of a Packardized Used Car, as smart and racy looking as you could wish. Until you look at it you will think that it is a brand-new automobile. Your present car may make the down payment. It is priced at.... $1,250

Packard clientele take pride in the appearance and condition of their transportation, with the result that our stock represents a type of merchandise not found elsewhere.

Stock Number 3371—
Studebaker 1931 Sedan. This is that highly popular model finished in terra cotta buff with olive green fenders and trim. Six wire wheels, fender wells and trunk rack. Down..... $190

A visit to our Packard Used Car Bazaar will convince you of the facts. We think so much of our merchandise that we keep it under roof at all times.

Stock Number 3408—
Willys-Knight, 1930, Roadster—just repainted beautiful dark blue. This is one of the cars whose manufacturer claims that the farther you drive it the better it gets. It can be bought for as little as a down payment of $92

We are so considerate of the overheads which naturally regulate price tags on all merchandise that our Packardized Used Cars bear, that our Bazaar is located out of the high rent district

Stock Number 123—
Essex, 1930, Coupe, finished in black, with attractive green moldings. An unusually good car, and the down payment is only $83

In addition to Packards we have an assortment of other makes at varying prices.

Stock Number 120—
Another Essex Coupe, 1931 model, finished in a most attractive maroon. You'll like this car. Down payment $97

Stock Number 3383—
One of the big Packard 8 touring cars. New paint. The biggest $150 worth of automobile you can buy. It can be purchased for a down payment of.. $50

THE STUMBLING BLOCK.

The delegates to the disarmament conference seem to be determined to prevent an agreement on the lines so earnestly recommended by President Roosevelt. Ambassador Davis is fighting valiantly, but against great odds. One government after another brings forth new proposals, modifications, or outright objections to the plan championed by Mr. Davis.

Japan has injected an issue which bristles with difficulties. That government signifies that it will not renew the arrangement fixing naval ratios, which expires in 1936, but will ask the United States to agree to a ratio of 10 to 8 in the respective strength of the American and Japanese fleets. Japan asks that the agreement now contemplated at Geneva shall not be based on the assumption that the present naval ratios are to be maintained. Ambassador Davis regrets this move on the part of Japan and thinks it may have a bad effect upon public opinion. If he refers to American public opinion he is right. The policy pursued by Japan since September, 1931, is such as to make its overture for increased relative naval strength very distasteful to Americans. Prominent Japanese, even including the urbane Viscount Ishii, have suggested that the presence of the United States fleet in the Pacific is disturbing to Japan. The evident determination of Japan to hold a large area of invaded territory, contrary to treaty, does not appeal to Americans as a good reason for demanding that the United States should take its fleet out of the Pacific and consent to a relative increase of Japanese naval strength.

The European powers are maneuvering for advantages in the disarmament conference. Some of their demands may be put forth for trading purposes, but there is sufficient basis for other demands to make it highly improbable that a basis of agreement can be reached before June 12, when the economic conference is to open. Whatever the Europeans may do or refuse to do at Geneva, Japan's attitude looms as a stumbling block, both to disarmament and economic concord. The conversations now going on in Washington between Japanese and American spokesmen have an air of unreality and insincerity, caused primarily by Japanese policies in China and at Geneva which completely destroy the value of general assurances of a desire to co-operate for peace and economic betterment.

Disagreeable as the fact may be, it must be acknowledged that events during the last two years have demonstrated that there is a total lack of co-operation, or even of understanding, between the greatest Asiatic power and the great powers of the Occident. The East and West are divided upon fundamentals—such fundamentals as the sanctity of treaties and the desire to avoid aggression. Unless Japan should conclude that co-operation with other nations is more important than acquisition of a neighbor's territory in violation of treaties, there will be no solid reason for the disarmament of great nations. They will not dare to disarm when the strongest nation in the Far East, thoroughly militarized, and demanding stronger sea power, spurns its own pledges and pursues a policy of aggression and conquest whose ultimate scope is carefully concealed.

OIL INDUSTRY CONTROL.

The oil interests made a brave start last year toward settling, with State aid, the demoralizing production and price-cutting situation, but the improvements effected were temporary and the industry is again in a chaotic state. Efforts at self-regulation apparently have broken down completely. The complicated nature of the oil business, including development work, production, distribution, refining and marketing, makes it many businesses in one, requiring a wide variety of technical and managerial talent for their successful conduct.

It was this complex character of the industry as a whole which brought about the proposal of special legislation for the petroleum business, rather than including it in the general industrial control bill now before Congress. When first introduced by Representative Marland and Senator Capper, it was intended to attach it to the broader measure as an amendment, but in Congress, as elsewhere, the oil question is such a controversial one that it has been decided to permit the regulation of oil to be considered as a separate measure.

The bill would give broad authority to the Secretary of the Interior as a virtual czar of the oil industry, his authority being exercised through an administrator, who would be empowered to enforce cooperation and respect for Federal and State regulations. The proposed law is in the nature of an emergency act limited to two years. One of its most vital provisions intended to curb the uncontrolled marketing of oil at ruinous prices, would make it unlawful to receive for shipment in interstate or foreign commerce natural gas, crude petroleum or their by-products, in violation of Federal or State regulations.

Under this bill Secretary Ickes will be given authority to investigate all phases of the oil industry as often as considered necessary, and to fix the total of market demands in connection with the limitation of production. When even the recent meeting of the American Petroleum Institute at Tulsa could not come to an agreement to support the move for Federal control and, like the industry itself, was impotent to work out successful plans for self-regulation, there can be little justifiable complaint that Government authority is now preparing to step in and assume dictatorial power, not only in rehabilitating a distracted industry, but also to protect the national interests in the conservation of a vital element of the country's natural resources.

A DOUBLE SHOT.

Irrespective of the specific results as they may affect individuals or particular institutions, the present banking investigation by the Senate seems destined to inspire legislation which was not anticipated when the inquiry was inaugurated. The immediate outcome is the movement already started in Congress to amend the income tax regulations so as to restrict deduction of losses from investment depreciations which enable wealthy citizens to avoid tax payments altogether, no matter how extensive their remaining income may be. The second effect will be stronger legislation aiming at banking reform in the United States.

No disclosure in recent years has been more shocking to the American people than the revelation that not one of the Morgan partners paid a dollar of income tax during the last two years. In avoiding payment, all of them, undoubtedly, acted entirely within the law. They suffered heavy losses from depreciation of their security holdings, and when sales were made showing such losses they were entitled to make corresponding deductions under the tax provisions. But in addition to their market gains or losses all these men enjoyed handsome incomes, while contributing nothing to the support of the Government. During such a period as the depression, when Federal income is far below the budget needs and taxes upon modest incomes are being increased, it is inevitable that public opinion will demand reform in the tax law so that millionaires shall carry a fair share of the national burden.

With the development of conditions which necessitated the temporary closing of all banks in March, Americans were brought face to face with the intolerable deficiencies of an antiquated and inadequate banking system. The crisis appears to have improved the chances for the passage of the Glass bill, which is a step in the right direction, but the work of reform should not be allowed to stop there. The campaign must be waged until a Federal bank system has been established. Today, three months after the banks were closed, several thousand of them are still in no condition to reopen their doors, and hundreds of millions of depositors' money is still tied up. This is one of the greatest handicaps to business recovery. The banking inquiry is rendering a valuable service in stirring up the public demand for thoroughgoing reform, all along the line.

SLUM CLEARANCE.

Various cities are awaiting with interest an announcement as to whether the public works program will contain broad housing plans which will permit replacement of congested tenement districts with modern buildings. Present low costs admit of construction standards that were not possible when most of the antiquated dwellings such as are found on New York's East Side were built. Recent investigation has shown that there is a large and unsatisfied demand for comfortable apartments renting for from $10 to $14 per room per month. New York flats of this character are filled while many vacancies exist in old buildings in the same neighborhood that can be had for one-third or one-half the cost.

The conference on home building, composed of builders, architects, bankers, engineers and social workers, which investigated the subject last year, recommended the construction of suitable low cost houses on a large scale as the most effective long-range method of solving the problem of providing decent living quarters for millions of citizens. The committees found that very few dwellings of a desirable type have been constructed during recent years at costs within the means of the classes which comprise almost half the population. The conference favors apartment building in the blighted districts of cities, single, group, or multiple family dwellings in intermediate areas, and the construction of entire community centers in outlying districts.

Several projects for East Side New York, contemplating improvements comprising one or more blocks, have already made application to the R. F. C. for loans in connection with buildings costing $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, and providing accommodations for thousands of families each. New York would like to know whether it can prepare plans amounting to $100,000,000 for East Side housing and whether effective help in condemnation proceedings will be forthcoming. Many observers are convinced that housing operations offer the best form of relief work.

PROTECTING INVESTORS.

The Federal securities act, which has finally been passed by Congress, should prove a boon to the District of Columbia. Most of the States have had laws regulating the sale of securities within their own borders, but residents of the District have been left at the mercy of financial wolves any shysters. Fraudulent stock-selling schemes have flourished here for many years without attracting the interest of Congress.

A stroke of good judgment induced Congress to make the act applicable to sales within the District as well as sales transacted across State lines. A considerable number of worthless stock purveyors will be put out of business, and the public may be reasonably certain that fraud will not enter into the floating of securities in the future. Worthless stocks may still be offered for sale, but if they are purchased it will be through public ignorance and gullibility rather than through concealment of facts by unscrupulous promoters.

There is still a broad question in the minds of experts as to the constitutionality of the securities control measure. Representative Beck and other students of the Constitution contend that an amendment to the fundamental law is essential before Congress can regulate the sale of securities. The Supreme Court has held that a contract to purchase stock is not an instrument of interstate commerce. No doubt the measure will be carried to the higher courts for final interpretation.

But this question does not affect the measure as it is applied to the District. There is no question as to the authority of Congress to protect investors in the Federal City. This section of the act will doubtless remain intact regardless of what the Supreme Court may rule as to the interstate regulation of securities.

Barring unacceptable demands by each government, and reservations designed to prevent acceptance of any plan at all, the disarmament conference is going strong.

It ought to be no job at all for Secretary Woodin to set to music that celebrated Morgan theme, "We wanted you to know we've been thinking of you."

A senator insists that a Federal requirement for guarantee of deposits for a year will ruin many State banks. So would a demand for their deposits.

Mr. Morgan explains that he paid an income tax in England because the law made him pay. Now are you satisfied?

No bank should press Norman Davis to pay up while he is struggling to release great nations from their debts.

TRUTH IN SECURITIES

From the Business Week.

With the final enactment of the revised "truth about securities" bill, our stocks and bonds will come wrapped in cellophane instead of cardboard. The new measure will not protect the buyer from his own cupidity, close the market to all but sound issues or put a Government guarantee or stamp of approval on any issues. It merely assures investors that they can get from the Federal Trade Commission complete information about the capital structure and earnings of issuing corporations and full data on the conditions under which the securities are being marketed. If the information turns out to be deceptive they have recourse to damage suits against the officers and boards of erring corporations or against any vendor having knowledge of the fraud.

It is true that much of the information that becomes available through the Trade Commission is already available through many sources. The difficulty is that it is sometimes scattered, and that security buyers too often fail to go after it.

The requirement that all securities must be registered with the Government authority, with detailed information on what they represent and what is back of them, certified by corporation officers and at least three-fourths of the directors, is a decided step in the right direction. So is the extension of these conditions to foreign issuers, who will be hereafter obliged to file complete data on their purposes, marketing methods, issuing costs and past records.

One outstanding feature of the new legislation is its careful specification of what kind of information must be carried in advertising the securities and on the securities themselves. Another is the provision that the commission may revoke or suspend the registration of any security, though, in such cases, the issuer has recourse to the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court. The revised bill is a distinct improvement on the somewhat loosely drawn first drafts.

An immediate result of its passage will be the resignation of numerous company directors. It will no longer be safe for a man to sit on scores of big corporations' boards unless he actually has intimate knowledge of their transactions and is willing to assume complete responsibility. The public and stockholders will undoubtedly welcome the disappearance of dummy directors. The bill should prove a boon to conservative and responsible underwriting houses, since it will protect them from the competition of the irresponsible gentry.

For Senator Johnson's comfort, the measure carries with it provision for the creation of a corporation to intercede for holders of foreign securities now in default, collect everything collectable in the way of principal and interest. Its chief function is apparently to provide strong shoulders on which the victims of foreign bonds may weep.

They Only Cook the Little Ones.

POST HASTE.

There seems to be no doubt about who put the gain in Allegheny.

Uncle Ike said something when he remarked: "There be some things what are legal that haint right."

Disclosure of the big holes in income returns should put wind in the sales tax.

Mr. Farley's latest effort is to cushion falling spirits over high taxes with hopes of relief from early repeal.

But the world do move. Just look back and see how far behind the standpatters have been left.

If the investigations clean up big banks and rid the country of the rotten little ones they will be well worth while.

Having China quite sufficiently trussed, Japan will accept a truce.

Shades of Portsmouth inquire: "If another Roosevelt ends another Japanese war who will take the spoils of victory from them this time?"

If Secretary Woodin, as the head of a firm that had a million on deposit with Morgan, received a favor from the banker, does it in any way discredit him as the Treasury head?

"Reds plan another bonus march." Can't we send them the price of entertainment and tickets and let them stay at home?

American delegates to the economic conference will be allowed about one-third the cost of board and lodging, but London is quite liberal with doles for indigents.

Six Capital banks are combining to reopen as one strong institution. All England is served by five banks, and no failures.

"Davis pledges us to consult on sanctions against an aggressor." It sounds like a congressional broadcast.

The Navy is to be relieved of the rotation plan, but it is still a bit dizzy and trying to regain its sea legs.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

I SPOIL A FISHERMAN'S DAY.

Said I to him: "It must be fine
To dream above a rod and line!
To try to catch the lilting song
Of waters rippling all day long;
Sometimes to turn a questioning eye
Up to the glory of the sky
And wonder why such charm should be Fashioned for men like you and me.

"Look! There's a cardinal up there
Flooding with song the morning air!
Somewhere I'm sure, and very near,
His gray-garbed mate delights to hear
That silver voice, and in her breast
Throbs pride for one so gayly dressed.
Tonight it will be ours to say
'We've seen a cardinal today!'

"This curious silence noisy seems
With hammering of thoughts and dreams;
Constantly, birth, death, youth and age
In God's great business here engage.
Strange mysteries lie thick about.
How came the rainbow to the trout?
And why, deep in the forest's gloom,
Should pink and white trifolium bloom?

"Here are a thousand worlds or more
For man to fathom and explore.
Who knows the secrets of that patch
Which marks another insect hatch?
Are those frail creatures born in vain
To suffer just an instant's pain?"
The fisherman then turned to me:
"Shut up! You talk too much!" said he.

Why Should Man Howl for Milk When He Prefers Meat?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MORALITY is not a fixed quality.

As you may discover by consulting any good dictionary, it is a current standard of conduct that changes with the times. The thing that is moral today was grossly immoral in the time of our grandfathers.

The first standard of morality, like all of man's inventions, was a product of necessity. It did not reflect his longing for righteousness. It supplied a need. It was designed to suppress nuisances.

When marriage was instituted to make a man care for his children, it became immoral to mate without marriage. When the strong acquired property which they wished to enjoy in peace, it became immoral to steal—except after a declaration of war. In every case the effect of the rule was to hinder and restrain those who wouldn't play fair without rules.

And in almost every instance the accepted standard of morality was designed to suppress a natural tendency. While man's nature urged him to do this and that, morality placed a restraining hand on his arm and said: "Thou shalt not."

This, at first thought, seems an absurdity. Why should nature give a man capacities that he should not use? Surely there is a mistake somewhere if it is wrong to be natural.

But, no. The mistake is in the assumption that wrong is natural and right unnatural.

It is natural for a child to crawl. But is it less natural for a man to walk? The fact that he has the ability to walk with ease and profit is sufficient proof that walking is natural.

It was natural for primitive man to be unwashed, lousy and ignorant. But since he had within him the capacity for limitless development, it is equally natural for modern man to be a high-class gentleman. The tree is just as natural as the seed from which it grew.

If one stage of man's development is quite as natural as another, it follows that the highest standard of ethics yet developed is just as natural as theft, lying and surrender to lust.

In fact, since man has attained his present height, decency is more natural to him than indecency—just as it is more natural for an adult to walk than to crawl.

Those who excuse promiscuous sex indulgence on the ground that it is natural could by the same reasoning condone theft and murder.

Jungle ways were natural in the jungle, but decent ethics are natural to the man who is civilized.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Saving a Billion, Spending Three.

Kansas City Star.

The Government reorganization program of Mr. Roosevelt, to be completed shortly and submitted to Congress, is expected to cap the billion-dollar or 25 per cent reduction in Government expenditures that was a repeated pledge of the last campaign. The proposed reorganization is said to be more sweeping than that offered by Mr. Hoover and rejected by Congress. It is devised to effect a saving of about $300,000,000, to go along with the veteran Government salary and other economies and to bring the total to the required billion. It will redeem a pledge, for which due credit should be given, although it will involve the laying off of thousands of workers.

That is one side of the picture. The other is the Government program of spending as opposed to saving, of getting money into use and starting business up by creating work for the unemployed. The budget is to be balanced aside from the possible stupendous outlay of $3,300,000,000 for public works, which is expected by the more optimistic of its advocates to furnish employment, directly and indirectly, for at least 3,000,000 men. That is considerably more than the total number of Government workers. Theoretically, many of those displaced by Government economies would be reemployed through the spending program.

Kansas City Times.

Insurance, banking and other institutions of the East, with large holdings of municipal bonds, are to start a Nation-wide movement urging the payment of delinquent taxes. They see municipal credit endangered and, quite properly, are concerned about the safety of securities in which they have invested. The idea is fundamentally sound, although it is based rather too much on the assumption that taxes, in the majority of cases, have been deliberately withheld, whereas the main trouble simply has been an inability to pay.

When Congress Goes.

Topeka Capital.

If Congress gets through its special session in June the President will be master of all he surveys, having larger powers than a President ever before exercised, and with correspondingly large responsibilities. Washington is not a comfortable capital in summer months, and the President will be entitled to a rest and change of scene. As Governor of New York, Mr. Roosevelt spent the major part of his time away from his office. He was not in robust health and it was necessary for him to conserve his strength. He managed it so well that he went out of office in better physical condition, after four years, than at the beginning of his term, and was able to carry on a strenuous national campaign. President Roosevelt may be regarded by this time as an expert in conserving his strength and has special need to do so.

UNCLE SAM DOES SOME EUROPEAN CONSULTING.

("Mr. Davis assured the League that the United States would abandon its traditional policy of isolation and enter consultations with the other powers in case of wars or war threats made in violation of peace pacts."—News item.)

Time: Your guess is as good as ours.

A war has broken out between two nations. Uncle Sam has come over to "consult" with the European nations about stopping it.

Uncle Sam—Now the position of the United States is——

England—These interruptions are most annoying. Please continue.

Uncle Sam—As I was saying, we of America feel that war must be put outside the pale of civilization and that it is our duty to——

(There is a popping of machine guns from a distant ridge, and Uncle Sam's hat is riddled.)

Italy—Don't mind little things like that, Uncle Sam. What were you saying?

Uncle Sam—It is the belief of Washington that our traditional policy of aloofness should be abandoned and that when war breaks out in the Old World we should meet with those nations pledged to restore peace and order. We think——

The Netherlands—You'll pardon these little interruptions, I am sure, Uncle Sam. They're embarrassing, but we are quite unable to prevent them.

Uncle Sam—At a time like this, when the peace of the world is threatened, it behooves America to do its part to bring about reconciliation and——

Belgium—My dear Sam, this is most unfortunate. Please resume.

Uncle Sam—When nations lose their heads and plunge their peoples into bloody conflict, my country is proud to be able to do its bit toward restoring reason and making——

(A wave of poison gas sweeps over the group. The other nations put on gas masks at once. Uncle Sam, having failed to provide himself with one, is in a bad position.)

Poland—Put on your mask, Uncle! Put on your mask!

Uncle Sam—I didn't bring one. I came merely in the capacity of consultant.

(Utterly unprotected, Uncle Sam passes out as a heavy barrage is opened from all sides. He comes to his senses on a hospital ship bound back to the United States. Mr. Davis, as a Red Cross nurse, is bending over him.)

Mr. Davis—What happened to you?

Uncle Sam—It seems I did some consulting.

PROPOSITION OF A SALARIED MAN.

Dear Uncle Sam: I have a plan—
It's sensible and new;
Instead of paying me, my boss
Will send my pay to you.

My wages you will get each week—
No payment will you lack—
Just take out what you need and send
The little balance back!

It was probably the first time Mr. Morgan ever listened to a thousand questions none of which was "What do you think of the market?"

WELL AGED.

New York went for repeal by more than 20 to 1 in the State and approximately 40 to 1 in the city. The mental attitude of the voters seems to be strictly prewar stuff that's been in the cellar for 14 years.

How about a Government taxation slogan: A vacuum cleaner in every pay envelope!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Distressing Case of Spanish War Veteran's Widow Deprived of a Pension.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am writing to ask some one who may read this article, if they know how it is that a widow can be deprived of a pension awarded her at the death of her husband, who fought in the Spanish War.

It seems to me that the pension having been awarded her for life, no one has the right to say it shall no longer be hers. She is left without an income of any kind, is quite an invalid and not able to work for a living. Yet she is a lady, daughter of a clergyman and a charming person. I shall be truly grateful for information on this perplexing question.

Disabled Veterans Are Entertained at White House.

THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. ROOSEVELT entertained yesterday afternoon at the annual garden party for disabled veterans when several hundred guests were received. The President, delayed for some time by his meeting with the foreign delegates to the economic conferences, seemed in unusually cheerful spirits as he greeted the groups of veterans, Gray Ladies, delegations from the Veterans' Bureau, and the other guests who, though fewer than usual, included high officials.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who received with the President, wore a handsome gown of printed sheer crepe in shades of blue rose and white, fashioned with a long flowing skirt and a three-quarter length coat of the same material with elbow sleeves. Three large flowers of pink and deep blue chiffon finished the neckline.

Mrs. Roosevelt yesterday afternoon visited the farm women's exhibition held at the Clarendon, Va., home of Mrs. Florence Ward, of the Bureau of Home Economics, Department of Agriculture.

The Marine Band, in scarlet coated uniforms, played stirring military anthems and war-time popular tunes. Refreshments were served from canopied marquees placed in shady corners of the gardens, while the Gray Ladies from Walter Reed passed around the groups of veterans to distribute cigarettes and refreshments. Various uniforms of the Gray Ladies, Motor Corps, Blue Birds, mingling with the bright colored organdie frocks of the other guests made the scene on the beautifully trimmed lawns a brilliant one.

Mrs. Cordell Hull, wearing a smart gown of printed chiffon in yellow, brown and white, with a large brown hat, was seen here and there chatting with the veterans and guests, as were Mrs. George H. Dern in a handsome black and white chiffon, and Mrs. Claude A. Swanson looking most summery in a frock of misty blue and pink chiffon with a large black hat.

The Secretary of War, Mr. George H. Dern, was seen in earnest conversation with Gen. John J. Pershing, whom many of the veterans greeted as the well-beloved "Black Jack" of war times. The administrator of veterans' affairs, Maj. Gen. Frank T. Hines, with Mrs. Hines was also in attendance, the latter wearing a gown of beige and rose printed chiffon with a large brown hat.

The Surgeon General of the Public Health Service and Mrs. Hugh S. Cumming were present. Mrs. Cumming in a sports costume of white with a marine blue jacket and a smart white hat. Others present were the Commandant of the Marine Corps and Mrs. Ben H. Fuller, the Commandant of the Navy Yard and Mrs. William V. Butler. Dr. and Mrs. William A. White, and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Harriman.

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt will have as their guests at the White House tonight the governor of New York and Mrs. Herbert H. Lehman.

Ambassador of Turkey Returns From Mexico.

The Ambassador of Turkey, Mr. Ahmet Muhtar, returned to Washington yesterday from New York, where he arrived Monday from Mexico. He was met by the Second Secretary of Embassy, Usaki Bulent Bey. The ambassador has with him for a week, Fikret Tahir Bey, of the Turkish diplomatic service, who is spending a short time in this country before returning to his post in Berlin.

The Ambassador of Japan and Mme. Debuchi entertained at dinner last evening to meet Viscount K. Ishii and Mr. E. Fukai. The guests were the Secretary of State and Mrs. Cordell Hull, the Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. William H. Woodin, the Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Daniel C. Roper, Senator and Mrs. Charles L. McNary, Senator William G. McAdoo, Representative and Samuel D. McReynolds, the former Undersecretary of State and Mrs. William R. Castle, jr., Mrs. Roland S. Morris, wife of former Ambassador to Japan; Mr. Perry Belmont, Dr. Stanley K. Hornbeck, chief of the Far Eastern division of the State Department; Dr. and Mrs. Charles S. Hamlin, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Feis, Mr. and Mrs. James Clement Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Southgate, Miss Sarah Morris, daughter of Mr. Ronald S. Morris; Mr. Juichi Tsushima, financial attache of the embassy; Mr. Kensuke Horinouchi, the Counselor of the Embassy and Mme. Taketomi, and Mr. Midzusawa, first secretary of embassy.

The Ambassador of Argentina, Dr. Felipe Espil, entertained at dinner last evening in honor of the members of the Argentine tennis team who took part in the Davis Cup tie at the Chevy Chase Club yesterday.

Secretary Hull Host To Visiting Delegations.

The Secretary of State, Mr. Cordell Hull, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Carlton in honor of Japanese and Brazilian delegations to the economic conference. The company included the Brazilian Ambassador to Argentina, Senhor J. F. de Assis-Brasil; the Ambassador of Brazil, Senhor M. de Lima e Silva, and the Brazilian delegates, Senhor Joaquin Eulalio, Senhor Heitor Freire de Carvalho, Senhor Numa de Oliviera, Senhor Valentina Boucas, Senhor Jose Nabuco, Senhor Augusto Amaral, Dr. Acyr Paes, also Senhor H. Accioly, Counselor of the Embassy.

The Japanese delegates included Viscount Kikujiro Ishii, member of the Privy Council of Japan; the Ambassador of Japan, Mr. Katsuji Debuchi; Mr. Eigo Fukai, governor of the Bank of Japan; Mr. Juichi Tsushima, Financial Attache of the Embassy; Mr. Toshihiko Taketomi, Counselor of the Embassy; Mr. Kusuo Iida and Mr. Junichi Ko.

The United States officials were the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. William H. Woodin; the Postmaster General, Mr. James A. Farley; Senator Key Pittman, Senator Henry F. Ashurst, Representative Joseph W. Byrns, Representative Samuel D. McReynolds, the Undersecretary of State, Mr. William Phillips; Mr. Charles S. Hamlin, of the Federal Reserve Board; the former Governor of Ohio, Mr. James M. Cox; Mr. James Brown Scott, president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Also Mr. Wilbur J. Carr, Mr. Francis White and Mr. Raymond Moley, Assistant Secretaries of State; Mr. Green H. Hackworth, solicitor of the Department of State; Mr. Oliver M. W. Sprague, special assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury; Mr. William C. Envoy of Sweden Accepts Medal in New York City.

The Minister of Sweden, Mr. W. Bostrom, last evening attended a dinner held at the Union League Club in New York, where he accepted the James Morehead Turner medal for the recipient, Mr. Gustaf Dalen, Swedish scientist and inventor. The medal is given by the International Acetylene Association annually.

Mr. Dalen, who has been blind for many years as the result of an explosion, was unable to be present and the minister received the medal in his behalf from Mr. W. C. Keeley, jr. The guests included the retiring Minister to Sweeden, Mr. John Motley Morehead, and his successor, Mr. Laurence A. Steinhardt.

The Minister of the Netherlands and Mme. van Royen entertained last evening at dinner at the legation before the reception at the Japanese Embassy.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. Dern will be guests of honor of the Nebraska State Society at a reception and dance on Monday evening, in the Dragon Room at Wardman Park Hotel. The wives of the members of Congress from Nebraska, Mrs. George Norris, Mrs. John H. Morehead, Mrs. A. C. Shallenberger, Mrs. Edgar Howard and Mrs. Terry Carpenter will be assisting hostesses.

Following a brief, informal address by Secretary Dern there will be dancing and cards. All Nebraskans in Washington are invited to attend.

Mrs. Alexander Weddell, wife of the newly appointed Ambassador to Brazil, is at the Carlton for a few days, having come up from her home in Richmond, Va.

Senator and Mrs. Royal S. Copeland have returned to Washington from their home at Suffern, N. Y., and are at the Shoreham. The Senator will remain in Washington until the adjournment of Congress, but Mrs. Copeland will return to New

POTOMAC ELECTRIC POWER NET HIGHER

Washington Railway Income Is $4,781 Lower; Bond Outing Planned.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

April statements of operation of Potomac Electric Power and Washington Railway & Electric Co.'s were filed yesterday with the Public Utilities Commission.

The former company reported a net for the four months of $1,652,861.96 as against $1,641,940.43 in 1932, an increase of $10,921.53.

Usual deductions from gross required $75,642.72 compared with $76,-612.93, a difference of $970.21, leaving a total net corporate income in April of $365,095.33 against $385,675.92, a decrease for the month of $20,580.59.

Deductions from gross of Washington Railway & Electric Co. required $54,516.37 against $53,750.32 a year ago, leaving a net deficit in April, 1933, of $4,781.09 in comparison with a net profit in April, 1932, of $24,260.39.

Net income for the first four months of this year was also reported. Profits in the 1933 period totaled $433,764.58 while net income in the first four months of 1932 amounted to $492,381.31.

Bond Club Outing.

A swift increase in the sales of stock exchange seats, which invariably accompanies a major bull market, warrants the prediction that the annual outing of the Bond Club of Washington at the Manor Country Club, June 2, will be carried to new attendance highs. Orders are piling in from out of town members and guests at a rate that is running the entertainment committee's tickers from 8 to 80 minutes late during all rush hours.

The final announcement cards mailed out last night called attention to the fact that the club board room would be transferred to the great open spaces of the Manor Club lawns on the afternoon of June 2, so that ordinary floor brokers will not get tangled with the specialists grouped around the beer post.

Myles H. Quail, chairman of the "big board" committee, will act as president of the al fresco stock exchange session and has appointed James P. Nolan, T. Baker Robinson, Carroll Morgan, G. Fenton Cramer and Aubrey G. Danston his star customer men, to handle orders for particularly important guests from the financial sections of Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

New Record Seen.

This year's outing will set new attendance records. The reservations up to date show a decided majority of guests over actual Bond Club members, notwithstanding the fact that the club is turning out 100 per cent. Last year the guest attendance ran only a little over 40 per cent.

Although the open-air stock exchange session is probably the most popular feature of the club's annual outings, this specialty will have strong opposition next Friday from the following competing committees: Golf, L. Clark Brown, chairman; pingpong, Carroll Morgan, chairman; horseshoe pitching, Munford Ellis, chairman; putting, James Weir, chairman; beer, C. C. Alles, chairman, and dinner, Carl R. Kurtz, chairman.

Although relaxation, sports and wholesome fun are the more heavily advertised features of next Friday's outing, the Bond Club will interrupt the day and evening program at the Manor Country Club long enough to elect officers for next year. The nominating committee, of which James M. Johnston is chairman, has proposed the following ticket: President, Frank P. Morse; vice president, James P. Nolan; secretary-treasurer, James H. Lemon; governors, Carl R. Kurtz and T. C. Montgomery.

York June 1. Senator and Mrs. Copeland will entertain at a supper party Sunday.

Mrs. Dill, wife of Senator C. C. Dill, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Congressional Club when her guests included Mrs. Roy Woodruff, Mrs. Homer Bone, Mrs. Edward Pou, Mrs. Thomas McKeown, Mrs. James McClintic, Mrs. L. L. McCandless, Mrs. Martin Smith, Mrs. William Humphreys, Mrs. Wilbur Hubbard and Mrs. Ines Daniels.

The club will close June 1, and the members will meet Friday for an informal tea. Mrs. Dill and the executive board will be assisted by members of the hospitality committee.

Attache and Signora Casardi Give Tea Reception.

The Naval Attache of the Italian Embassy and Signora Casardi were hosts at a reception and tea yesterday afternoon in the Chinese room of the Mayflower.

Aproximately 200 guests were present from diplomatic, official and residential circles including many of their friends from naval circles.

Flags of the United States and Italy were used for room decorations with pink roses on the tea table and a large cake with a replica of the flags of the two countries in sugar forming the centerpiece.

The Director of the Mint, Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, will be the guest in whose honor Mrs. D. A. McDougal, committeewoman of Oklahoma, will entertain the members of the national Democratic committee at dinner at the Mayflower on May 31.

Capt. and Mrs. Archibald Davis entertained at dinner last evening in honor of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Andrew T. Long.

Mrs. Ellis, wife of Capt. Hayne Ellis, U. S. N., will leave Washington May 31 to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Davis Leland at their home in North Andover, Mass., for a fortnight.

Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, jr., left Washington last evening for New York, where she will spend the week-end at her home at Fishkill Farms and return to Washington on Monday.

Capt. Van Lennep has returned to Washington after spending the winter in Florida.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Julian L. Latimer with their daughter, Miss Laura T. Latimer, and Mrs. C. A. Richardson, are expected to arrive in Washington over the week-end from Clearwater, Fla., and during their stay here of some time, they will be at Wardman Park Hotel.

Miss Virginia Lasky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ellsworth Lasky, whose marriage to Mr. Frank Snowden Katzenbach 3d, will take place tomorrow, was the guest in whose honor Mr. G. Clark Brant entertained last evening at a supper party at the Club Michel.

This afternoon Miss Lasky will be the guest of honor at a tea to be given by Miss Ruth Reilly and tonight Miss Floy Katzenbach will entertain in her honor at a supper dance at the Shoreham following the rehearsal of the wedding. Sisters of Charity To Honor Member Elaborate plans are being made by the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul for a celebration next Sunday in honor of the beatification in the Vatican City of their famed member, Venerable Catherine Laboure.

The celebration, which will take place at 8 p. m., at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, is being planned to coincide with the ceremonies in the Vatican City. The Rev. Francis J. Hurney will preside and will be the celebrant at solemn benediction.

The Very Rev. Ignatius Smith, O. P., noted Dominican preacher, will give the address, and Mgr. Eugene Connelly will be present in the sanctuary. The assistants in the sanctuary will be the Revs. Edward MacAdams, deacon; Daniel Kain, subdeacon; J. Kelly Reese and S. A. Cyz. More than 600 participants will recite the solemn act of consecration at the altar of the church as part of the services.

Your Child

By MRS. AGNES LYNE

Play Under Difficulties.

CRAMPED city living makes good play difficult. But parents who realize its importance can do much to encourage it even under the most unfavorable circumstances.

A woman whose husband's business made it necessary for her to live with her two children in hotels and boarding houses in foreign countries over a period of three or four years nevertheless made it possible for them to enjoy a most vaulable kind of play.

Wherever the family alighted for a few weeks the children set up in their room, on the floor or on top of an especially large table, two cities of their own construction.

The inhabitants were small dolls and all manner of little creatures picked up in the four corners of Europe.

The cities' walls and houses, gardens, schools, hospitals, banks, museums, prisons and government offices were constructed anew out of cardboard and boxes and paper fasteners wherever the children happened to be.

Once they built an opera house, made scenery and gave performances. Another time after visiting a planetarium they constructed an observatory.

Of course, these paper cities cluttered up their room. Of course, it was a nuisance to pack into a special suitcase the precious items.

But this mother knew how valuable to her children was their continuity of interest in a game to which they could bring everything they learned and in the drama of which they found outlet for all sorts of emotions.

The Meanderer

Comes Upon Old Copper Pans Used for "Paella Valenciana"—Quimper Pottery—Cool, Artistic Chairs for Porch and Garden.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extention 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Broad, flat pans of aged copper or brass showing marks of use through the years probably have been used for cooking the "Paella Valenciana," the old Spanish mixture of pork, fish and chicken with vegetables, a recipe which the Meanderer has offerred through the courtesy of a popular Washington restaurateur. The Meanderer was delighted to come upon the interesting utensils just after offering the recipe to readers. Not that she expects the readers to buy the utensil for making the "Paella." The sturdy old pan is in sizes large enough to hold firewood, large enough to make a lake for sailing Sonny's boat or large enough for cooking the steaks for an immense steak fry. The pans in varying sizes were brought from Ecuador by a much-traveled Washington woman, who has placed them for sale in her fascinating shop on Connecticut avenue.

Requests for the method of preparing "Paella Valenciana" have come in rapidly, rivaling in numbers the requests for "Seven Menus for Beer Suppers" and "The Etiquette of Serving Wine." Requests need only be accompanied by a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Quaint peasant figures and brightly colored bands decorate the genuine Quimper pottery the Meanderer has coveted through the shopping pages of quality magazines, not knowing just where it could be found in Washington, and not believing its price would ever be anything but prohibitive. But now, all those fellow coveters of Quimper ware, it is reduced in price, and is in complete open stock in the Connecticut avenue shop where the "paella" pans were discovered. The individual Quimper baking dishes, with blue side handles, are practically irresistible at the sale price of six for $2.88. Porringers are now 60 cents each, reduced from the regular price of 75 cents. The prices are only for the annual June sale of the shop.

Porch or garden chair comfort is assured with the Chinese peel chairs with spring built backs, in which the Meanderer rested awhile in a Connecticut avenue shop. The comfort of the chairs is such that they need no cushions. Their durability and attractiveness make it possible to bring them into the house after their summer use is finished.

Hand-made linen towels, many of them flower trimmed, with almost any flower that ever grew in a garden, and many with flowers such as never grew anywhere, but which are most attractive, nevertheless, sell for $3 a dozen in the fifth-floor towel shop of an important store.

Rubber-lined bags of suede, moire and other materials are ready for wet swimming suits' transportation home after the week-end holiday. The bags sell for $1. Huge beach towels in bright colors also sell for $1 in the same fifth-floor shop of a big department store.

A DOUBLE VIENNA COUP.

THE Vienna Coup is a rather rare form of squeeze which involves the setting up of a high card in the hand of a player who is later to be squeezed. It is rare, indeed, that a hand presents an opportunity for more than one such play, particularly when there is a question of taking all the tricks by means of it. However, playing in the experts' room of Crockford's Club, New York, recently, Mr. Walter Beinecke distinguished himself by making all 13 tricks on a contract to take 12 by establishing winning cards for both his opponents, Messrs. Hugh Jackson and Oswald Jacoby. For a while the experts in the room were unable to determine exactly what to name the play, although they knew it was good. Eventually the name was agreed upon—the Double Vienna Coup. The hand was:

East, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

Mr. Walter Beinecke.

♠ J
♡ A 10 8
◇ K Q 8 2
♣ J 10 9 6 4

Mr. Oswald Jacoby: ♠ 10 5 3 ♡ Q J 9 7 6 2 ◇ 6 3 ♣ 8 3

Mr. Hugh Jackson: ♠ Q 9 8 4 ♡ 4 3 ◇ J 10 9 5 4 ♣ Q 7

Mr. Willard Karn: ♠ A K 7 6 3 ♡ K 5 ◇ A 7 ♣ A K 5 2

East	South	West	North
1♣(1)	Dbl.	2♡(2)	2NT
Pass	6NT	Pass	Pass

1—Mr. Jackson was using a bidding system in which the Opening bid meant nothing as to suit, but indicated only the number of high-card tricks held. In this case, though, he was just making an out-and-out psychic.

2—Mr. Jacoby is also guilty of an out-and-out psychic; vulnerable.

Although his Small Slam was a lay-down, Mr. Bienecke was out for a maximum total of tricks. He won the Opening heart lead with a King and experimented with two rounds of clubs. The suit breaking, he proceeded to lead out three rounds of diamonds, setting up the Knave-Ten in Mr. Jackson's hand, and then another round of hearts, setting up the Queen in Mr. Jacoby's hand (Mr. Jacoby split his equal honors on the second lead). The clubs were then laid down. Dumy being left with three spades to the Ace-King. On the last club lead Mr. Jackson, with three spades to the Queen and the diamond Knave, was squeezed. He discarded a spade. Mr. Jacoby, with three spades and the heart Queen, also had to throw a spade, whereupon Mr. Beinecke led a spade to the good suit in the Dummy, taking all 13 tricks.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

How should South plan the play of this hand to attain the maximum number of tricks with the greatest degree of safety after the lead of the club King?

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♠ K 10 8 6 2 ♡ 10 8 7 2 ◇ K 6 3 ♣ 4

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

A MOVE was made in the controversy over WIBO's wavelength in Chicago which caused more or less of a sensation when the owners of WIBO filed a petition with the Federal Radio Commission charging the Johnson-Kennedy Radio Corporation, owners of WIBO, Gary, Ind., with having perpetrated a fraud on the commission, the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court. The owners of WIBO asked in their petition that the commission reconsider its decision by which the commission took WIBO and another Chicago station, WPCC, off the air and gave their wave length to the Gary station.

The petition urges that the present license of WJKS be revoked, and that any application by it for renewal of license be denied beause of the alleged fraud. It discloses that the owners of WIBO are about to file an application with the commission for authority to move their station to Lake County, Ind., and states that they are willing and offer "to meet to the fullest extent the standards of service to the Calumet district which were approved in the commission's decision."

As a result of the recent decision by the Supreme Court, WIBO and WPCC have only a few more days of existence unless relief is obtained from the Radio Commission. The petition which was filed for WIBO by Louis G. Caldwell, former general counsel of the Federal Radio Commission, points out that the commission's decision against WIBO was primarily based on the fact that, under the commission's regulations, Indiana is greatly under quota on broadcast facilities, which Illinois is greatly over quota. Also on the further ground that WJKS was the only station serving the Calumet region, with Gary, Ind., as its center, and was providing a distinctively local community service designed to meet the needs of the population of that region, particularly the many foreign racial groups.

These findings of the commission, the petition states, were based on the testimony given by Thomas J. Johnson, a Chicago attorney, who was president of the Johnson-Kennedy Radio Corporation, and Ralph L. Atlass, who was treasurer and general manager of that corporation.

The petition charges that the Johnson-Kennedy Radio Corporation does not have any intention of living up to the sworn statements and representations which it made to the Federal Radio Commission and the courts, but on the contrary it intends to serve primarily the City of Chicago and approximately the same area as that served by WIBO and that instead of trying to increase the facilities enjoyed in Indiana, it is really trying to secure additional coverage in Illinois at the expense of Indiana.

STARS of the Broadway stage, Ilka Chase and Hugh O'Connell, and Lee Wiley and Paul Small, of radio fame, will head the cast of the new series of Pond's programs to be presented over WRC tonight at 8:30 o'clock. Victor Young, radio and recording director and composer, will conduct the musical program. He will prepare his own arrangements for the series, will lead the orchestra and present Miss Wiley and Small in vocal solos and duets. O'Connell and Miss Chase will offer a weekly dramatic skit entitled "The Carrolls," in which O'Connell will appear in a "boob" role similar to the one he created in "Once in a Lifetime." Lee Wiley will sing "Stormy Weather," a tune made to order for her voice and singing style.

Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois, Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago and consular representatives of several nations will be heard during the ceremonies attending the coronation of the Queen of the Century of Progress to be broadcast over WRC tonight at 10:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Irene Antoinette Geffen, the first woman to be admitted to the bar in South Africa, who is visiting in the United States to study American methods in the domestic relations courts, will be guest speaker on the Woman's Radio Review over WRC at 2:30 p. m.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd will be on the "Inside Story" program over WJSV with Ed Hill at 9:30 p. m.

WJSV is looking for a girl trio. Any girl trio which can write as well as sing modern and novel arrangements of popular songs is asked to telephone Ted Church, program director.

THE WMAL Breakfast Club has at least 1,000 membership now, according to the number of membership certificates requested and sent out by its honorary president, Arthur Godfrey.

P. S.: Thanks, Art, for sending mine.

N. B. C.'s two night-time hostesses are blossoming out as radio performers.

Miss Hester Walker Beall, presiding over a WRC program, is heard on the Manhattan Monday Revue each week at 9 p. m. as the hostess of the air.

Mary Joan Davis, WMAL hostess, is taking part in Violet Wachter's skits, "Doors," which are broadcast over WMAL at 8:45 o'clock Friday nights.

Col. Louis McHenry Howe, Secretary to President Roosevelt, will start a series of weekly broadcasts Sunday evening, June 4.

Tom Howard—So your new boy friend is a Scotchman. How does he treat you?

Jeannie Lang—Very seldom.

"Vehicular Traffic Control in Washington," by Edwin S. Hege (WMAL, 8:35 p. m.) should be of interest to a feminine friend of ours who was almost pinched for driving past a street car on the wrong side.

"VOLUNTEER Summer Sewing" will be the topic of Mrs. Joseph Solomon, of the Jewish Unit of the Red Cross (WRC, 6:15 p. m.).

Also some of us might profit by listening to L. E. Warren, Agricultural Department, talk on "Poison Ivy." (WJSV, 1:45 p. m.).

The two-piano team of Guy Maier and Lee Pattison will be heard tonight over WMAL at 9:15 o'clock. Although the musicians have been associated for more than twelve years, during which time they have been recognized as the foremost two-piano artists of their day, this will mark their first appearance as a team before a microphone.

The "Stamp Adventurers' Club" will be heard at 6 o'clock tonight.

A New Yorker At Large

By MARK BARON.

NEW YORK.—Little attention was shown tall, thin Aldous Huxley when he quietly passed through New York, but all British authors aren't like the explosive G. B. S.

Huxley is a contemplative thinker; doesn't go in much for showmanship. He surprised pale skin Manhatters in one particular, and that was when he showed up with a bronze tan implying that he has spent much time outdoors. One of the favorite legends of this "Point Counterpoint" author is that he was an inveterate sundodger.

His suntan came from weeks of overland journeys on donkeys through the jungles of Guatamala and Mexico.

Huxley, whose thoughts run into the future and who would build his own brave new world, doesn't believe our own modern civilization superior to some of the primitive life he saw in Central American wilds. He thinks it would be well if the best features of the two could be reconciled, that our own industrial pattern and the handicraft civilization of the primitives could learn much from each other.

Lily Off for Europe.

With her dark hair newly bobbed and carrying her pet jaguar, Lily Pons sailed the other midnight. Although a Frenchwoman, this coloratura soprano is on her way to sing for the first time in Paris.

While abroad she will sandwich in performances of "Lucia" and "Rigoletto" in Rome as a guest of the Italian government.

Not since Geraldine Farrar has the romantic interest of New York been won so overwhelmingly as it has been by this lovely, chic singer. Crowds would follow her as she took her daily stroll along the Mall in Central Park, but she never resorted to that favorite trick of movie stars, dark glasses, to disguise herself. If her public wanted to see her, that was quite all right with Mlle. Pons.

Although she can speak English, she rarely does. Her thoughts and words come tumbling out so fast that she unconsciously reverts to French, so her interviews are always conducted through an interpreter.

Not a Chevalier Fan.

She doesn't go in much for outdoor sports, but she likes the movies. Although not a fan of her fellow countryman, Chevalier, she is cra-razy about Wallace Beery. Before singing she works jig saw puzzles to soothe her nerves.

Next season the Metropolitan Opera has extensive plans for her. She will sing the leading role in an opera that hasn't been done in 20 years. It is being revived because she is practically the only major opera star who has a voice that fits the part.

"GEMINI."

IF May 26 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:45 a. m. to 9:15 a. m., from 3:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. and from 6:15 p. m. to 7:50 p. m. The danger periods are from 11:40 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 4:20 p. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Speakers, actors and concert artists should find attentive and receptive audiences on this date. A day well suited to artistic and advertising displays; new articles on the market may be successfully demonstrated. You may find discord in the home among the younger ones.

If May 26 is your birthday, there would appear to be a touch of laziness and selfishness in your general make-up. These qualities are apparent only on occasions; for the most part you are a person gifted with an abundance of fine qualities, a person of culture and innate good breeding. Courteous, always calm and simple in your tastes, you are a person worth knowing.

If May 26 is the date of your birth, you are seldom, if ever, found without a plan of action in business, you are the "man of the minute." You are not afraid to tackle a big job. You never think of defeat, and probably this is why you seldom fail.

Successful people born on May 26: Henry K. Thatcher, rear admiral. John A. Wyeth, surgeon. Sara Jewett, actress.

Paintings by Mrs. Hall On Exhibit at Osborne's

An exhibition of paintings by Mrs. Ray Ovid Hall, noted painter, will begin today at Osborne's Art Shop, 1834 Connecticut avenue northwest, and will be on view for two weeks.

The bulk of Mrs. Hall's paintings have a Near East locale, with particular attention to Turkish mosques and miniature landscapes.

Ice Cream Secretary Dies.

Chicago, May 26 (A.P.).—Nathan Lowenstein, 54, for seven years secretary of the International Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, died suddenly in front of his home today of heart disease.

Stocks Defeated in Battle To Hold Higher Price Level

Realizing Causes Losses of Half Point; Sales, 4,018,660 Shares.

New York, May 25 (A.P.).—Having broken through previous resistance levels, the stock market was unable to hold a second wind today and fluctuated erratically. The closing average of prices was fractionally lower in a turnover of 4,018,660 shares.

Despite the theoretically bullish implications that traders saw in yesterday's push by the rails, the market encountered sporadic realizing. Professionals working for the advance switched fitfully from group to group, concentrating on alcohol and related issues, some of which were buoyant. Carrier equities led one rally, but on the whole old-line industrial favorites dragged. The close was irregular.

The fast-moving "wet" shares provided plenty of fireworks. National Distillers was up more than 7 points net, while several other favorites in the same group gained 2 to more than 5. Elsewhere, changes were mixed. U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can, Consolidated Gas, Montgomery Ward, Union Pacific, Case and Western Union yielded about a point. Santa Fe, Illinois Central and Louisville & Nashville were up as much, while Standard Brands, in the limelight at Washington, gained 1¼ net. Allied Chemical, which has not yet composed its quabble with the stock exchange, broke 5, and closed near the low. National Lead was helped by a regular quarterly dividend of $1.25, rising more than 1. U. S. Steel preferred slipped 1½.

The $55,000,000 decrease in brokers loans for the week ended Wednesday was somewhat surprising in that stock averages had made new highs during the period. There had previously been five weekly increases in the loan total. One explanation suggested for the decline was that considerable "distribution" of stocks had been done by professional groups which had paid off their borrowings.

The Markets

What the Stock Market Did

	Thur.	Wed.
Advances	316	506
Declines	368	147
Unchanged	167	150
Total issues	851	803

Stocks.

Realizing drives forced stocks to yield ground. An average loss of ½ point resulted. Sales declined to 4,018,660 shares.

Bonds.

Freight loadings' upturn gave the bond market new courage and prices advanced .4 point. The rise defied profit taking. Sales totaled $15,070,000.

Curb.

Cross currents developed and an early rally was trimmed in late selling. The turnover dropped slightly to 487,000 shares.

Wheat.

Inflation went into eclipse and wheat tumbled again. A late rally failed to return losses. Corn and oats closed down. May wheat sold at 69¾ cents.

Cotton.

Reports of beneficial rains caused prices to sink 10 to 11 points. July sold down to 8.50. Liverpool reported Bombay buying.

Steel Prices Unchanged.

BONDS CLIMB AGAIN IN SPITE OF SELLING

New York, May 25 (A.P.).—Encouraged by further optimistic freight car loading reports, railway loans led the bond market on another upward flourish today.

Despite considerable profit-taking irregularities in the more seasoned groups, the average for 60 domestic corporate issues advanced fourtenths of a point to 74.6, another new high mark for the year. Sales totaled $15,070,000, par value, or somewhat less than yesterday's aggregate.

The more active carrier gained 1 to around 3 points. Some industrial and utility specialties were enthusiastic. United States Government securities were unusually inactive with small losses in the majority. Foreign obligations were irregular.

American Steel Institute Praises Roosevelt Policy

New York, May 25 (A.P.).—From the leaders of their industry 1,000 members of the American Steel Institute today received reports of improving conditions and pledges of cooperation for President Roosevelt's economic recovery program.

"I feel better about our situation today than I have for many months," said Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the institute and chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

"The improvement which has come about in the past few weeks has given us all new hope."

Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Corporation, reported:

"The improvement in steel business is being maintained. This is occurring without any improvement in the railroad and construction lines."

Discussions of the Roosevelt administration's industrial recovery bill were followed by a call for a meeting tomorrow to prepare plans under which the steel industry could be adjusted to the measure if enacted.

CURB ADVANCE SAGS UNDER LATE SELLING

New York, May 25 (A.P.).—Crosscurrents developed in the curb market today.

Prices advanced broadly for a time in the afternoon, but late realizing gave the list a slightly jagged appearance at the close. Trading was moderately active, sales approximating 487,000 shares compared to 491,000 yesterday.

Erratic backing and filling movements were evident in the industrial list.

Utilities experienced several flurries, but their close was irregular. Mining shares were steady to firm, while oils closed irregularly. Humble advanced a point, but Gulf fell back as much.

U. S. TREASURY RECEIPTS.

(Associated Press.)

Treasury receipts for May 23 were $4,023,607.60; expenditures $10,073,278.68; balance, $373,506,119.98. Customs duties for 23 days of May were $15,860,448.95.

National Steel Yield Up To 38 Per Cent Mark

New York, May 25 (A.P.).—The national average of steel production has risen to 38 per cent of rated capacity from 35 per cent a week ago and is now the highest since June, 1931, Iron Age reported today.

"Renewed confidence in the persistence of recent improvement in the iron and steel market characterizes the attitude of both buyers and sellers," said the review.

WHEAT VALUES SINK; RALLY FALLS SHORT

Inflation Talk Disregarded in Slump; Corn and Oats Lower.

Chicago, May 25 (A.P.).—Inflation went into eclipse today so far as any immediate influence on the value of grain was concerned.

Prices of all grains ran downhill most of the day, and losses were overcome only in part by rallies at the finish.

Responsive to at least temporary waning of the effects of inflation talk, many recent buyers switched to the selling side, and gave more heed to bearish weather and crop reports.

Wheat Closes Unstable.

Wheat closed unstable, ⅝ to 1⅝ under yesterday's finish; corn, ⅛ to 1¼ down; oats, unchanged to 1 cent off, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents decline.

The fact that a meeting will be held in Washington tomorrow for the purpose of discussing methods to set machinery in motion to administer the new agricultural legislation was chiefly responsible for a late tendency which the wheat market showed to recover somewhat.

Enlarged rural offerings of corn to arrive both here and at Missouri River points did much to pull corn and oats prices down.

(Associated Press.)

London—Trading on the stock exchange was more quiet today owing partly to the holiday on the continent. Oilfield securities were neglected and industrials suffered on profit taking. Cable and wireless was weak due to poor dividend prospects, while transatlantic issues registered uncertainty. Kaffirs developed strength in the late trading and Argentine rails improved ½ to 2 points. The market closed quiet.

Paris and Berlin—Holiday, Ascension Day.

COTTON PRICES CUT ON WEATHER REPORT

Beneficial Rains Cut Values; July Sells at 8.50; Rally Fails.

New York, May 25 (A.P.).—Reports of further beneficial rains in the Southwest encouraged reactionary sentiment in cotton today.

Opening declines were recovered, but prices eased off again in the later trading. July contracts sold down to 8.51, rallied to 8.64 and closed at 8.50, compared with 8.61 at the close of the previous day. The general market closed steady at net declines of 10 to 11 points.

The opening was 4 to 7 points lower in response to the Texas rain reports, which brought out realizing and liquidation.

Active Months Down.

After some little irregularity, active months sold about 8 to 12 points net lower. At 8.76 for October and 8.90 for December a better demand made its appearance which was said to include some price fixing for mill account and during the afternoon a renewal of local buying and covering sent the market up to 8.89 for October and 9.04 for December or about 2 to 3 points net higher.

This bulge met a renewal of realizing or liquidation and prices made new lows for the day in the late trading with October selling off to 8.71 and closing at 8.76.

Realizing and liquidation were supplements by some Southern hedging or possibly some further selling against Red Cross cotton, and while there were spurts of activity, the buying was less aggressive than recently.

A quieter business was reported in cotton cloths, but prices were said to be holding steadily. Liverpool cables attributed the early steadiness there to Bombay buying which was supplied by hedging and local selling on the advance. Exports today, 9,437 making 7,061,103 so far this season. Port receipts, 5,880. U. S. port stocks, 4,009,055.

Cottonseed Oil.

Bleachable cottonseed oil was less active and prices easier today under scattered local selling influenced by the easier grains, lard and cotton. Final prices were 9 to 17 points lower with sales of only 5 contracts. Bleachable spot and May closed, 5.25; July, 5.11; September, 5.34; December, 5.38.

Wall St. Briefs

New York, May 25 (A.P.).—The price of lead at St. Louis has been advanced to 3.60 cents a pound from 3.525 cents.

More than 90 per cent of the $2,122,000 issue of 5 per cent Galveston, Houston & Henderson Railroad bonds, which matured April 1, has been deposited under a plan calling for payment of 50 per cent in cash and remainder in new 5½ per cent refunding five-year bonds. It is expected the plan will soon be declared operative. The road is controlled by Missouri-Kansas-Texas and International Great Northern Railways.

Some copper consumers, it is reported, have bid 7⅛ cents a pound for metal but producers are holding out for 7¼ cents in the domestic market. The price recently has been 7 cents.

Oil trade quarters hear that a stronger tone rules in the midcontinent gasoline market. On the lower brackets of U. S. motor gasoline, it is said, the price is up to 2½ cents a gallon, against as low as 1⅝ to 1¾ cents a week ago.

The New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Co. reports April net operating income of $275,899 compared with $94,394 in the same month last year. The St. Louis Southwestern system had a deficit after charges in April of $185,722 against a deficit of $185,197 in the 1932 period.

A refunding plan for the Laclede Gas Light Co. 5½ per cent gold notes maturing August 1, 1935 was announced today by E. P. Gosling, president of the company. It contemplates the exchange of the notes, par for par, for the company's first mortgage 5½ per cent collateral and refunding gold bonds, series "E," maturing May 1, 1963.

This week's dividend calendar includes meetings by boards of Texas Corporation on Tuesday, North American Co. on Wednesday and General Electric Co., on Friday.

Daily average crude oil production in California during April was 475,631 barrels, compared with 432,741 barrels in March, says the American Petroleum Institute. Stocks of all products held by principal marketing companies in Pacific Coast Territory decreased 34,230 barrels to a total of 185,578,108 barrels on April 30.

DANCERS OF HUNTER SCHOOL ACCLAIMED

Uniform Excellence Is Displayed by Young Performers at Belasco.

The bright lights of the Belasco Theater shone forth again as the pupils of Virginia C. Hunter's dancing classes presented last evening the "Miniature Follies of 1933" before an audience of more than 900. Entirely produced and staged under Miss Hunter's direction, with the orchestra conducted by Sam Rosey and George Goldberg at the piano, this revuelet was one of the most brilliantly played of the season's junior performances.

In the two parts, comprising 77 numbers, a great variety of dances and songs were given as solos and group selections, with everything that could be desired from a professional follies except comedy skits and blackouts. Not that comedy was absent, for with a troup of this sort it is always present, perhaps unintentionally so, but there is always enough to more than compensate for any lack of direct billing.

Because of the large number of presentations and the size of the cast, as well as the uniform excellence of the youthful performers, no number can be singled out as being more meritorious than its fellows. Toward the end of the first part, Miss Hunter, as her own "guest artist," tapped out the delightful measures of the "Poet and Peasant" overture.

Among those taking part in the evening's entertainment were:

Eleanor Thomas, Bobbie Shank, Thelma Carey, Leo Cavanaugh, Myra Tolmach, Betty Rosendorf, Frances Rector, Fern Almquist, Arnold Rosey, Betty Gamble, Judith Conklin, Charlotte Ristic, Johnny Gibson, Billy Clapp.

'Personality Expansion' Lecture Topic Tonight

An illustrative lecture on "Personality Expansion Through Memory Culture" will be delivered by Mark B. Wooding at the dinner of the staff and personnel of Frank R. Jelleff, Inc., tonight in the auditorium of the National Press Club. The lecture will be given under the sponsorship of Joseph D. ("Radio Joe") Kaufman.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

IT is beginning to appear that Jack L. Warner, vice president in charge of production for Warner Brothers and First National, in threatening that his companies will make 100 pictures this year, if need be, was merely the first to voice a determination that is finding expression throughout the industry—if not in words, in action.

Cecil B. De Mille.

For instance, for the first time in nearly seven years, Cecil B. De Mille, whose "Sign of the Cross" is still a vivid memory, will produce more than one picture a year, it was revealed yesterday in an announcement from the Paramount studios that the famous director has signed a contract for three productions to go on the company's 1933-34 schedule of releases.

The first, which went into work this week, is "This Day and Age," the story—or perhaps only a story—of youth's revolt against modern conditions.

A semiscientific theme, based on the hypothetical probability of this earth colliding with another planet, will be the background of the second production, tentatively titled "The End of the World." It is based on a novel, "When Worlds Collide," by Edwin Balmer and Philip Wylie.

The third production will be based on the E. Arnot Robertson novel, "Four Frightened People," published last spring.

De Mille now is selecting a large cast of players for "This Day and Age," many of whom will be of high school age.

Charles Bickford, who startled Hollywood when he strongly disagreed with De Mille during the filming of "Dynamite," will play the villain.

The search for a young Diana-like Bernhardt to take the feminine lead ended in the selection of Nancy Colman, young stage actress who recently was imported to Hollywood under contract to Paramount. It will mark her screen debut.

The cast also includes Richard Cromwell, Eddie Nugent, Ben Alexander, Harry Green, Bradley Page, Lester Balkow, John Stuart, Paul Adams, Oscar Rudolph and George Barbier.

The making of three De Mille features in one year will require the services of a tremendous number of "yes-men"—a calumny, by the way, that was vigorously denied by Ian Keith when he was here with Peggy Wood and Ernest Truex in Bourdet's "Best Sellers."

According to Mr. Keith, who played Tigellinus in "Sign of the Cross" and so should know, De Mille is a martinet who knows what he wants and has no notion whatever, while making a picture, of not getting it. He does not demand servility, he demands service. And gets it!

One of Washington's favorite voices will be heard in a group of college songs at Loew's Fox this new week, when Marty Rubin, long a familiar figure about the Club Michel, will supply vocal interpolations for the special overture Phil Lampkin has arranged for the celebration of "Collegiate Humor Week."

This will come as a supreme thrill to the gay correspondent who writes in every week in extolation of the many superiorities of the Rubin personality and piquancy, or something.

Pursuant to this "Collegiate Humor" business, the ensuing week has been chopped up into a mess of special nights, to wit: Tonight, Catholic University night; Saturday, American University night; Monday, George Washington U. and Bliss Electrical School night; Tuesday, Georgetown U. and Gonzaga College; Wednesday, Tech, Central and National University; Thursday, Eastern, Western and Roosevelt High School night.

What, no Pontiac Reform School?

A little bit of Glen Echo Park will be brought into Washington, and to a large number of other cities, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday night from now on—although it is Mr Heinl who should be telling you about it, if he hasn't already. From 10:30 to 11, on the evenings mentioned, Dave MacWilliams and his 15-piece orchestra will broadcast direct from the new Spanish Garden ballroom of the park over Station WRC. This is the first time Glen Echo has been on the air.

Unusual interest is being manifested in the National Theater Players' revival of "Sis Hopkins," to be presented next week for the first time in the Capital since Rose Melville's farewell tour in the title part, away back yonder in 1911.

It has been the annual custom of the Players to bring back, some time during each of their seasons, an old-time hit, dear to the hearts of all veteran playgoers, and so completely part and parcel of the enduring literature of the stage as to be known by reputation, if not actual performance, to a generation too young to have seen it in its heyday. "Sis Hopkins" is this year's sop to the sentimental memories of an older generation and the tempting bait to the younger to find out first-hand what rural comedy was like in the theater of their daddies.

The title role, inseparably linked with the name of Rose Melville, who appeared continuously in the part for a period of a dozen years, will be played at the National, beginning Monday night, by Leona Powers, who more than once before has scored a personal triumph in the Melville character.

If "Sis Hopkins" is the hit it is expected to be, it is not impossible that the National Players will present another old favorite, "Way Down East," before the end of their current season.

Speaking of old-timers, according to persistent but unverified Hollywood reports, Charles Ray, the old-time film star, who disappeared from the screen some years ago after having been one of filmland's most popular personalities and having incurred irreparable losses in his ill-starred "Miles Standish" venture, may soon be featured in a series of films sponsored by unidentified producers.

Ray recently completed a featured comedy role opposite Barbara Sheldon in a Masquers' Comedy, "Stolen by Gypsies, or Beer and Bicycles," for RKO-Radio. His work in that bit of buffoonery is said to have resulted in the offer of the rehabilitation of his career.

He was a good boy when he had "It."

Edwin A. Sherwood, former Washington film man, and before that juvenile tenor with Dolly Connelly and Percy Wenrich in vaudeville, tomorrow is opening a new beach resort, "Sherry's-on-the-Severn," at the north end of the Severn River bridge, overlooking the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

Mr. Sherwood—Eddie to you, or maybe even Sherry—since 1927 has operated "Sherry's" in the Stanley Theater Building in Baltimore and now is going suntan in the grand manner.

You must come over and nibble a crab one day!

TEACHERS FACE PAY CUTS IN ALEXANDRIA

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The Alexandria School Board has determined upon a substantial reduction in salaries to be paid teachers in the public schools next year. The percentage of reduction has not been announced, but it is understood that new contracts will be sent out to the teachers in a few days, at the reduced salary. This applies also to principals and janitors.

The School Board has not heretofore adopted a definite scale of salaries for teachers, but the scale as adopted provides for salaries for high school teachers of $1,000 to $1,400; graded schools, $800 to $1,200; colored schools, $550 to $800. The pay of principals and janitors has not yet been determined.

There are 140 teachers in the school system who will be affected by the reduction. In the event new teachers are chosen it is understood the entrance salary will be lower than that paid the incumbents.

The board was compelled to make this reduction inasmuch as its annual budget was reduced by the city council.

Alexandria Legion Will Honor Dead

The Rev. Hugh J. McFadden, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, will be the principal speaker at the Memorial Day service of Alexandria Post No. 34, American Legion.

The services will be held at the National Cemetery in Alexandria, beginning at 5 p. m. Members of the legion post will assemble at Gadsby's Tavern at 4:15 and proceed to the cemetery in automobiles, the procession being led by the Alexandria light infantry and the drum and bugle corps of the legion post.

Services will open with invocation by the Rev. Norris A. Lineweaver, post chaplain, followed by the legion ritual, and the address by Father McFadden. A volley will be fired by the light infantry and the services will be concluded with the sounding of taps.

Senator Barkley Loses Stickpin Worth $15

Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, last night reported to police the loss of a stickpin near his home at 3102 Cleveland avenue northwest yesterday afternoon. He said it was a horseshoe-shaped pin set with pearls. He valued it at about $15.

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

THE Nats are up in arms, whatever that means, about League President William Harridge's letter to Clark Griffith criticising the behavior on the ball field of the Nats in general and Heinie Manush in particular.

Mr. Harridge pointed out that reports from his umpires showed the Nats to be the aggressors in the wordy exchanges with the Detroit Tigers and mentioned specifically Manush's row with Fred Marberry, which might have led to another riot.

And the Nats are sore. They've long held Bucky Harris' pitchers in distrust when the subject of the bean ball comes up. They want to know if they're supposed to stand up there and take one on the head without an argument. The umpires are supposed to warn a pitcher if he thinks a bean ball is deliberate, but that makes it a matter of judgment and a batter never has held an umpire's judgment in very high esteem.

Can Not Be Blamed For Anger.

Manush is out there in uniform every day for the sake of Mrs. Manush and the three little Manushes and none could blame him when he came up fighting mad after ducking Marberry's pitch in the last inning of the final game.

The Nats have been wary of the Detroit pitchers since the start of the season. Carl Fischer sent Fred Schulte to the ground three times in the series at Detroit, and Whitlow Wyatt's bean ball sent Buddy Myer to the hospital for four days.

And they also say they aren't the only ones who have noticed the Tigers' habit of dusting the batter off. They say Manager Lew Fonseca, of the White Sox, submitted an official protest to Harridge after Marberry heaved one at Al Simmons' head in the West.

RUNS, HITS AND ERRORS.

Crowder and Boken Are Heroes

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

THE joyous tune of the base hit authored by Washington bats was heard again at Griffith Stadium yesterday as the Nats drummed a steady salvo against the offerings of St. Louis pitchers and won themselves a 7-to-2 ball game.

The base-hit famine of the Nats that threatened earlier in the week to starve them into the second division within a few days was brought to an end in convincing fashion as the Washington Club slugged out 14 rousing safeties and came from behind to give Alvin Crowder a lead which Crowder nursed so tenderly that the Browns solved him for only two blows after the second inning.

Coincidentally, the Nats bounced back into second place, a half game ahead of the idle White Sox and two games to the rear of the equally idle Yankees.

Boken Shines At Bat.

In junking their famous old jinx, the Browns, the Nats received valuable assistance from Blasting Bob Boken, who appeared in the lineup at third base, socked a single, delivered a double and tapped a triple in the course of the day's events to figure in four of the Nats' seven runs.

Boken demonstrated for the first time for local consumption a sample of his long-distance hitting ability. His Washington public had been forced to content itself with the newspaper reports of his rangy clouting in the West, where he was hitting all the fences and winning ball games regularly for the Nats.

Of the home lot, the skinny kid, who makes you wonder where the power comes from, had never hit for an extra base in his few appearances. But his triple yesterday was very enlightening. It was a towering fly that crashed into the fence almost in dead center, only a foot shy of a home run, a truly colossal clout, served to dignify reports of his sensational slugging on the late Western trip.

Crowder Settles Down.

Alvin Crowder had a no-hit game in his possession for one inning, when he set the Browns down in order, but in the second, when the Browns scored two runs, it looked like a no-out game for the Nats' veteran as the lower end of the St. Louis batting or-

GROVE STAR; TIGERS 4-3 VICTIMS

PHILADELPHIA, May 25 (A.P.).—The long-distance clouting of a couple of Philadelphia rookies and the pitching of "Iron Man" Mose Grove combined to give the Athletics a 4-to-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers in a 12-inning duel today.

Grove, appearing as a relief flinger in his fifth consecutive game, hurled the last four innings and chalked up his third victory within a week and his sixth of the season. He gave only two hits and pitched his way out of

6,000 Watch Dusek Throw Honest Abe in 25 Minutes

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

ANNOUNCER JIMMY LAKE, the "Carnation Kid" himself, must have seen the preview of last night's rassle-show feature at the stadium, which saw Ernie Dusek and Abe Coleman meeting for the eighth time this season. Just preceding the bout, while taking a short shift on the radio, Jimmy predicted that Ernie would win. And sure enough, he did, tossing Coleman in 25 minutes, much to the disgust of the 6,000 crowd, which was cheering for Honest Abe.

It was a rough and tumble bout while it lasted. This pair had battled to no less than seven previous draws and the score was about even until just before the finish. Dusek had the edge in tossing his foe out of ring, 5 to 2, and had done more kneeing and more slugging, but Coleman, too, had doled out his share of punishment.

Just before the finish, it started sprinkling and Ernie is one who does not like to wrestle in the rain. So he clamped on a series of flying mares which wore Coleman down to near helplessness, then grabbed him by the feet, whirled him around a dozen times and dropped him with a sickening thud. Flopping on his fallen foe, it was no trouble at all for Ernie to hold him while Referee Bennie Bortnick tolled off the three-count.

This bout and a special one of 30 minutes between Everett Marshall and Jim McMillan saved the show. Marshall has a most effective way of

BRAVES HELD TO 2 HITS BY MALONE

CHICAGO, May 25 (A.P.).—Big Pat Malone stopped the Boston Braves with two widely separated singles today, while the Cubs combined three of their seven hits with three errors to win the opening game of the series, 3 to 0.

The husky right-hander retired the first 17 men to face him in order before Tom Zachary, the veteran southpaw, who was his starting opponent on the mound, laced out a single. From that time until there were two out in the ninth, Malone

Cattaruzzo, Zappa Dealt Big Blow in Interzone Play.

By DAVE HERMAN.

ELLSWORTH VINES, the internationally famous youth from Pasadena, Calif., and Wilmer Allison, the Austin (Tex.) hurricane of the tennis courts, dealt Argentine's chances in the interzone Davis Cup matches a staggering blow yesterday at Chevy Chase by winning both singles matches from the South American champions without the loss of a set.

The lanky Vines, American and Wimbledon titleholder, playing with machine-like precision, and flashing some of the fire and dash that hoisted him to the pinnacle in tennisdom, carried the Yankees' colors to the front with a rather easy victory over Adriano Zappa, the captain of the invaders, in the opening match of the day.

1,500 Spectators Look On.

While a crowd of 1,500, including Ambassador Felipe Espil, of Argentina, and French Ambassador Andre de Laboulaye, and numerous other distinguished visitors and guests, looked on with interest, Vines conquered Zappa by 6—2, 6—3, 6—4, in a match that saw the ranking No. 2 Argentinian hopelessly outclassed.

Then Capt. Allison brushed aside Americo Hector Cattaruzzo, a swift-footed little player, by 6—2, 6—4.

BAND WAGON WINS MAYOR JACKSON SPRINT TO PAY $6

7,000 Watch West Main Run 2d

Front Takes First by Narrow Margin to Oust Mad Eagle.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

MANY customers at Bowie hopped on the Band Wagon yesterday, and the 3-year-old son of Strolling Player rolled home to a 2½-length victory and a $6 mutuel. West Main 300-1 the other day, was second and Cutie Face third. It all came about in the Mayor Jackson, a sprint of the usual 6 furlongs in which six accepted the issue. The good mayor, who works in Baltimore, witnessed the race from the judges' stand and he did not have to help decide the winner.

Band Wagon gave the race something of a Washington atmosphere, being owned by Admiral Cary T. Grayson. R. Leishman had the mount and turned in a brilliant effort.

Cutie Face broke on top but Kalapo and Band Wagon soon forged ahead and West Main came rushing up. At the far turn Cutie Face dropped to fourth as the other three went around as a team. Band Wagon was now leading and the usual game of catch me if you can was on. West Main made a game effort, but began tiring at the sixteenth pole while Cutie Face finished fast.

7,000 Spectators Present.

Some 7,000 witnessed the program run over a track that was heavy for the earlier races but which dried fast. The feature was clocked in the fair time of 1:12 3-5.

Mrs. John Hay Whitney's The Porter colt, Front, was up as his name implies to win the opener by the narrowest of margins. Front was piloted by the fashionable Munden and finished with a rush that nipped Mad Eagle, of the Black Herkness entry, at the finish. Backers of the entry believed their representative had won and there was loud but useless booing as the numbers were displayed. Third money went to Fabulous. It was a two-horse race betfeen the top pair. Mad Eagle opened up a good lead furning for the stretch, but was caught.

Munden Wins With Sublevado.

Munden made it two in a row in the second race when he gave Sublevado, owned by the former jockey, Albert Johnson, a million-dollar ride to lead home Uluniu and Stylish Mack, a field horse. Paddock and Wise Money battled for the pace-setting honors, with Munden laying a comfortable third. Turning for the stretch, he started after the tiring leaders, caught them at the sixteenth pole and went on to win easily. Both Uluniu and Stylish Mack closed fast. The favorite took the third. It was Instigator, from the P. H. Faulconer barn, which moved up in the stretch to take a two-length decision from Judge Primrose and The Gen. Rod Rack led Judge Primrose for three furlongs before folding. Then The Gen went to the front, but Instigator's turn came in the stretch. Steffen found oodles of speed and walked through.

Another favorite scored in the fourth race when Accolade came from behind to take the measure of a field of 3-year-old sprinters. St. Nick, an early leader, lasted into second money ahead of Mecat. J. Smith had the mount on the winner, which paid a $5 mutuel.

FRONT, closest attendance of MAD EAGLE, responded steadily to punishment when straightened into the home stretch and closing gamely when coming through on the inside was up in the final strides. MAD EAGLE opened up a winning lead early, but swerved out all during the stretch run only for which he may have been the winner. FABULOUS raced well placed and held on strongly. XERXESIF was going gamely at the end. OUR DAVID had no excuses. BOURGE CIRCLE tired. HOOLIGAN broke poorly and was not persevered with when racing too far out of contention.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:02. Off at 3:04. Winner, G. Renna's blk. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUBLEVADO, $8.40, $3.20, $2.80; ULUNIU, $4.40, $3.40; STYLISH MACK (field), $6.00.

SUBLEVADO, going along smoothly in the early racing, was allowed to reach the leaders gradually, was placed to punishment during the final furlong and held on long enough to withstand ULUNIU. Latter, going forcefully but forced to race on the outside in the last half mile, closed stoutly nearing the finish. STYLISH MACK, slower than usual in the early stages, finished with good courage after a half mile. WISE MONEY was used up chasing PADDOCK. The latter had good speed for five furlongs, then stopped. The others were outrun.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:31. Off at 3:38. Winner, P. H. Faulconer's ch. g. *Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—INSTIGATOR, $6.40, $4.00, $3.00; JUDGE PRIMROSE, $10.80, $4.80; THE GEN, $3.80.

INSTIGATOR, steadied back of the early leaders, went up on the outside for racing room, finished resolutely and displacing the pacemakers inside the closing furlong, drew out smartly at the finish. JUDGE PRIMROSE raced ROD RACK into submission, dropped back, but came again to outstay THE GEN. Latter took command with a rush when nearing the home stretch, but finished in the softer footing during the stretch run and tired suddenly. HACKY H. was making up ground at the end. CHLO BOY was outrun after breaking sluggishly. ROD RACK stopped after reaching the turn.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gate. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:08. Off at 4:09½. Winner, D. Christman's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ACCOLADE, $5.00, $2.60, $2.20; ST. NICK, $3.40, $2.60; MECAT, $2.80.

ACCOLADE went to ST. NICK with a rush when approaching the home stretch, took command after a brief brush, and came away readily when reaching the finish. ST. NICK, having good speed, was steadied until challenged, but was no match for the winner when called on. MECAT raced close up, but could not improve his position, and then barely lasted to stall off OCTARORO. Latter dwelt slightly when the barrier came and settled in last place until worked his way up on the outside to finish stoutly. POSTPONEMENT had no excuses. LAKNITE had early speed.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BAND WAGON, $6.00, $4.20, $3.00; WEST MAIN, $8.80, $3.80; CUTIE FACE, $2.60.

BAND WAGON, stoutly from the beginning, moved up sharply to displace KAKAPO, drew clear when straightened into the home stretch and had speed in reserve at the end. WEST MAIN was rushed up stoutly to reach the pacemakers, made repeated efforts early, but tired steadily in the closing stages. CUTIE FACE, timidly handled, was eased out of tight quarters when leaving the back stretch, but came again to outstay KAKAPO. Latter had the usual early speed, but tired out after a half mile. SNOBFUL broke slow and was never a factor. PRINCE WICK showed early foot.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:16. Off at 5:18. Winner, Mrs. M. Bezal's b. h. (5), by Dunlin—Lady Fern. Trained by D. R. McDaniel. Value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:25, 0:50 1-5, 1:15, 1:42 1-5, 1:49.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—DUNFERN, $4.60, $3.00, $2.80; UNENCUMBERED, $7.60, $5.60; FLAG VIEW, $7.40.

DUNFERN, away rapidly, followed in close pursuit of PERVID, wore the latter down when ready, drew into a safe lead, but began tiring and had to be strongly urged to stall off UNENCUMBERED. Latter, eased back when the pace slackened, was pushed up on the inside at the stretch turn and finished strongest of all. FLAG VIEW, on the outside the entire journey, closed gamely. FLAMINGO MAMIE was racing strong at the end. PERVID went well for seven furlongs. LONE HAND stopped. STONE MARTIN had a rough trip.

SEVENTH RACE—One and three-sixteenths miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:42. Off at 5:43½. Winner, C. T. Ogle's b. g. (6), by Sweep On—October Seven. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:50 3-5, 1:16 3-5, 1:42 2-5, 1:55 1-5, 2:02 4-5.

HIGH SOCKS	110	2	2	7nk	7nk	7½	8	8	Belshak	43.20

Two-dollar mutuels paid—COME ON, $11.80, $6.20, $4.20; MAJOR GENERAL, $5.80, $4.20; CHERITON, $4.80.

COME ON, under stiff restraint early while suffering slight interference, went to the outside in the last half mile, and finishing in bold fashion was up in the final strides. MAJOR GENERAL sprinted into a clear lead, and raced along under steadying restraint, was shaken up when threatened and held on stoutly. CHERITON went forward placed, and was easily best of the others. TARNISH could not better her position in the late stages. BUB McFARLAND was unable to stay after racing close up. MAINSHEET showed a dull effort.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: BOWIE RACE TRACK.

Understand that Johnny Gilbert may return from his home in Pittsburg, Kans., to ride the Foxcatcher Farm's White Clover II in the $5,000 Decoration Day Handicap here. Today is ladies day at the track and the fair ones will be admitted by paying the 15 cents State tax. Port Harlem has dropped a colt by Sir Greysteel to be named Port o' Steel. He is an addition to the Labrot Stable. Adolphe Pons has decided not to start Swivel here. The star filly is rounding into good form at Pimlico and will be shipped to Chicago next week.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—KANAL was backed down from 50 to 5 to 1 this other day and turned in a brilliant effort to win. Off that gets another chance today. PEEDEEQUE is a game juvenile and will be closing fast. HIGH AND MIGHTY showed a flash of the speed in that last race. May be the dangerous one.

SECOND RACE—GLEN BURNIE ran a good race the last out. Appears to have the edge on these. SISTER MADGE has trials to recommend her. ROCK SUN for the show end.

THIRD RACE—ALLANAH beat as good as these at Pimlico. Comes to this after some smooth works and may pack the winning punch. SUE JONES is far down the list but will be a factor if she gets in action. HELP ME to show.

FOURTH RACE—This looks like a good spot for IMA QUEEN, as consistent as they come. Meets her own kind and should romp home. WAR BANNER may be second ahead of ARAB.

FIFTH RACE—ZEMBLA belongs on the top of this group. Fit and ready for a good effort. BROWN SINNER raced well at Pimlico and has had an outing here. CENTER LANE for the show.

SIXTH RACE—This may be the day for FETISH. Was bet in that first race here. No standout but worth an across-the-board play. POLITEN and BRIGHT DAY for what's left.

SEVENTH RACE—MING SUN appears best of those in the final. Had a little too much to handle the last time but before that ran away from a field of cheap ones. CHATTY is a possibility but I'd prefer to see a race under his belt. RUANE for the show.

ROOSEVELT WINS THRILLER, 2 TO 1, IN TWELFTH

Central Loss Gives Tech Crown

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON.

TECH won the interhigh school baseball championship yesterday without even putting on a uniform as Roosevelt shoved over a run in the tenth inning of its game with Central to score a 2-1 victory over the Blue and White. The victory was Roosevelt's first of the series.

Until yesterday Central had a mathematical chance of tying Tech for the honors, but Don Raub kicked away the opportunity with his No. 14's in the tenth frame when he booted Davie Scher's roller, permitting Jimmy Garner to score from third with the winning run.

Claude Cowan, Central hurler, weakened visibly in the final inning after shading Frank Baroni over nine torrid innings in one of the prettiest mound duels ever waged in a school series game. But it was the erratic support of his mates rather than ineffective pitching that lost for Cowan.

Cowan-Baroni Stage Mound Duel.

Both teams scored in the first inning and after that the pitchers assumed control of the game and hits became as scarce as paying customers. Cowan had a slight edge on Baroni, fanning six and walking two while the latter struck out two and walked eight. With runners on the pathways, however, Baroni was at his best.

The fat youngster had Jack Ray's charges breaking their backs reaching for the puzzling balls he tossed at them. Baroni's corkscrew curve and drop worked to a perfection. Cowan fed a fast-breaking curve along with a nice change of pace to the Roosevelt boys and it proved to be very unhealthy for their batting averages.

Jake Fradin's play behind the plate was a feature of the Rough Riders' work. In the first stanza he saved one run by trapping Lefty Chumbris off first by several yards. Shorty Chumbris was on second at the time, thanks to a poor throw by Curtin who muffed a chance for a twin-killing, and in the subsequent run-down Shorty was nipped trying to reach third and Lefty was held at first. Bryant's single brought Lefty home with Central's lone point.

Roosevelt's first run was the result of Joe Sherman's long double followed by Fradin's single.

Garner strolled to open the ninth for the eventual winners and was promptly sacrificed to second by Curtin. Cowan slipped and fell attempting to field Neely's slow roller and both runners were safe. Raub's feet got in front of Scher's drive and Garner scored.

J. Turnesa's 70 Tops "Met" 1st Round Play

Mamaroneck, N. Y., May 25 (A.P.).—Blazing his way over the Winged Foot course in subpar figures, Joe Turnesa today showed the way to some of the Nation's greatest golfers in the first round of the Metropolitan open golf championship.

The Elmsford (N. Y.) professional, whose chief claim to fame is winning runner-up honors to Bobby Jones in the 1926 national open, toured the difficult course in 70 strokes, two under perfect figures, to lead Olin Dutra, the defending champion and holder of the P. G. A. title from California, by 1 stroke.

Mrs. Booker to Play Miss Claytor in Final

Miss Louise Claytor will meet Mrs. Y. E. Booker tomorrow morning at Chevy Chase to determine the French High Commission Cup championship.

Miss Claytor reached the finals yesterday by beating Mrs. McCook-Knox, 2 up. Mrs. Knox earlier in the match held a 4-up lead. Mrs. Booker eliminated Mrs. H. L. Prichard, 3 and 2.

CYCLE STARS INVADE.

Larry Lawson, well known endurance cyclist, Cecil Walker and Harold Winter, will visit this city for a two weeks' exhibition of bicycle pedaling beginning June 5, it was announced last night. Walker is the English riding champion and regarded as the premier sprinter in the game. He recently defeated Reggie McNamara over a 15-lap route. Lawson holds the endurance record of 47 hours continuous riding. They will ride at the Auditorium.

GRIFFS PRACTICE TODAY.

All members of the Griffith-Consumers are requested to report on Fairlawn Field this afternoon at 5 o'clock for practice. Any unlimited team desiring a practice game should call Willie Glascoe at Lincoln 6709.

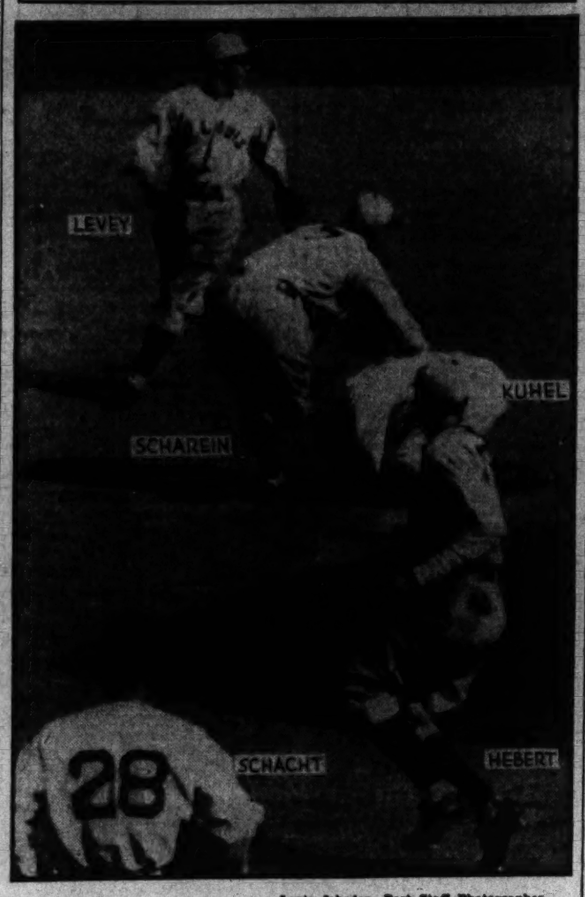
Joe Kuhel Trapped Between Bases



Louis Johrden, Post Staff Photographer.

His double in the fifth inning came to naught yesterday when Kuhel was caught between the bases as he tried to advance on Manush's bounce to Third Baseman Scharein. The latter is seen putting the ball on the hunching Kuhel after receiving a toss from Shortstop Levey, while Pitcher Wally Hebert and Coach Al Schacht stand by.

NATS BEAT BROWNS, 7-2; BOKEN STARS

der rapped out four safeties in staccato succession and had Crowder on the brink of an early shower.

But thereafter, the General was in complete command. Campbell singled with two out in the third, and he singled again with two out in the sixth, but no other westerner reached base until the ninth inning, when Crowder walked a pair.

The Browns had their two lonesome runs when Garms doubled, Melillo singled, Scharein singled and Hebert singled, and then the Nats proceeded to peck away at Wally Hebert for one run at a time during the next four innings to set themselves up in the lead.

The Nats capped their effort for the day with a three-run uprising in the seventh which started with a walk to Kuhel and was climaxed by singles by Goslin, Cronin and Boken, the latter blow scoring two runs.

6,000 SEE DUSEK WIN COLEMAN BOUT

checking the flying tackle, McMillan's most effective weapon—he simply clasps his hands in front of him and tosses would-be tacklers back on their haunches. And so, with the tackle out, McMillan had little or no chance of winning, especially from a cleverer wrestler, as Marshall proved himself to be. Jim was lucky to stick long enough to earn a draw.

Dick Raines proved to be easy pickings for Rudy Dusek in the semifinal. The big Texan, a clown in action and green and inexperienced, was a victim of Rudy's rocking chair split after nine minutes of action.

Andy Brown, an old-timer, was much too cagey for Nick Contos in the opening bout and won in 16 minutes on a crotch hold and body slam, while the less said about the Fred Grobmier-Henry Piers draw the better. After the first few minutes, these boys slowed down to slow motion.

Chollie Swan refereed the first three matches and introduced something which other arbiters would do well to adopt. Whenever a wrestler committed a foul or pulled off some rough stuff, he made him break his hold as punishment. And the fans, who like fair play even in wrestling, gave him a big hand.

VINES AND ALLISON BEAT ARGENTINIANS

6—3, in the most exciting match of the two.

Playing true to predictions, the American stars thus swept their country into the lead by two matches, with indications that another triumph will fall their way in the doubles competition scheduled this afternoon at 3 o'clock between the crack combination of George Lott, Chicago, and Johnny Van Ryn, Philadelphia, and the South American team of Zappa and Adelmar Echeverria, husky young University of Buenos Aires student.

In an exhibition match following the feature doubles today Vines will team with Gledhill against a combination yet to be named.

Tomorrow the Davis Cup matches will come to a grand climax, as Vines will oppose Cattaruzzo in one singles, while Allison will meet Capt. Zappa.

Vines rolled along leisurely in his duel with Zappa, hitting his shots with tremendous power and displaying deadly accuracy with his placements. His deep forcing shots from back court kept the little Argentinian on the run throughout the three sets, although Zappa won the opening game and held the lead several times in the second and third set.

After losing the first set, Zappa rallied gamely in the second. He lost the first game and won the second with his beautiful cross-court shots that went true to their destination. He took the third game, 40 love, before Vines evened the count in the next game. The Argentinian made a timely smash to win the fifth game. Vines then evened the set and won the remainder of the games with spectacular shots.

Vines slowed down a trifle in the final set, after capturing the first two games. Zappa began using tantalizing cut and cross shots that pulled him into a 4-2 lead. The seventh game went four times deuce. Zappa did not win a single game after that.

Cattaruzzo put up a much better showing than did his countryman. Although a bit nervous at the start, he picked up momentum as the match progressed, and had Allison continually worried with his terrific volleying and deceptive drop shots.

Allison captured the first two games, but Cattaruzzo came to life to win the third game that twice went to deuce. Allison got his first ace while winning the fourth. Cattaruzzo came from behind to take the seventh game, but Allison won the set, 6—2, after the eighth game went to deuce.

In the second set, Allison moved into a 4—2 lead by winning the sixth game, 40-love. Cattaruzzo delivered his answer in the next game also in the form of a love victory. Some of the Argentinian's shots were propelled with such power that even Allison remarked in the ninth game—which he lost—"Nice shot." Allison won the set in a thrilling tenth game that went to deuce.

ALL-STARS SEEK ACTION.

Wash B. Williams All-Stars are without a game for Sunday and would like to book a strong team. Call Manager Bill Morgan at Adams 5162. The team can use a good right-hand pitcher and outfielder.

PRATERS FORCED TO CANCEL.

Alexandria Praters are forced to cancel Sunday's game with Lanham because of a mix-up in their schedule. Rector is requested to call Alexandria 2770.

John Downey Beats Rippy For Crown

Wins, 3 and 2, in East Potomac Finals; Has 1st Nine 33.

PLAYING in top form, John Downey, well-known public links golfer, conquered Claude Rippy, young Carolinian, yesterday by 3 and 2 to capture the East Potomac spring championship.

Downey scored a sparkling 33 on the first nine (A course), and only a fighting comeback enabled Rippy, medalist in the tournament, to carry the match to the sixteenth green. The new champion's score for the outgoing nine was 3 below par and was featured by some of the finest golf ever flashed in tournament competition over the municipal layout.

Off to a spectacular start when he made two birdies in rapid succession, Downey was five up at the sixth. Then Rippey hit his stride and won the eighth and ninth holes to save himself from being completely routed for the first nine.

Rippy continued his fine shooting and won the tenth hole on C course with a well played birdie 4 to slice Downey's advantage to a 2 up. Downey won back a hole on the fourteenth after they halved the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth in 5, 5, 3 respectively. Rippy remained in the struggle by capturing the fifteenth. The climax came on the sixteenth, where Rippy took a 5 and Downey a 4.

School Meet Scheduled For Today.

Tech, Eastern Teams Favored; Central's Crown Shaky.

WITH the struggle for supremacy apparently narrowed down to two schools, Tech and Eastern, local high schools stage their annual track and field meet today at Wilson Memorial Stadium starting at 2:30 o'clock. Despite the scarcity of good material keen competition is expected with the duel between the above mentioned teams featuring the games.

Although rated the leading contenders by track fans, neither Hap Hardell, Tech mentor, nor Mike Kelley, Eastern coach, would admit that he thought the majority of points would be split between the two. Hap expects his boys to finish somewhere along in the middle of next year's meet and Mike's forecast was almost as gloomy as the maestro's.

Winner of the 1932 championship with a total of 51 points, Central entertains little hope of retaining its crown. Frank Koscis, stocky little shot putter, javelin tosser and field man extraordinary, looms as the only potential point-getter for the Blue. St. John, Babcock, Buscher, and Gibbons, all of whom scored for the team last season, are gone, and no capable performers have been found to replace them.

Mitchell, Mangan In Finals Sunday

Dooley Mitchell will battle the veteran, Tom Mangan, for the City of Washington tennis championship Sunday afternoon at the Rock Creek courts, with the former out to win his third consecutive title and permanent possession of the McLean Trophy.

Helen Jacobs Beaten In French Doubles

Auteuil, France, May 26 (U.P.).—Frank Shields, of New York, and Dr. Daniel Prenn, of Germany, gained the quarter-final round of the men's double's in the annual French tennis championships today when the South African duo of Victor Kirby and Norman Farquharson defaulted.

A mild surprise was scored when the Franco-American team of Helen Jacobs and Ida Adamoff were eliminated in the quarter-final round of the women's doubles by the French pair, Jacqueline Rosambert and Mme. Marie Henrotin, 3—6, 6—4, 6—0.

Central Wins Net Title By Crushing Roosevelt

Central won the interhigh school tennis championship yesterday, scoring a 7-0 victory over Roosevelt for its third consecutive victory. The win took some of the sting out of the Mount Pleasanters' loss to the Rough Riders on the diamond.

HOPE OF LUMP SUM RAISE HELD DIM BY SENATE CONFEREES

Prospects of Saving Two School Construction Projects Seen.

Senate conferees on the District appropriations bill virtually have abandoned hope for boosting the Federal "lump sum" contribution much or any above the $5,700,000 figure fixed by the House, it was learned last night.

Refusal of House conferees to budge, not only on the lump sum issue, but on the question of District repayment of $1,000,000 to the Federal Treasury for park purchases, make Senate recession on these two items almost a certainty, it was said.

In return for these two concessions at the District's expense, if it is found that they must be made, the Senate conferees hope to save at least two of the school construction projects provided for by Senate appropriation of unexpended balances, it was learned from a source close to the conferees.

These probably will include the new Woodrow Wilson School Building in the Reno section, and one colored school structure, it was stated.

In addition, the Senate conferees expect to save the Calvert Street Bridge construction project, eliminated by the House, but inserted in the Senate. It was made clear that the Senate conferees will fight hard to the last for the Senate increases.

Meanwhile, Chairman Elmer Thomas (Democrat), Oklahoma, chairman of the Senate District appropriations subcommittee, delayed calling another conference of House and Senate groups until major legislation is disposed of. He thinks it improbable they will meet before next week, although there may be a last minute change of plans.

The Senate increased the Federal lump sum figure from the $5,700,000 allowed by the House to $6,250,000. This compares with $7,775,000 appropriated currently, and $9,500,000 allowed last year.

Court Denies Rezoning On Connecticut Avenue

Justice Peyton Gordon, in the District Supreme Court, yesterday upheld the validity of covenants running with the land which purchasers of adjacent lots on the west side of Connecticut avenue, at Chevy Chase Circle, had sought to upset.

The finding of Justice Gordon is to the effect that lots in that vicinity that were bought with the restrictions that they should be used for purposes other than commercial were to be carried out. Two property owners had sought to have the covenants set aside because, they contended, the character of the property in the neighborhood had changed.

District 'Lord Mayor' Rejects British Offer

The District Commissioners yesterday diplomatically turned down an offer from Bedford, England, to sell some tools which John Bunyan, author of "Pilgrim's Progress," used some 250 years ago while employed as a tinkerer.

Edwin Maxwell, agent for the owner, placed a price of 7,000 pounds on the tools. He suggested that the "Lord Mayor of Washington" might be interested in them.

Jewish War Dead Will Be Honored

Representative Paul J. Kvale, Minnesota, will be the principal speaker at joint services Sunday in memory of Jewish war dead under the auspices of the Washington Post of Jewish War Veterans and Costello Post of the American Legion, beginning at 11 a. m. at the Washington Hebrew Congregation Cemetery.

The occasion is said to mark the first time Gentile and Jew have joined in paying tribute to the memory of Jewish soldiers who made the supreme sacrifice. A Marine color guard and a selected United States Army Band detachment will also participate.

Many Jewish dignitaries, including probably Justices Brandeis and Cardoza, of the Supreme Court, are expected to attend. Dr. Ivy A. Peizman, commander of Washington Post, Jewish War Veterans, is in charge of arrangements.

Northern Baptist Head Speaks at Kiwanis Club

The Kiwanis Club yesterday heard three speakers, Dr. C. Oscar Johnson, St. Louis, president Northern Baptist Convention, now in session in Washington; Maj. J. F. Elwell, member of the Los Angeles Kiwanis Club, and Claude Babcock, of the Washington renovising campaign.

About 15 members of the Washington club will hold an interclub meeting at Manassas tonight at 6:30 o'clock. The meeting is being worked up by George H. Winslow, chairman of the interclub relations committee, and Edwin F. Hill is arranging the program.

Children's Program Tonight.

A children's program will be presented by the Chevy Chase Community Center at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Ben Murch School Auditorium. The dance classes will present a dance drama, "The Legend of the Sunflower." The music classes will be heard in a group of piano and orchestral numbers.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR PARADE COLORFUL

Forming at the Masonic Temple, Thirteenth and H streets northwest, the parade led up New York avenue to Pennsylvania avenue, turning into Madison place just at the White House, and thence to the church along Fifteenth street and Massachusetts avenue.

With Drawn Swords.

Throngs of persons crowded streets in front of the church to view the impressive ceremonies. To the tune of "Onward Christian Soldiers," played by the Kallipolis Band, the six commanderies formed single file to mount the church steps.

With drawn swords, members of the order stood at attention to await beginning of the services.

The Gloria Patri, opening prayer, was led by the grand prelate, the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the House of Representatives.

Colors Are Massed.

With massed colors at the front of the church the knights stood with plumed hats resting on their right shoulders as the church choir sang an opening hymn.

"The Ascendant Life" formed the sermon by the Rev. Harvey H. Harmon. Scripture reading, hymns and final playing of "Peace, Perfect Peace" on the tower chimes concluded the exercises.

The parade again formed and returned to the Masonic Temple, where it was reviewed by Grand Commander Harrison. The George Washington University Band also furnished marching music.

Woman Injured by Cat Conquers Blood Poison

"Great improvement" in the condition of Miss Dorothy Bailey, 24, of Clarendon, Va., was announced last night at Garfield Hospital, where she was taken several days ago after blood poison developed from a cat scratch on her chest.

Miss Bailey was reported resting comfortably and physicians expressed hope for a speedy recovery.

Eggnog Haul

75 Cases of Alleged Rum Found Hidden Under 20 Cases of Eggs.

It appeared to be only another truck loaded to capacity with cases of eggs. Hence Private Harry C. Moore, of the Traffic Bureau, was surprised and a bit dubious yesterday afternoon when a hitch-hiker who alighted from the truck at Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue, tipped him that it also carried a wholesale quantity of alleged liquor. However, he pursued the truck, overhauling it at Fourteenth street and New York avenue northwest.

A search of the truck revealed there were only 20 cases of eggs aboard as against 75 gallons of alleged liquor. A revolver was also found in the driver's seat.

The driver, who identified himself as Francis P. Hadden, 203 Webster street northwest, was charged with illegal possession and transportation of liquor and having a concealed weapon.

FURTHER RENT QUIZ IS ASKED BY CAPPER

Measure Offered for P. U. C. Probe During Summer Recess of Congress.

Senate authorization for the Public Utilities Commission to press further into District rental conditions and report back to the Senate before January 30, 1934, was asked yesterday in a resolution introduced by Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas.

Senator Capper, who is chairman of a Senate District subcommittee now investigating the rent situation, said there will be no opportunity for Congress to delve far into conditions this session. He proposed instead that the commission take up the inquiry where the committee left off, and advise Congress of its findings when it returns after the approaching recess.

The resolution would empower the Public Utilities Commission to call witnesses and subpena records and accounts, along with its other duties. A favorable report from the Senate District Committee is expected at an early date.

"It is essential that the committee be informed concerning changes in the local housing situation, particularly so far as concerns rents," Senator Capper said.

"We should have the benefit of an up-to-date survey of the facts, so that the housing program, when presented to the Senate at the next session, will be based on current conditions and not on those a year or more old."

PARLEY SET MONDAY ON D. C. SCHOOL CUT

Johnson Says Teachers Will Stay in Good Standing Despite Economies.

Further study of the economy program to be introduced in the District public school system was given by the Board of Education, meeting as a committee of the whole, yesterday afternoon. The board will meet again at 11 a. m. Monday to continue the task.

Dr. J. Hayden Johnson, president of the board, said that no definite decisions are expected to be announced until the next open meeting, June 6. In the meantime, efforts are being made by school officials to continue all regular teachers and librarians in good standing despite the $90,000 cut in appropriation. Dr. Johnson said that next Monday's meeting will embrace the entire school economy program.

After the closed committee meeting, the board went into regular session for a brief business meeting at which it was decided to accept the gift of a cup from the Federation of Business Men's Association for the runner-up in the annual cadet drill.

Schools to be opened during the summer were announced as follows: (White divisions), Central High, Macfarland and Stuart Junior, Brown, Johnson, Buchanan, Ludlow, Burroughs, Petworth, Curtis, Pierce, Emery, Wallach, Fairbrother, West, Force, Webster (Americanization).

Colored divisions: Dunbar, Garnett Patterson, Bell, Burrville, Cook, Cleveland, Giddings, Lovejoy, Mott, Phillips, Sumner and Twining.

Olmsted Is Sought For Dying Mother

Police were appealed to last night to help locate Willis Olmsted, 937 H street northwest, who has been missing for 30 days. The request was made by the youth's guardian, who said that his mother was critically ill at a local sanitorium and not expected to live.

Young Olmsted is described as 5 feet 6 inches tall, with dark eyes, blond hair and light complexion. He is said to have left Washington in an automobile with a friend. The youth is connected with the ownership of the Olmsted Grill, 1336 G street northwest.

His guardian, George Smith, said money would be sent him for his return as soon as he is located.

Memorial Service Held By Cosmopolitan Club

Annual memorial services for deceased members of the Cosmopolitan Club were held at yesterday's meeting at the Carlton Hotel. The principal address was made by the Rev. Calvert E. Buck, chaplain of the club.

Anton A. Auth was the only member to die during the past year and this brings the total death list in the club up to five since its inauguration in 1921. The other members were John C. Merkling, Milton Hopfenmeier, Orville B. Drown and Samuel Zirkin. Following the luncheon wreaths were placed on the graves by a committee headed by James E. Diver.

POOLE WILL FOREGO PLACE IN NEW BANK TO ASSIST OLD ONE

Full Services Are Required as Federal-American Conservator.

Because of the great responsibility of his position as conservator of Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., it is felt by Treasury Department officials and officials of that bank that John Poole, president of that institution, should remain as its conservator, devoting his full time to that very important work, it was announced yesterday by officials of the bank and trust company.

Mr. Poole originally had been officially announced as a vice president of the proposed new "Hamilton National Bank of Washington," but it was said by bank officials that his duties as conservator are considered so highly important and vital to the interests of the bank's many depositors and stockholders that it was felt the dual responsibility would be too great.

As conservator of Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., it was said that Mr. Poole would be able to give full time to this position and so care for $8,500,000 worth of stockholders' and depositors' assets after $5,000,000 worth has been made available to the new institution created out of the merger. Mr. Poole, they said, will have the more important task of seeing that every depositor is 'paid one hundred cents on the dollar and that something is left for the stockholders.

What is described as a surprising response summed up the results of the fourth day of the campaign for $1,250,000 worth of new stock to organize "Hamilton National Bank of Washington." Good results were reported by all of the six local, restricted banks committed to the plan.

These banks are Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., District National Bank, Potomac Savings Bank, Washington Savings Bank, Northeast Savings Bank and Woodridge-Langdon Savings & Commercial Bank. If the proposed bank is organized, it will make available 50 per cent of the deposits of these banks, or approximately $10,000,000.

William John Eynon, a vice president of Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co. and chairman of that company's subscription committee in the stock selling plan, conferred with the company's directorate yesterday with regard to the campaign. The general subscription committee which plans to meet, every other day, will hold another meeting today to review results.

Roosevelt High to See Plays and Dance Tonight

A program of drama and dancing will be given by the Sock and Buskin Club and the Langdon Junior Players at 8 o'clock tonight in the Roosevelt High School auditorium.

The program will comprise two dance plays, "Mary Grace Stirs the Apple Butter" and "A Dream of Cinderella," with special tap dances.

Problems Face Woman's Party

The members of the National Woman's Party will participate in two of the most interesting feminist occasions of the year tomorrow and Sunday.

Tomorrow there will be the hearing on the equal rights amendment before a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee at 10 a. m. after which a conference of Woman's Party workers will meet at the Grace Dodge Hotel. Edith Houghton Hooker, chairman, of the national organization committee, will preside.

The conference will be devoted to the problems of the actual workers in the Woman's Party. The congressional program will be discussed. There will be a dinner at 7 p. m. at the hotel. A reception will be held Sunday afternoon at Alva Belmont House.

Camp to Be Visited By 500 Boy Scouts

The annual pilgrimage of the Washington Council of Boy Scouts to Camp Roosevelt will be held tomorrow, with 500 or more youngsters and their fathers making the excursion.

The party will leave the District line station of the Chesapeake Beach Railway at 9 a. m. Upon arriving at Chesapeake Beach the boys will hike the 4 miles to camp, where they will pass the day in various sports. Swimming will be under the direction of Maj. James S. Hawley.

This is the sixth annual outing of the Scouts, and is held to familiarize the new members with the joys and opportunities of camp life. Camp Roosevelt is scheduled to open on June 26 for the summer season.

C. E. Players to Give Comedy.

A comedy, "Miss Fearless & Co.," will be given by the Christian Endeavor Players at 8 o'clock tonight at the Thomson Community Center.

Sabbatical Leave Every Six Years Urged; Younger Preachers Upheld.

A sabbatical leave of six or seven months for all preachers at the end of every six years' service with a church was recommended to the Northern Baptist convention yesterday by the Rev. James D. Morrison, of Providence, R. I.

Dr. Morrison pointed out that such a plan would give employment to many unemployed preachers and "thus relieve one of the most aggravating problems facing the church in these times."

"There are already more preachers than pulpits," the young preacher observed. "In several denominations the list of unemployed ministers has become so startling that some have urged that our theological seminaries be closed for a few years. Further evidence of thorough college and seminary training is the real remedy."

Day of Young Preacher.

Dr. Morrison, in this connection, recommended the elimination of short course candidates, so as "to stem the tide of younger men, who are crowding out the more mature and experienced pastors."

The Rhode Island minister asserted that there is a place for the properly trained younger man, adding that "today is the day of the young preacher."

The problem of unemployment among preachers was the subject of a number of other speeches and reports before the convention. A recommendation was made by the committee on ministry for the establishment of a registry where pastors could find out about their prospective churches as well as where churches could learn of their prospective pastors.

Alliance Leader Speaks.

The need for a new discovery of God was stressed by the Rev. John MacNeill, president of the Baptist World Alliance, at last night's session. "What we need," he declared, "is an acute sense of God's reality and a boundless faith in the Divine resources to match every emergency of the hour."

A recommendation that the Federal Council of Churches should not be allowed to speak for Northern Baptists on the subjects of birth control, war and peace, and the social relationship of young people was placed before the convention by a special committee.

Denominational Objectives.

The committee on denominational objectives recommended a consolidation of the American Baptist Home Mission Society and the Women's American Baptist Home Mission Society. It was also recommended that the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society and the Woman's American Baptist Foreign Mission Society be consolidated.

The committee for raising money recommended that more pressure be brought to bear on wealthy individuals.

All these recommendations will be acted upon today. New officers will also be elected today. The Rev. W. S. Abernethy, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, of this city, is among those recommended for the presidency.

Office Outfit Despoiled By Disappointed Thieves

Apparently angered at their failure to open the safe and obtain anything of value, burglars who broke into the Cook Waste Paper Co., 89 Pierce street northeast, Wednesday night, poured automobile polish over the office equipment and scattered books, records and stationery over the floor.

The dials and hinges were broken from the safe in an unsuccessful attempt to gain entrance. Fifty 1-cent stamps were all that was missing.

District Committee Gets Utilities' Views on Bill

Members of the House District Committee yesterday were presented with copies of the Public Utilities Commission's report advocating passage of a bill stripping the courts of power to review any but legal questions involved in the commission's orders.

The bill, forwarded to Speaker Rainey several days ago, already has been introduced by Chairman Mary T. Norton of the House District Committee. The report distributed yesterday, prepared by William A. Roberts, special assistant corporation counsel, explained detailed changes proposed in the new measure.

Rhode Island Unit Marks Anniversary

The Rhode Island Avenue Citizens Association will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary tonight with a program of entertainment and speeches.

Among distinguished speakers will be Capt. H. F. Clark, assistant Engineer Commissioner of the District; James G. Yaden, president of the Federation of Citizens Associations; Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of Public Buildings and Grounds; Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of public schools; Selden M. Ely, supervising principal of schools, fifth division, and Dr. George F. Bowerman, librarian of the Public Library.

The program will open with a concert by the Mount Rainier Christian Church Orchestra and invocation by the Rev. H. H. Rowland, pastor of the Langdon M. E. Church. George L. Gee, president of the association, will make the address of welcome.

Man Shot in Leg In Police Chase

Leonard W. Shoemaker, 29, of 4924 Rock Creek Church road northwest, was recovering at Gallinger Hospital last night from a gunshot wound in his leg, suffered yesterday when he and Allen E. Moore, 31, of Silver Spring, Md., attempted to escape police after they were said to have been found unloading a quantity of liquor in King's court northwest.

Policemen J. E. Beckett, G. C. Deyoe and William McEwan sighted the two men and ordered them to halt, whereupon Shoemaker and Moore sped away. After several shots by the policemen, Shoemaker lost control of his car and ran up on a sidewalk near Fifth and Neal streets northwest.

$205 in Jewelry Stolen.

Jewelry valued at $205 was reported stolen from the apartment of Roger Sinclair, 5112 Connecticut avenue, yesterday.

Guests of honor will include Arthur Clarendon Smith, Judge Robert E. Mattingly, Maj. Ernest H. Brown, superintendent of police, and officials of the District fire department.

Excursion June 27.

The annual excursion of the organization will be held June 27 at Seaside Beach, Md., with W. N. Ward, chairman of arrangements, presiding.

A motion was passed to recommend to the District Traffic Department that an investigation into the stoplight system on H street, from Fourth to Twelfth streets, be made.

New members of the organization are W. H. Sardo, of 412 H street northeast; Frank Razey, of 623 Ninth street northwest, and Al Seers, of 1313 Benning road.

$135,000 Sought For D. C. Relief

The District Commissioners yesterday made formal application to Arthur L. Hopkins, administrator of Federal relief, for $135,000 as the District's share of the fund recently authorized by Congress for disbursement among the States.

District officials hope that the fund may be made available within the next ten days so that there will be no danger of another exhaustion of municipal relief funds as there was last January. The relief money on hand is expected to give out between June 10 and 15.

Since the advent of warm weather, the demand for financial aid from Washington's unemployed has slackened slightly, public welfare officials said. A scattering of odd jobs made available through spring cleaning, grass cutting and the like was credited with easing the situation somewhat.

Boat Gasoline Station Will Get Beer Permits

A. H. Gregory, treasurer of the Federation of Citizens Associations, who operates a gasoline service station for motor boats at Sixth and Water streets southwest, was assured yesterday by the District Commissioners that he might obtain a permit to sell beer to motor boat occupants on the Washington Channel.

Asking for an opinion, Mr. Gregory was told by Corporation Counsel William W. Bride in a formal ruling that there is nothing in the District beer act to prohobit the granting of license to sell beer from a boat to be anchored opposite the old steel plant site.

New District Traffic Code Due to Be Adopted Today

Compromise Modification of Regulations Brings Maj. Crosby Near Goal After Long Fight for Its Enactment by Commissioners Before He Retires.

The long-delayed revision of the District traffic code, which has been the center of a controversy between the District Commissioners and the Public Utilities Commission, is scheduled to be approved today by the former as the result of a compromise modification.

Almost since the creation of the utilities body there has been a conflict between the two District agencies regarding their respective authorities in traffic matters. An attempt was made to effect an amicable arrangement almost two years ago when a new traffic law set up a joint board composed of the two commissions with the Engineer Commissioner, who is also a member of the utilities body, as chairman.

Under the compromise plan, the revised traffic code will carry a provision originally suggested by Corporation Counsel William W. Bride to the effect that nothing in the code could be interpreted as voiding or superseding authority granted the Public Utilities Commission by its organic act.

The code revision, done largely by Traffic Director William A. Van Duser and the Traffic Advisory Council, has been the special pet of Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, Police Commissioner, who was eager to have it approved before he retired. After the last deadlock occurred, he took the matter in hand and engineered a compromise.
